Today
SEE FIRST WHITE PAGE

SCHOONER ASHORE; 14 MISSING

CLOSING STOCKS

BOSTON AMERICAN

LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

NIGHT EDITION

VOL. 19—No. 173 Registered in U. S. Patent Office BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1922 Copyright, 1922, by H. S. Newspaper Pub. Co. 3 CENTS; WORTH IT

HARVARD STUDENT LURED AND ROBBED BY BLONDE

TOOK HER HOME, IS DAZED BY DRINK

Walter Inman, Face Cut and Clothes Torn, Found Wandering on Beacon Hill

Wandering dazedly on Beacon Hill, his face bruised and cut, his clothes torn and bedraggled, Walter Inman of No. 20 Pinckney street, was rescued by friends today and taken to his home.

Inman, a former captain in the A. E. F., Williams College graduate and student at the Harvard Graduate School, when he was able to talk, told a story of an experience almost identical to that undergone by 17-year-old Simon Davis of Stanford street, West End, a week ago.

Davis was found wandering about Boston Common, suffering from the effects of some drug which he said had been given him after he had, at the request of a young blonde girl, escorted her home and partaken of her hospitality.

MET BEAUTIFUL BLONDE.

It is believed that the girl specializes in this form of robbery.

"I was among the guests at a party given by a friend of mine on Myrtle street," said Inman, in relating his experiences today. "Toward midnight the party broke up and

Continued on Page 2, Column 4.

Your One Best Investment

You may clip interest coupons at a high rate; you may receive dividends from well secured stocks — but you have not made the best investment until you own a home.

The first step to real independence is home ownership. That makes it easy to add other income producing investments to your possessions.

You have ample time to settle in your own home before Winter comes and there are many splendid available real estate values in homes and home sites which will make selection easy.

Read The Boston American's "Real Estate" columns and investigate the advertised offerings or use space to describe the home you want. Either way is sure to bring you to a happy decision.

Don't delay any longer, that investment in a home.

Boston American
Boston's Want Ad Directory
Read for Profit—Use for Results
Telephone Main 5180

Trio That Figured in Love Duel

Two Girls and Youth Over Whom They Battled in a South End Street

BATTLED FOR HIS LOVE

At top, Lilian Crawford of Hemenway street, Back Bay, one of fair duelists in street encounter over the heart of Herbert J. Cummings, the man in the case, shown at bottom.

Jealous Girl Is Sought as Poisoner

FREE GIRLS SEIZED IN LOVE DUEL

Young Women Acquitted in Court After Battle Over Man in South End Street

It took the combined efforts of three men, two of them police, to separate two girls who battled today with fists, feet, teeth and nails for the love of Herbert J. Cummings, twenty-

Continued on Page 2, Column 7.

BOAT HITS, 14 MEN MISSING

Schooner Marshal Foch of Gloucester Goes Ashore; Crew's Fate Mystery

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 11.—Fourteen men are missing from the crew of the Gloucester schooner Marshal Foch, which stranded today on a bar off Sable Island.

Captain James Whittle, 23 years old, of Gloucester, and seven of his crew have landed safely on Sable Island. The men accounted for with the captain are:

Ivan Williams.
William P. Meuse.
Dennis White.
Joseph Freeman.
T. J. Cowick.
Jacob Johnson.
Benjamin Tanner.

POUNDED BY SEAS.

The Marshal Foch, at last report, was lying in the same position as when she struck and was being pounded by a heavy sea, which was kicked up by the strong southerly wind.

First report from Sable Island today was a wireless message that the schooner had stranded and that one of the life boats from the island station had gone alongside, but found no one aboard.

One of the station employes then reported that he saw dories being rowed to southward, but was unable to attract the attention of the men in them.

CAPTAIN IS SAFE.

Later a wireless came that Captain Whittle and seven men had landed at the island at 2:30 this afternoon, but that the other fourteen were still missing.

The Marshal Foch, 154 gross tonnage, was launched at Essex, Mass., in 1919.

After Lodge's Seat

WILLIAM E. WEEKS.
Former Mayor of Everett, who is independent candidate for United States Senate.

THREATEN LODGE'S RIVAL

Senate Candidate Tells of Efforts to Make Him Quit the Contest

Political ostracism has been threatened William E. Weeks, former Mayor of Everett and independent candidate for the United States Senate, by representatives of the "Lodge ring," if he refuses to retire from his campaign against Senator Lodge.

"I have received one letter and a score of oral intimations that it will be best for my future, both politically and in a business way, if I bend my knee to Henry Cabot Lodge by retiring from the senatorial race," Mr. Weeks said today.

"These intimations have all come from men who are working in support of the Lodge campaign.

"These suggestions which threaten my political and business future cannot drive me from the race. The Old Guard leaders fear my candidacy will draw votes from Lodge, and as a result they are sparing no effort to clear the way for their candidate, but I am in the race to stay."

"Lodge is a fetish created by the corporation-controlled newspapers. His record is bad and it is time to beat him. The ring cannot scare me off."

CLOSE NET ON TWIN SLAYER

Probe of Gloucester Tragedy Reveals Strange Tangle of Love and Hearts

Gloucester, Oct. 11.—The police investigating the mysterious deaths of Harry Devine and Stella Zeisloft at Eastern Point will make an arrest in the case soon, it was predicted today.

Whether the arrest will be of a man or a woman was not stated, but it is believed that jealousy was the cause of the killing of the chauffeur and the maid in the kitchen of the estate of their employer, Miss Caroline Sinkler.

The investigation disclosed that Harry Devine had a rival for the affections of Stella. It also disclosed that Stella had a rival for the affections of Devine.

There are a score or more estates along the ocean at Eastern Point. Each estate employs several servants. Some of the servants live in cottages on the estates.

One garage has been used by the servants as a rendezvous and a place to hold their parties and dances.

It was during one such party that a certain housemaid of Eastern Point, smitten with the charms of the curly-headed Devine, threatened

Continued on Page 2, Column 5.

HAT MAY SOLVE BEACH MYSTERY

Gloucester, Oct. 10.—A hat which floated in with the tide today at Rocky Neck is believed to have been worn by the unidentified woman whose body was washed ashore at Good Harbor Beach, October 4.

All efforts to identify the body have been fruitless.

The hat, now in police hands, is a turban turned up on four sides, and decorated with artificial grapes and blossoms. From the band within was taken a newspaper dated March 20, 1922.

Medical Examiner Moore has refused to say whether in his opinion the woman came to her death by suicide or murder.

POLICEMAN AND GIRL PLACED ON TRIAL

Patrolman Alphonse Biondin of Charlestown and Margaret Sonntog, recently arrested by Sergeant John D. McDonald of East Dedham street police station, went on trial in the City Court today on charges of living as man and wife while not married to each other. They deny it. Frank J. Sonntog testified he was the woman's husband and that she left him 18 months ago. The landlady of a Union Park lodging house testified Margaret Sonntog registered there for "Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Biondin."

TODAY'S BANK STATEMENT.

N. Y. bank clearings	$785,000,000
N. Y. bank balances	75,000,000
Boston bank clearings	58,000,000
Boston bank balances	18,000,000
N. Y. F. R. bank, credit	54,000,000

ALL EDITIONS
—OF THE—
BOSTON AMERICAN WILL APPEAR ON OCTOBER 12

GROSS NAMED IN R. I. BY G. O. P.

Providence, Oct. 10.—Lieut.-Gov. Harold J. Gross was nominated for Governor at the Republican Statt convention today. Congressman Kennedy, who opposed him, was charged with being the candidate of the mill owners.

RACE RESULTS AT LAUREL

1—Bell of Blue Ridge 14.10, Vanderburg 3.90, Crugie
2—Sea Master 6.80, Theodosius 3.20, Chuckle 4.70

AT JAMAICA

1—Shaffer 5-1, Good Time 5-2, Evil 1-2

ATHENS DECLARED UNDER MARTIAL LAW

Athens, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Martial law was proclaimed in Athens tonight. This action has been taken to prevent hotheads in the army from opposing the government's decision in accepting the loss of eastern Thrace.

COPLEY SQUARE HOTEL
BOSTON'S HOMELIKE HOTEL
Huntington Ave. at Exeter St.
The Excellent Cooking in This Hotel Is Known from Coast to Coast
The Hotel Where Tourists Stop
When in Boston
DANCING
Every Evening 8:30 to 12:30
250 Rooms, 200 with private bath. Rates $3.00 to $15.00 per day.

MISS MARIE HARTNETT

Pretty South Boston girl who fought Back Bay rival for young man's affections. Both girls were later fined by the court and departed apparently the best of friends.

GEN. EDWARDS AIDS SUSPECT IN COURT

General Clarence R. Edwards appeared in Central Court today to testify in defense of Forrest Bancroft, his chauffeur, who was charged with annoying girls in the vicinity of the Girls' High Annex. Although General Edwards described Bancroft's previous good character, Judge Creel said he would have to find him guilty. Disposition of the case will be made Saturday.

BOSTON
FOOD FAIR
HORTICULTURAL HALL
NOW OPEN
10 A. M. to 10 P. M.
ADMISSION 30c

ROME IS ROCKED BY BIG QUAKE

Rome, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—A strong earthquake shook this city today, causing great alarm among the population. No damage, however, had been reported up to one o'clock this afternoon.

The apprehension among the people was stimulated by the recollection of similar shocks, although much less violent, which occurred in 1917 and continued a whole month.

Ancona, on the Adriatic, 185 miles northeast of Rome, appears to have been the centre of today's shock. No reports of damage there have been received.

CURLEY FEARS NAVY YARD MAY BE CLOSED

Mayor Curley sent a pointed telegram to Senators Lodge and Walsh today about Charlestown Navy Yard. He wired that his experience in the fuel-storage question made him believe the Federal administration intends to close the yard permanently except in wartime. He trusted "it will be possible for you to relinquish your political activities for sufficient time" to arrange a conference of Bay State representatives in Congress to the end that the oldest navy yard in America may be continued in use.

MEXICAN GUARDS KILL REBEL LEADER

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 12.—General Eduardo Hernandez, second in command to General Murguia, revolutionary leader, and two followers were killed October 8, in a battle with home guards, according to a telegram received in Juarez today by General Martinez, commander of the northern military zone in Mexico.

GEN. CONNOR TO HEAD U. S. FORCES IN CHINA

Washington, Oct. 11.—Brigadier-General William D. Connor, assistant chief of the General Staff, has been assigned to command the American expedition force with headquarters at Tien Tsin, China, as a result of a change in policy reflecting the increased importance of the Chinese situation.

FITZGERALD DEFIES COX TO TOUR STATE IN JOINT DEBATES

PRESENT CAMPAIGNING METHODS OBSOLETE

By JOHN T. LAMBERT.

The greatest sporting offer in at least the recent history of Massachusetts politics has been made to Governor Cox by John F. Fitzgerald, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Mr. Fitzgerald has invited Governor Cox to debate the issues of the campaign with him from the same platform in a tour of the State that will include every district from the Cape to the Berkshire hills.

Mr. Fitzgrald's letter to Governor Cox, one of the most notable documents in the political history of the State, is as follows:

PRESENT METHOD OBSOLETE.

"I understand that you are opening your campaign for reelection to the governorship in the city of Holyoke. As the nominee of the Democratic party for the office you now hold, I desire to submit a proposition at the beginning of the campaign that seems to me to be fair and one that will bring about a much better understanding of the affairs of the Commonwealth to the average citizen.

"In the present campaign, I propose making certain definite charges against the Republican party of this Commonwealth and I propose making them on the same platform with you so that if I do you or the party you represent an injustice, the situation may be corrected at once.

"Arrangements can be effected by which we can speak in every section of the Commonwealth before election day, the admission to be by ticket, the distribution of which can be left to an impartial committee who will see that all classes of citizens are included in the distribution.

MAKES 14 CHARGES.

"That you may have some idea of the charges that I will bring against Republican machine control in this Commonwealth, I will enumerate the following with the privilege of adding to them at any time, giving you, however, ample advance notice that you may have suitable opportunity to prepare a reply:

"1—I charge that the reason for the fact that Massachusetts has the highest cost of living in the country, as admitted by the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, is due to Republican control of the legislative machinery at the State House, which has been almost continuous since the Civil War.

STATE IS COSTLIEST.

"2—I charge that appointments to boards having control of public utilities, such as street and steam railways, gas, electric, power and telephone companies, have been dictated by the corporations affected and the records of the men now holding these offices, most of whom are Republican lame ducks, appointed to these lucrative places after their constituents got rid of them, confirm this charge.

"3—I charge that during the past seven years of continuous Republican control of all branches of the State government the taxes and debt of Massachusetts have increased 50 per cent. greater than the average State in the country and that the debt of Massachusetts at the present time is many times the average in the United States.

PAYROLLS FOR HEELERS.

"4—I charge that the present high cost of street railway service in this State is due to legislation passed under the leadership of officers high in the councils of the Republican party who debauched their official positions for private gain in the stock market.

"5.—I charge that the State auditor's office is run by a notoriously incompetent Republican official, who is away from his office months at a time, with the result in many departments that payrolls are used corruptly to reward Republican ward-heelers, appointed in violation of the Civil Service laws.

RAPS CONSTABULARY.

"6.—I charge a conspiracy on the part of the Republican politicians to centralize all possible civic activities at the State House for the purpose of perpetuating the reactionary Republican machine in office. As an instance of this I mention the attempt to wrest local control of jails and courthouses from the counties and to be placed under two Republican lame ducks, Sanford Bates and Edward Bagley, neither of whom knew the rudiments of penology when appointed.

"I name the new State constabulary which it is intended to develop until it supplants the local police in the different cities of the State. I name the assumption of State control of highways all over the State by the passage of the law forbidding towns or cities to make traffic regulations on their own streets and highways without the consent of the State Highway Commission.

BLAMES G. O. P. FOR PONZI.

"7—I charge that tens of thousands of innocent depositors in the closed trust companies lost millions because of the failure of the Bank Commissioner's office to inspect properly the accounts of those institutions. A frequent and honest inspection such as a Massachusetts bank charter should imply would have saved them.

"8—I charge the State administration with the responsibility for the loss of millions by innocent people in the Ponzi and Greene frauds, particularly when the agents of these men were driven out of neighboring States before doing any damage, but were left to ply their own way in this Commonwealth.

"9—I charge that Samuel W. McCall was notoriously hounded by the Republican machine because he displayed an honest independence in differing with Mr. Lodge and Mr. Weeks on national questions. President Wilson was told not to dare appoint him to the Versailles conference. He was not permitted to take his place on the Tariff Commission and he was forced by the Bank Commissioner, under orders from above, to give up an honorable position in a Boston trust company.

"10—I charge that Boston harbor was done an irreparable damage by the Republican administration three years ago, when the Harbor Commission was made an adjunct of the State Highway Commission, thus losing its important identity. One of the results has been the transfer of the automobile registry from the State House, convenient to motorists, to a shipping pier that cost millions of dollars to erect, and which has been used in part as a private storage by a private party whose counsel was one of the Republican floor-leaders of the administration.

GRAFT AND FAVORITISM.

"11—I charge the institutions of the State with buying their supplies in many instances haphazardly and without honest competition through sealed bids. As a result, graft and favoritism exist in many departments of the State.

"12—I charge that the State Prison, and other institutions of the State, are unfit for occupancy by human beings and that the wards of the State are shamelessly treated in many cases.

"13—I charge that Thomas W. White, who is in control of the financial operations of the State departments, is not qualified for the position by training or experience. His principal job before entering the State House was that of drug-clerk in Newton and his principal occupation during the Republican regime has been that of political field agent for the administration.

GERRYMANDER DISHONEST.

"14—I charge that for years the State has been gerrymandered in an unjust way, to deny honest representation to the Democratic party. Though the Democratic party has had six Governors since the Civil War, this vicious system has prevented it from having control of the Governor's Council, the Senate or the House of Representatives. During the five years of the Governorship of Mr. Foss and Mr. Walsh, the Democrats were allowed but one member of the Council—a glorious example of that rank injustice.

"Governor Cox, I realize that the above are grave charges. I have considered fully the making of them and, after the utmost reflection, I say to you that I am prepared to substantiate them without reservation. In order that we may meet to discuss the issues of the campaign in public, former Congressman Michael F. Phelan, chairman of the Democratic campaign committee, has agreed to represent me in the arrangements for the joint discussion. He will be in readiness to meet your representative without delay."

A Boon To Nursing Mothers

EX-LAX

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

The Sweet Chocolate Laxative works gently and thoroughly, without any of the distress or danger that often accompanies the use of ordinary cathartics.

EX-LAX may be given with absolute safety to the most delicate babies. It is the safe and sure laxative for the whole family.

10c, 25c and 50c. Druggists everywhere

Calls U. S. Lovely

Photo by White.

BARONESS LUCANDER

Refugee from second Russian revolution who is in Boston to study English.

BARONESS HERE TO STUDY AT SIMMONS

Baroness Thais Lucander, Russian bride of a young Finnish nobleman and a last-minute refugee from the second Russian revolution, is a special student at Simmons College.

She and her husband both skilled horseback riders, were with Professor Roy Chapman Andrews on the expedition across Gobi Desert, which was the foundation for Andrews' book, "Across Mongolian Plains." They are the Baron and Baroness Lucander referred to in that work.

LIKES GIRLS' FREEDOM.

"The most striking thing about America to me," said the young baroness today, "is the freedom of the young women. They even go about with young men of whose families their own families know nothing.

"Americans never care to show emotion. I noticed that at the embassy in Pekin. Europeans discuss international affairs, books, sentiments. Americans discuss 'what he said'; 'what she said'—and business.

"But there are so many lovely things about America that it would be unjust to speak of things which are not 'lovely.'"

SPIRIT OF PLAY.

Our American play spirit is incomprehensible to her. At a "kid" party at the college she watched blind-man's-buff with amazement. "Why," she declared, "when I was twelve years old I was studying German philosophy."

The Baroness is on leave of absence from her work for the Chinese government. She has been active in establishing the Bureau of Information in Shanghai. When health permits she will return to her duties in China. Meanwhile she is taking condensed courses in English and is enjoying Boston immensely.

LURES AND ROBS HARVARD MAN

Continued from First Page.

I left. At the door a strikingly attractive blonde young woman whom I suspected was one of the guests, spoke to me and asked me if I would escort her home.

"She explained that she had expected her husband to call for her, but that he had failed to appear. I agreed willingly to take her home. Soon we were at her door, in front of a single house in one of the small courts facing Revere street.

"I bade her good-night and was about to leave when she insisted that I meet her husband. We went into the house. It was beautifully and luxuriously furnished. We were met by a refined young man, to whom I was introduced. He was the young woman's husband. At least, that is what he said. He thanked me for taking his wife home and invited me to have a drink.

FELT SENSES SLIPPING.

"I accepted. We had a drink. Immediately thereafter I felt my senses slipping. I felt a blow from behind and then I became unconscious. When I came to I found myself in a bathtub partly filled with water. I was too dazed to make any inquiries and staggered out of the house into the street. I found that the money I had with me had been stolen. I remember encountering a policeman who thought I was drunk and ordered me to move on. Then my friends found me and took me home."

LEGION TO TACKLE BEER ISSUE

New Orleans, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Light wine and beer will in all probability be made an issue before the fourth national convention of the American Legion, which opens here October 16 and continues until the 20th. This information came today from sources in close touch with the convention plans.

Delegates already here believe the chance of a resolution is more favorable than at any previous convention.

It is conceded generally that political issues will be made sharper at this convention than at any previous session.

Criticism of Brigadier-General C. E. Sawyer, personal physician to the President, and acting as co-ordinator of the activities of the Veterans' Bureau in its hospitalization work for wounded veterans, is expected. General Sawyer's attitude has been sharply criticised.

HAYWOOD'S $15,000 BAIL IS FORFEITED

Chicago, Oct. 11.—The bonds of William D. Haywood and Charles Rothfisher, convicted I. W. W. leaders, were ordered forfeited today by Federal Judge Page. Haywood's bail was fixed at $15,000, the bond being signed by William Bross Lloyd, Mary E. Mercy and Otto Christianson. Rothfisher's bond was for $10,000, and was signed by Lloyd. Haywood fled to Russia and about a year ago sent a message to Federal officials here that he would return and serve his term, but he has never appeared and is believed to be still in Russia. The whereabouts of Rothfisher [illegible]

TWICE TRIES TO KILL HIMSELF, BUT FAILS

Beverly, Oct. 11.—Twice in one day, Alonzo Moses, 30 years old, attempted suicide.

Just after daylight he reached the roof of his home on Shorter avenue, with the intention of jumping off. Fate intervened and Moses slipped and fell. Strangely enough he was uninjured.

A few hours later his wife, who had been out in the neighborhood caring for some children, found him on the couch in the dining room bleeding profusely. A razor was still clutched in his hand. Mrs. Moses took the razor and notified the police.

He was taken to the Beverly Hospital, where his wound was dressed and found to be a slight one.

Until six months ago Moses had been an inmate of the State Insane Asylum at Danvers. While there he had a mania for climbing over the buildings.

300 "Dry" Officers Killed in U. S. in One Year

Washington, Oct. 11.—Three hundred officers of the law have been shot and killed during the year while engaged in enforcing liquor laws.

This latest estimate of the prohibition death toll was made by prohibition enforcement officials today.

The list was said to include the names not only of government prohibition agents but sheriffs and local officials.

Most of the killings have occurred on the borders and along the coasts in combat with smugglers.

WANTS MALDEN OFFICIAL QUIT OR APOLOGIZE

Mayor John V. Kimball of Malden has demanded of Fred S. Elwell his resignation or apology for his alleged remarks at a meeting of the planning boards of towns of Greater Boston held in Malden last Thursday night.

Mr. Elwell is a member of the Malden planning board and after Mayor Kimball gave an address of welcome, Elwell jumped up and bitterly scored the Mayor and his policies.

The following letter was sent to Elwell today by the Mayor:

"I shall be glad to receive at once either an apology for your discourtesy of last Thursday night, and the greater discourtesy in your childish letter of yesterday, which one can only attribute to bitter ignorance, or your resignation as a member of the Malden planning board."

SEEK RIVAL IN TWIN DEATHS

Continued from First Page.

to slap Stella Zeisloft's face if she did not let the chauffeur alone.

It is believed that during the party given in the kitchen of the Sinkler home, after Helen Gorman, the parlor maid, and Elkins, the gardener, had left, a fifth person appeared.

This person—it is not known whether it was a man or a woman—slipped into the room, and probably availing himself or herself of the partly inebriated condition of the pair, slipped the potion of poison into their cups and escaped.

The theory of a "third party" gained additional credence when it was learned that at the time of the discovery of the two bodies, all lights were burning and a window leading to the roadawy was open.

A figure was seen by a party of autoists slinking through the bushes lining one of the private highways leading to the Summer colony.

Miss Caroline Sinkler, wealthy artist of Philadelphia, in whose Summer home on Eastern Point the double tragedy occurred, has taken her servants back to Philadelphia. She will return here with them next week when they will be examined further regarding the events that preceded the deaths of the maid and chauffeur. The Sinkler home has been closed up and the doors and windows barred for the Winter.

EX-N. Y. FIRE CHIEF IN HEART BALM SUIT

New York, Oct. 11 (By International News Service).—Suit for $100,000 for alleged alienation of affections was filed in Brooklyn today by Mrs. Ella J. Croker, wife of Edward F. Croker, former chief of the New York city fire department, against Miss Helen M. Day of Long Beach, L. I. Miss Day denied the charges and also contended that the statute of limitations bars Mrs. Croker's suit as six years have elapsed since Mrs. Croker says she discovered the alleged relations.

HOME SAVINGS BANK ELECTS J. H. RUSSELL

The trustees of the Home Savings Bank have elected J. Henry Russell vice-president, to succeed Henry C. Jackson, deceased. Trustees declared regular semi-annual interest of 2¼ per cent. With this dividend added, deposits will approximate $36,000,000, a new high record.

SHIPS TO CARRY RUM IN ALIEN WATERS

Washington, Oct. 11.—President Harding will direct a modification of the drastic rule barring liquor from American ships, a Cabinet officer declared today.

Under certain circumstances American vessels will be allowed to engage in the transportation of liquor, it was said. This is to be inter-port traffic, where American ships stop at wet ports.

United States ships are frequently offered cargoes of liquor from Shanghai, to Hong Kong, or between South American ports, it was said. Such traffic is regarded as a regular commercial proposition and not in violation of United [illegible] laws, officials hold.

The President will also call upon the Treasury, State and Justice Departments to clarify numerous problems not anticipated when the ruling was promulgated.

The outstanding instance applies to the Philippine Islands. The Attorney-General's rule prohibits ships of all flags docking at an island port with liquor aboard. The Volstead Act, on which the ruling is based, is not operative in the Philippines, however, and prohibition officers stated that they did not believe the new rule could apply there.

The eighteenth amendment itself applies to the Philippines, it was said. Under the terms of the Island government, however, no Philippine legislature has adopted enforcing measures. The Philippine government has refused to pass such legislation and is listed still in the wet column.

The new ruling also would make it impossible for foreign embassies to obtain liquors. Under the wide latitude of "diplomatic immunity" and extra territoriality, foreign envoys are permitted to have all the liquor they desire.

U. S. Ship Comes in With Mop Rag Dry

New York, Oct. 11.—The American steamship President Garfield came in from Queenstown today with even the bartender's mop rag dry and no fresh footprints on the old brass rail. The bar was closed Monday when the ship heard of the Daugherty ruling by radio.

Passengers did not complain of the dryness, because they were warned several hours before the bar closed that then was the time for all good fellows to lay private stocks in their cabins.

I. W. W. DEMANDS WAR PRISONERS' RELEASE

Chicago, Oct. 11—Radicals and liberals in 300 American cities were called upon by the I. W. W. today "to compel action" to effect the release of the seventy-two men held in federal prisons as the remnants of wartime offenders convicted under war laws. "Defeat candidates for Congress in the November elections who are opposed to amnesty for political prisoners," was the I. W. W. appeal which attacks President Harding for failure to "keep the promise he made us on July 19 that he would review the cases of all political prisoners within sixty days."

BUILDING FALLS IN N. BEDFORD; KILLS MAN

New Bedford, Oct. 11.—One man was killed and two were hurt today in the collapse of a blacksmith shop which was being torn down at Kempton and Emerson streets. They jumped the wrong way and were pinned under the falling roof.

Ten other workmen, taking the opposite direction, escaped unhurt.

Valentino Philomeno's back was broken. He died when he was brought to St. Luke's Hospital. He was a laborer, 40 years old, and lived at No. 371 Hillman street.

PLAN 28-HOUR MAIL TRIP ACROSS NATION

Detroit, Oct. 11.—More than 12,000 pounds of first-class mail is delivered from three to four hours earlier each day than would be the case if the Postoffice Department had no air mail service, Assistant Postmaster-General Henderson declared today at the international aerial meet. The department plans night flying and a 28-hour schedule, New York to San Francisco.

Is Secretly Wed

MRS. LYELL SMITH

HEIRESS 'VAMP' ELOPES WITH WORKMAN

Castile, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Margaret E. Pierce, the high school girl heiress, who was recently sued as a "married man vamp," and lost a $42,500 verdict, has eloped.

Several days ago she journeyed with Lyell Smith, a house painter, to Newark, N. Y., and there was secretly married, it became known today.

Miss Pierce, who inherited a half million dollar fortune from her banker father, has appealed the verdict of $42,500 awarded Mrs. James O. Howard, formerly of Winchester, Mass., who charged that the high school girl made merry with her husband and induced him to leave his wife.

GIRLS BATTLE IN LOVE DUEL

Continued from First Page.

two years old, of No. 516 Columbus avenue.

At Station 16, where they were booked on charges of engaging in the affray, the girls gave their names as Lillian Crawford, eighteen years old, of No. 148 Hemenway street, and Marie Hartnett, eighteen years old, of No. 384 K street, South [illegible].

When later arraigned in Roxbury Court the girls were found not guilty by Judge Hayden.

The court said the charge was not entered properly. Police Sergeant Winfield R. Studely, who made the arrests, said in his complaint that the girls had taken part in a fray.

"A fray," said the judge, "is when the neighborhood is terrorized. Not guilty."

According to the story told the police by Miss Crawford, Cummings was formerly a lodger at her home. She said:

"I thought a lot of him, and, in fact, like him pretty well now."

Cummings was with the Hartnett girl on Massachusetts avenue. As the pair turned into Huntington avenue they were confronted by Miss Crawford. She leaped for Miss Hartnett, it is said, and the two began to struggle.

Hairpins and bits of wearing apparel lost in the scuffle, however was the extent of the casualties.

Cummings in the meantime tried to separate them. Sergeant Studley and Patrolman Haskins of Station 16 finally came as peacemakers.

KING VICTOR BOUND FOR BRUSSELS VISIT

Geneva, Oct. 11.—King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena of Italy and their suite, arrived in Basle on their way to Brussels to return the visit the King and the Queen of the Belgians made to Italy last Spring. They will proceed by way of Strasbourg. The report of the engagement of Crown Prince Humbert of Italy to Princess Marie-Jose of Belgium still persists.

Every lover of Septimus and The Beloved Vagabond will want to read W. J. Locke's new novel—in October Harper's Bazar. At all newsstands.—Advt.

TRUCE SIGNED; GREEKS MUST QUIT THRACE

By International News Service.

London, Oct. 11.—The Greek government was formally notified today that the allies' proposals regarding Thrace are in effect requiring the Greeks to begin evacuating all Thrace east of the Maritza River immediately.

That the British government regards the Near East crisis as past was shown by the fact that Premier Lloyd George left for his country estate this morning. He was in a jolly, optimistic frame of mind and evidently had received good news.

The Greeks are to evacuate Eastern Thrace within two weeks, after which the Allies will remain in control thirty days, during which time the Turks will set up their administration.

Foreign Troops Must Quit Straits, Says Turk Envoy

London, Oct. 11 (By International News Service.—The armistice agreement signed at Mudania is purely of military character, according to Richard Bey, envoy of the Turkish Nationalists in London, who said today:

"When the main conference comes Turkey will not agree to any foreign garrison on the Turkish Straits or foreign warships controlling the straits. The Turks will insist upon participation by Russia and the Republic of Georgia."

The British insist upon the right to maintain a garrison at Chanak, upon the Dardanelles, such as they now have at Gibraltar. The British have a fleet of about thirty warships in the Dardanelles, the Sea of Marmora and Bosphorus at present.

Venizelos to Sit in at Peace Table

London, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Former Premier Venizelos of Greece will act as the chief plenipotentiary for Greece at the first peace conference of representatives of Greece and Turkey and the allied powers, it was announced here today.

Kemalists Repudiate Sultan's Treaties

Constantinople, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—It is reported that the Turkish Nationalist Ministry of Finance has issued a statement declaring that all conventions, treaties, contracts and decrees promulgated by the government of the Sultan since March 16, 1920, are regarded by the Kemalists as null and void. The date referred to marked the allied occupation of Constantinople.

Turk Troops in Civilian Garb Steal Into Thrace

Rodosto, Thrace, October 11 (By the Associated Press).—Five thousand Turkish Nationalist soldiers in civilian attire have filtered into Eastern Thrace during the last fortnight through this city and other ports on the Sea of Marmora for the purpose of facilitating the Turkish occupation of the province, according to information received by the allied mission here.

Commander of Defeated Greek Army Arrested

Athens, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—General Hadjanestis, who succeeded General Papoulas as commander-in-chief of the Greek army in Asia Minor last June and who was in command there when the rout of the army under the Turkish attack began, was arrested here last night.

IT'S TOASTED

one extra process which gives a delicious flavor

LUCKY STRIKE CIGARETTE

THE WEATHER
Boston and vicinity: Cloudy, probably local showers tonight and Thursday; not much change in temperature; fresh south to southwest winds.
Sun rises at 5:51; sets at 5:11.
Moon rises at 8:58 p. m.
High tide at 2:30 a. m.; 2:54 p. m.
Temperature: Maximum, 57 at 7 p. m.; minimum, 54 at 1 a. m.; average 55.
Light all vehicles at 5:41 p. m.

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGEST EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND
BOSTON, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1922

COMPLETE STOCKS
NIGHT

COCA COLA KING MUST PAY, SAYS BEAUTY

Hall Case Detective Is Mobbed

Today

Intelligent Gratitude We Live Longer And Still Are Foolish Reactionary Revolution

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1922, by Star Company

In England the Tory "diehards" and labor people try to get rid of Lloyd George, Foolishness from the Tories surprises nobody. They always hated Lloyd George, never forgave him for saving them from German rule. The labor men, some of them, should know better. Lloyd George financed them, directed them, won for them and paid them wages from public funds when they faced idleness because of the war.

Whatever there is left of the British empire, whatever prospects it has ahead, should be credited, 90 per cent., to Lloyd George. And they want to get rid of him. Such is the gratitude of intelligent "self-governing" human beings.

Human beings are living longer than they did. Infant and adult mortality diminish steadily. Soon there will be the old cry of "more people than the earth can support." But that won't come. Texas under intensive cultivation could support all the people on earth today. And as the human race improves, families will be smaller. A mouse may have a hundred children in a year, an elephant has about four in fifty years.

Men live longer, but seem little wiser.

The Barbers' Supply Dealers' Association in Chicago shows that men buy tweezers to pull out their eyebrows and do other foolish things. The eyebrows were made thick on our ancestors to protect eyes from the sun and from perspiration and rain. Heavy eyebrows are a sign of strong primitive character, which has resisted the softening effects of environment.

Morris Hillquit, able lawyer, one of the few rich American Socialists, returns from Europe with an interesting report of affairs in Italy. The Fascisti, adopting methods of communism, utilize them in behalf of the lower Bourgeoisie and have actual control of Italy.

They have notified the government that they will take possession, and that, as Mr. Hillquit says, is no boast. They have the power. The Fascisti represent something never before seen in history, a REACTIONARY, REVOLUTIONARY movement. It is a rebellion against the government for permitting too much latitude to the other kind of radicalism. And the body of reactionaries working on revolutionary lines is led by men that formerly were leaders of the Socialist party. You never can tell what war will produce.

France denounces the United States ruling against any liquor on foreign ships. The French don't drink "liquor" as we understand it. They would think a cocktail and whiskey-drinking American crazy.

But ninety-nine per cent. of the French drink light wines. To tell them they can't have wine on their own ships coming to America, is as though France should forbid American ships landing at French ports to bring drinking water of any kind. The French talk of reprisals, and perhaps the most effective reprisal would be to forbid American ships bringing drinking water to any French port.

W. H. Vanderbilt, great-grandson of the first William H., has decided to be a banker, and becomes a clerk in Wall Street. You wish him luck, but wonder at his lack of imagination. When you have enough money it must be rather dull, spending your life trying to get more. The son of the richest man in Rome went to

Continued on Page 7, Column 4.

Sure Relief FOR INDIGESTION

6 BELL-ANS Hot water Sure Relief
BELL-ANS
15¢ and 75¢ Packages Everywhere

BRICKS ARE SHOWERED ON SLEUTH

Police Rescue Officer From Angry Jersey Citizens; New Arrest Made in Murder

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 11.—Frank P. Kirby, a Middlesex County detective, credited with having obtained the statement from Raymond Schneider on which Clifford Hayes, nineteen years old, was charged with the murders of Rev Edward Wheeler Hall, rector of the Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, and his choir leader, Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, was attacked by a group of indignant citizens here today.

Bombarded with bricks, Kirby escaped unhurt by locking himself in the baggage room at the New Brunswick Pennsylvania Station. Later he was surrounded by armed policemen in uniform and escorted to police headquarters, while the crowd which had shown its resentment over the arrest of Hayes, dispersed.

Kirby was met by the group of citizens as he emerged from the Pennsylvania Station on his return from Somerville, where he had sought unsuccessfully to obtain a confession from Hayes. The group included several members of the committee which had obtained the offer of a $1,000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills.

Members of the crowd protested angrily to Kirby against the arrest of Hayes, declaring they considered it a "frame-up" to quiet the indignation of citizens and soothe an aroused Governor, by making it appear that the mystery had been cleared.

ATTACKED BY MOB.

Kirby retorted with equal candor at first, at the same time walking rapidly away from the railroad station in the direction of police headquarters. Before he had proceeded far, he found himself surrounded by the crowd, which pressed closer and closer to him.

Reaching the station platform Kirby espied the open door of the baggage room, dived inside, closed the door and bolted it, just as the leaders in the crowd reached him.

RESCUED BY POLICE.

For a while the crowd contented itself with throwing bricks against the baggage room door. Then a posse of patrolmen, summoned by the station agent, arrived and rescued Kirby. The crowd vanished with the arrival of the bluecoats.

Outstanding developments today included the arrest of Pearl Bahmer, fifteen years old, who was with Schneider when the two bodies were found as an incorrigible, and of Nicholas Bahmer, her father, held on a criminal charge preferred by the girl; and the intimation by one of the chief investigators that Hayes' arrest did not solve the mystery—that in fact "we've just started to work on the case."

GIRL ARRESTED IN STOLEN AUTO

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Caroline Minda, nineteen years old, of Belfast, Me., and John J. Gagen, of Providence, were to have a hearing here today on the charge of stealing an automobile in Boston, in which they have been joy riding.

Murder Witness

PEARL BAHMER.
Photo by International News Reel.

Fifteen year-old girl, who is an important figure in the murder of a New Jersey pastor and his choir singer sweetheart. Photo was taken just after she had been taken into custody in the case.

FISH SCARCITY JUMPS PRICES TO WAR TIMES

The prices of fish in the Boston wholesale market, which have been advancing all this week, today skyrocketed up to a point that has seldom been reached since the war. Haddock sold to retail dealers for 11 to 12½ cents a pound, about double the figures of yesterday and three times last week's prices.

Fogs and storms on the fishing grounds for the past ten days have cut down the receipts of fish almost to the vanishing point. Only one vessel arrived today, with aggregate catches of about 160,000 pounds.

This, in a market that could have readily absorbed a couple of million pounds, set the wholesale dealers to competitive bidding for the meagre supply with the result that prices were advanced sensationally. The wholesale prices quoted by the Boston Fish Bureau today were:

Steak cod, 13-14 cents; small cod, 6-7½ cents; haddock, 11-12½ cents; pollock, 6½-7 cents; hake, 4½-6½ cents per pound.

13 PAY FOR TIPS ON AUTO RULES

Thirteen persons were fined in South Boston court today for violations of the vehicle laws.

Joseph Flaherty of No. 121 Fifth street was fined $50 for failing to heed the stop signal of a traffic officer. Ray Stewart of No. 52 G street was fined $50 for circling a horse and buggy with his motorcycle. Timothy Hannon of No. 418 Washington street, Roslindale, was fined $50 for operating a motor vehicle in a manner to endanger public safety.

Four others were fined $5 each.

MANY PICK YANKEE TO WIN RACE

Crowds Flock to Gloucester for Fishermen's Race Trials Tomorrow

Gloucester, Oct. 11. — People from all over the North Atlantic coast are crowding into Gloucester to witness the elimination races for the Halifax trophy, which begin tomorrow.

Plans are complete to accommodate great crowds. Numerous craft, large and small, are on hand to carry spectators. Gloucester harbor is littered with vessels of every description, large and small.

When the starting gun is fired at ten o'clock tomorrow morning, for the first of the three elimination races to settle on the American contender that is to meet the Bluenose for the supremacy of the North Atlantic coast, there will be seen under sail four of the speediest schooners that ever went skimming through the blue off Cape Ann.

Of these the lone entry of Gloucester, the Henry Ford, Captain Clayton Morrisey, is the odds on favorite.

TWO HAIL FROM BOSTON.

The Henry Ford's most formidable rival is the Elizabeth Howard of New York. The other two schooners entered for the trials hail from Boston. They are the Yankee, Captain Michael Brophy and the D. A. Dunton, Captain Felix Hogan.

Of the four schooners, the Henry Ford has had her trial and is ready. The Elizabeth Howard will be launched from the ways this afternoon. She is likely to take the Henry Ford on for a trial.

There are many who think the Yankee will win the races. It is well known that she was the schooner that beat the supposed-to-be peer of them all, the redoubtable Mayflower, five hours from the Banks to Boston in a heavy wind. The L. A. Dunton also boasts of some fine sailing records in good breezes.

MANY FAVOR YANKEE.

The sight-seers are anxiously awaiting a glimpse of the Canadian schooner Bluenose, Captain Angus Walters. The international champion of the North Atlantic fishing fleet left-Halifax, N. S., at 7 o'clock this morning for Gloucester to defend her title. She is convoyed by the H. M. C. S. Patriot, and, barring accident, should pull into Gloucester at Sunrise on Friday.

The Yankee, which came off the stocks at Essex five months after the Mayflower, shows in her lines many ideas taken from the larger vessel. Shorter over all, and considerably smaller in other dimensions, the Yankee is in many ways a small edition of the Mayflower. There are many who believe that if she were up to the limit in size allowed under the deed of gift for the international cup she would surely be the challenger this year.

The schooners will be numbered as follows:

Yankee—No. 6.
Henry Ford—No. 7.
Elizabeth Howard—No. 8.
L. A. Dunton—No. 9.

The course will be forty miles and the time limit nine hours, so it is believed certain the race will be finished on schedule time, unless a dead calm takes place. The weather sharps predict clear skies and fresh northeasterly winds for tomorrow's elimination trials.

WITNESSES GRILLED ON MISSING LIQUOR

The Federal Grand Jury heard several witnesses today regarding the mysterious disappearance of $75,000 worth of liquor from the Bay State Storage Warehouse. The hearing may last several days. Among those heard today was Earl P. Barnard, special Intelligence Bureau agent.

Jilted Divorcee Ready to Fight

"Honored Name of My Ancestors Must Not Be Blackened," She Warns

MRS. ONEZINE DE BOUCHELLE ©INTL

SHE SPURNS HIS MONEY

But Mrs. DeBouchelle has declared that Asa G. Candler, who jilted her, charging she had been indiscreet, must reveal those that slandered her, and endow a hospital for children as penalties for attacks on her character.

ASA G. CANDLER ©INTL

ABSENTEE VOTERS GET BALLOTS

Although the State election will be held on November 7, actual voting will begin now.

Secretary of State Cook today shipped the "absentee voting" applications and ballots to city and town clerks throughout the State.

Any voter who expects to be away from home on election day may apply for enrollment as an absentee voter to the local officials. He marks his ballot in the presence of a notary or justice of the peace, places his ballot in a sealed envelope and mails it to his home city, where it is opened and counted on election day.

About 6,000 absentee ballots were cast two years ago.

BOSTON SHARES IN PROSPERITY REVIVAL

Washington, Oct. 11.—All but four of the major industrial groups of the United States showed an employment increase in September, according to figures made public by the United States Department of Labor.

Leading cities which reported increased employment included Boston.

Specific instances of September improvement in important centres included:

Massachusetts—Textile mills reopening. Most shoe plants working full time with nearly full forces.

Boston—Building operations showing increased activity.

WOMAN HELD IN HEAVY BAIL AS PERJURER

Mrs. Rose Shaffer of No. 7 Walnut Park road, Roxbury, whom Federal Judge James M. Morton, Jr., ordered arrested on a charge that she committed perjury while testifying as a government witness in a narcotic case, was held in $10,000 bail today for Federal Grand Jury action.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Joseph W. Keith, conducting the case for the government, asked the court to hold her in heavy bail. The defendant was not in court. She remained in U. S. Marshal Keville's office under guard of deputy marshals. Up to a late hour she had not obtained bail. She was to be sent to East Cambridge jail.

The alleged perjury was in connection with the jury trial of Charles Solomon and Tony Ferino, both of this city, charged with possessing about 150 ounces of morphine and cocaine. Both defendants were acquitted.

SHEEHAN TO DEFEND ACCUSED BANKERS

Former Assistant District Attorney Fred M. Sheehan has been retained to defend Max Mitchell, former president of the Cosmopolitan Trust Company, who, in an indictment secured by Attorney-General Allen, is charged with larceny of money from the bank.

Attorney Sheehan has also been retained as counsel for Henry H. Chmielinski, former president of the Hanover Trust Company, in proceedings for contempt brought by Allen against Chmielinski for sending a letter to the special Grand Jury during an investigation of the affairs of the company.

Auto Injuries Fatal

Lowell, Oct. 11.—Mrs. Joseph Levaly of Lowell died at St. Joseph's Hospital today of injuries received in an automobile accident on the Lawrence-Lowell boulevard Sunday night.

TWICE BREAKS DOWN TELLING OF CRUELTY

Mrs. Jessie M. Brooks of Roxbury broke down while being questioned by Chief Justice Hall in Suffolk Superior Court today in her uncontested divorce suit against George D. Brooks.

She testified that she was a widow when she married Brooks in 1916. She accused him of cruelty and abuse. When the court put questions she became very nervous. Officers thought she would faint. Water was brought to her. She became hysterical and was overcome for five minutes.

She could not recall the date of her first marriage, how long she was married or where she had lived.

Regaining some of her self-possession she testified that her husband demanded that she support him and beat her when she refused.

Then she broke down so that a fifteen-minute recess was necessary. Resuming the stand, Mrs. Brooks said that once when her husband was beating her in their Shawmut avenue lodgings, the landlady heard her cries and came in, but was told to get out or she would get a beating, too.

When Chief Justice Hall, asked why the landlady was not on hand as witness Mrs. Brooks said she was ill. The case was continued to Friday.

"MUSICAL DOCKMAN" FREED BY COURT

If you are along Phillips street, West End, and hear sweet strains of music it's probably Eli Slater, the musical longshoreman.

An attempt was made in Central Court today to end Slater's harmonious offerings, when neighbors told Judge Creed that they were a nuisance. Mrs. Elisa Gray, proprietor of a rooming house, defended him, saying the neighborhood was better for his music. Many a time, she said, she had seen him, after a hard day's work, playing a bugle accompaniment to a phonograph with an enraptured child on one knee. The charge against him was dismissed.

DEMANDS CANDLER REPENT OF 'SLANDER'

He Shall Tell World Real Reason for Jilting Her, Declares Divorcee

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Mrs. Onezima De Bouchelle, divorcee of New Orleans, La., whose engagement to Asa G. Candler, Sr., Atlanta capitalist and "Coca Cola King," has been terminated, said today that "a deep sympathy for a lonely old man, whose children had grown away from him, and a companionship I craved, rather than love, inspired my engagement."

"I do not want a single penny of the Candler money," she asserted, "but they will have to pay and pay dearly for their campaign to wreck my reputation with insults."

RESENTS "SLANDER."

In a previous statement Mrs. De Bouchelle said Mr. Candler had informed her it would be impossible for him to marry her as he had received information that she had invited two men to visit her rooms in a local hotel during the Confederate reunion here in 1919.

"Mr. Candler shall tell to the world that the slander of unprincipled men is not the reason he has cast off the woman whom he asked to be his wife," she reiterated today. "He must disclose the slanderers of my character; tell me and the world that women are not always fortune hunters—that heritage of pride does not succumb to material desires. This shall be done."

TYPICAL FRENCH BEAUTY.

Mrs. De Bouchelle, whose announcement of her engagement to Mr. Candler several months ago attracted national attention, is typical of the French. Her eyes are grayish blue and her hair auburn. She is wealthy and is said to have descended on both sides of her family from the French aristocracy.

When Mrs. De Bouchelle attended the Confederate reunion in Atlanta as chaperon-general, she related, Mr. Candler entertained the ladies of her court, sent them candy and flowers, placed his automobile at their disposal and otherwise "acted as any gentleman would."

After she had returned to her home in New Orleans, a correspondence developed, she continued. The capitalist told her "how his daughter before her marriage had always met him at the door and placed her arms around his neck; but now it was 'hello father' as she passed him to embrace her husband."

SHE WAS LONELY, TOO.

Herself lonely and susceptible to the idea of a union based not upon love, but upon a "companionship ideal" their ideas grew gradually together, she said. She visited Switzerland and upon her return Mr. Candler met her at the pier in New York, she declared.

Those rugged elements of his character which enabled him to rise from a comparatively low station in life to the heights of financial standing attracted and fascinated me," she continued.

"While he did not have a background of generations of courtly refinement, he possessed all the elements of a gentleman. He was, I thought, the ideal type—kind, considerate and solicitous of my welfare.

"The most outstanding ruin of the debacle which confronts me today," she added, after a pause," is that the strong, masterful personality is plastic, moulded into shape by the wills of others.

"At heart I believe him to yearn for the Utopia we had planned, but he was overcome by the desires of others. And the worst of all is his lack of faith in me."

BAY STATE WAKING UP TO DANGER IN MOVING PICTURE CENSOR

LETTERS OF PROTEST FLOODING MAILS

Massachusetts is waking up. Brought from indifference to full realization of what moving picture censorship in this State really means, citizens from all parts are flooding the mails in their efforts to get their views into the Boston American, in its fight against this odius bill.

A few days ago little attention was paid to movie censorship by the vast majority of Bay State residents. Today the question is the one uppermost in their minds. Inhabitants of this little corner of the country are beginning to see that they are soo.. to lose one of their fundamental rights, if a small minority of alleged reformers is allowed to have its way.

$400 FOR BEST LETTERS.

The Boston American intends to wage a fight to the end against censorship of the films. Every single reader of the paper is invited to join in the fight. In order to stimulate readers to make known their ideas, for the benefit of the Commonwealth at large, this paper is offering $400 in cash prizes for the best letters on the subject. There will be three prizes of $250, $100 and $50. Then there will be special awards of $2 for each letter printed, whether it is considered for a big prize or not.

Some of the more recent letters on the subject, selected from scores that have been received, are the following:

IMPOSSIBLE PROPOSAL.

Editor Boston American:

If somebody will name me one man or woman in Massachusetts big enough, wise enough, conservative enough, progressive enough, sensible enough, fair enough, who knows and understands artistic values, common news values; one who is a good judge of all forms of literature, of plays, of novels, one who is an authority upon political questions in various countries and economic conditions therein; one who knows what things should be shown on the screen of historical value, and who in addition, can pass upon the things that are valuable for educational motion pictures; then I will say that a one-man censorship in the State of Massachusetts will not do any particular harm, although he will not do any good and the extra cost is therefore out of place.

We all know that such a person is not only impossible to find, but that all of these attributes of ability are not to be discovered in one person.

I shall vote "NO" on Referendum No. 3 because I believe it to be a most ill-thought out piece of legislation. We know not where this new angle will end.

I am proud to be a member of the Citizens' Committee and I expect to neglect my business to help defeat censorship because the principle involved should be carefully considered by every business man in the State. Censorship must not be tolerated in Massachusetts.

Very sincerely yours,

WILLIAM H. CARTER.

Needham, Mass.

WOULD BOOST PRICES.

Editor Boston American:

I love to attend the "movies" and can say, for one, that I would be very sorry to have State censorship of motion pictures passed as a law. Our one great place of enjoyment is the moving picture theatre, giving mental stimulus and pleasure to the poor, driving away dull care and affording relaxation to toil-filled lives.

I ask, why should one man pick out the motion pictures for all the people of Massachusetts?

The costs of censorship is enormous and must mean fewer pictures with advanced prices to be borne by the theatre-going public. Therefore, my appeal is that every voter, on the next election, November 7, will decide quickly to do his or her best to vote "No" on Referendum No. 3 on the ballot, the one having to do with moving pictures.

LENA K. FRENCH.

No. 1079 North Main street, Montello, Mass.

GIVE WAR VETS THE MONEY.

Editor Boston American:

Most emphatically I am opposed to movie censorship, not only because I consider it is a reflection on the intelligence of movie patrons in general, and on the decency and good sense of movie theatre managers, but to me it seems a ridiculous thing to even suggest that one person be given authority to say what the rest of the citizens of the State are to be allowed to see.

In the first place, there is the matter of taste. Because a censor chooses to take a dislike to a certain picture, does it necessarily follow that I wouldn't like it? Next is the matter of theatre managers. I do not believe there are many of them who would risk hurting the patronage of their houses by showing pictures not fit to be seen by both old and young. Then, too, it isn't a matter of compulsion for any one to attend the movies.

It is a very easy matter to stay away from theatres that show pictures of a doubtful nature. If the State of Massachusetts is so well supplied with money that it can afford to pay a salary to a movie censor to satisfy a few narrow-minded fogies, I am of the opinion that such money could be spent to much better advantage for the soldiers who fought for our liberty than to spend it for something to deprive us of that liberty.

MRS. LILLIAN C. BATCHELDER, North Billerica, Mass.

STUPID AND UNJUST.

Editor Boston American:

On November 7 next the intelligent voting public of this State will register their votes on the question of State censorship of moving pictures, in no uncertain terms.

It would appear to my way of thinking the height of stupidity and injustice to deprive an already impatient public of a right which means the surrender of their self-respect and personal liberty.

I am strongly opposed to such a law by reason of the fact that it would place the sentiment of a clean thinking, liberty loving people into the hands of a chosen few with little or no knowledge of what the public requires to stimulate their minds and educate the young through the medium of the screen.

It will become part and parcel of the game of politics and perhaps cause the downfall of the motion picture industry in this State. The people cannot and will not tolerate such destructive and selfish legislation, inspired by a few who aim to benefit themselves thereby.

The motion picture of today, uncensored, is the symbol of truth, justice and knowledge. Under censorship—hypocrisy, false modesty and an utter disregard for the public's need, will be the rule. Uphold your dignity. Defeat those who would destroy our one great source of pleasure.

CHARLES STAMLER.

No. 127 Ash street, Chelsea, Mass.

FOR "CENSOR OF CENSORS."

Editor Boston American:

I should compare the censoring of moving pictures with the hiring of one to see that the sun arose and set properly. Moving picture production, yet in infancy, has recently passed through a period of trial. It has groped about in the past, endeavoring to feel what the public demanded. It has touched the various chords of sympathy, love, joy, patriotism, education, and all those enlightened virtures. Likewise it sometimes may have lowered to the immoral, or at least, perhaps, the civilly immodest. And it has finally realized the will of the majority.

It has found that what is pure in the eyes of human nature and Him, that it can best benefit by, and in that it is most beneficent. Therefore it shall expediently attempt to bring before the people only themes that thereof arise, and that express only the better, greater side of life.

Then what of the moving picture censors! Do you wish to expend your money and ruin your photoplays that they might immoderately and unnecessarily impair your rights! Go to the elections in November and firmly demand a "censor of censors."

CARL SIMPSON,

Hopkins street, Wilmington, Mass.

"THE MOVIE FAN'S PRAYER."

Editor Boston American:

I submit "The Movie Fan's Prayer," with humble apologies to the New Testament:

1—The Movie Censor is un-American; I want him not.

2—He maketh a good picture dull and uninteresting; He measureth the distance of lover's embraces.

3—He puts rebellion in my soul; he maketh all villiany become righteousness for the Public's sake.

4—Yea, tho' I fain would see my pictures first hand I fear his evil; for he is with me; his "Cut out this and that" discomfort me.

5—Producers prepare a picture before me, in the presence of the Censor; he removeth both the plot and the humor; my tears runneth over.

6—Surely misery and gloom follow in the wake of censorship; let us ban him from our theatres forever. Amen.

ALICE M. DANIELS.

3 Maple ave., Bradford, Mass.

DANGEROUS PRECEDENT.

Editor Boston American:

Motion picture censorship should be defeated. If it is established, it will set a dangerous precedent. Consistency of action would demand "gagging" of the press, denial of the right of free speech, essential principles of democracy.

The photoplay represents knowledge and entertainment combined. There has been no attempt to regulate knowledge in our universities. Why regulate it upon the screen?

Motion pictures are impressionable and it is claimed that their effect upon the young mind is injurious. The youngster cares nothing for so-called "society" or "sex" dramas, but craves the adventurous type of story, undoubtedly objectionable to the censors. To deny them these pictures is to deny them in their very youth—the right to be young. This spirit of adventure, in later years, makes men who fight for their country, women who sacrifice.

The adult movie-goer has the right of choice in the selection of screen entertainment. This helps to eliminate bad pictures.

The "movie" story always shows the eventual triumph of justice. Wrong must be depicted as a contrast, and to point a moral. The final impression is the lasting one and whether the mind is young or old, the effect is the same.

We have a National Board of Censorship.

Is it necessary to censor the censors?

I say no censorship!

JOSEPH F. TAYLOR,

53 Farragut Road, South Boston, 27, Mass.

Miss Foley Trusts Public; Balks Over Censor

Miss Margaret Foley, Deputy Commissioner of Institutions for the City of Boston, said today:

Photos Copyright Bachrach

"I am opposed to the bill which provides for State censorship of motion pictures. I would like to see the person who is capable of censoring for millions of others. Who is competent to do it? Who is so well educated or so thoroughly trained that he knows the hopes, aspirations, thoughts and ideas of all the other people? Who is there without prejudice or bias on at least one subject? Where is there the person capable of taking the broad view of all subjects?

"I have had some experience in public speaking and I would rather take my chances with the mixed crowd on the street corner than before any picked gathering. Have faith in the public. They are the best censors. They do not want indecent things and will not tolerate them. There only a very, very few in any community who show an inclination for what is wrong. The public are capable of thinking for themselves."

WOMEN WORK FOR DEFEAT OF FILM CENSOR

Scores of women and girls who have been interviewed in the stores and on the streets of Boston during the past few days have expressed themselves against film censorship.

Not only are they, personally, against Referendum No. 3, which deals with censorship, but they are going to use their influence to have their male and female voter-friends cast their ballot against censorship.

Miss Ilma Motulski, No. 165 Woodrow avenue, Dorchester, said: "Keep censorship out of the movies. We go to the moving picture theatres to get enjoyment and learn something of what is going on in other parts of the country. What good will pictures be if half of them are cut out or the scenes we are looking for from the news reels, are kept out altogether? I don't think any man is capable of censoring moving pictures, so I think it is foolish to give any one man or small group of men this power. Let well enough alone."

Ilma Motulski

Miss Sarah Dubrow, No. 1 Dale street, Roxbury, gives the following opinion: "I am opposed to censoring the moving pictures. It will be an unnecessary expense and censorship is not needed. I think the American public is able to act as its own movie censor. Certainly no theatre manager is going to put out a picture that he knows will lose him hundreds of dollars. No producer is going to make pictures that will not be popular. If these pictures are popular then the majority of the people want them. Why should a minority try to dictate to the majority in this matter?"

Sarah Dubrow

FIRMLY OPPOSED.

Miss Vivien Lyon, Old Marlborough road, Concord, says: "You can put me down as against movie censorship of any kind. The pictures we see today do not need censoring. The exceptions can be handled by the community in which they are shown. A protest to the manager of the theatre will stop them quickly. Why, then, pay a high-salaried censor who will have to go out and make work for himself in order to find necessary labor? Censorship is not needed and I hope that the voters will go solidly against it in November."

Vivien Lyon

Miss Ella Phelan, No. 64 Emerald street, Malden, is very much anti-censorship. She said: "There are altogether too many 'don'ts' being pushed on the public, without adding any such thing as movie censorship. It seems to me as though the average American, man or woman, is well able to judge right from wrong in the films. It only takes a word to the business-like theatre manager to have him change his pictures, if any are considered offensive. This, after all, is the best and most effective kind of censorship. If 'reformers' would only realize this fact they would soon turn their efforts to some channels where they are more needed."

Ella Phelan

Miss Mary Geraghty, No. 18 Upton street, Boston, says: "Why should moving pictures be censored any more than newspapers or magazines or books? Most of the plays we see in the theatres are taken from other sources. If they are good enough to read they are good enough to see. Naturally, if a producer learns of a book that has gained wide favor he has no fear of taking it over and making a photoplay out of it. Is it fair to this producer to have some censor step in, after hundreds of thousands of dollars have been invested, and tell him that he can't show the picture? I don't think so."

Mary Geraghty

Dreaded Cataract Checked by 'Green'

DR. DAVID A. RICARDO

READING the Boston American green edition may save you from blindness. Read how:

"Cataract of the eyes—one of the most dreaded afflictions—is caused by an excess of white light," states Dr. David A. Ricardo, well-known Boston optometrist, with offices at No. 100 Boylston street. "If the eye is repeatedly exposed to excessive white light, a cataract may result.

"If, however, the eyes are occasionally rested, as by reading printing on green paper, cataract may be prevented. The use of green paper is especially recommended to those who use their eyes a great deal, or in bright light."

Moral: Read the Green.

SIMS B. U. GUEST ON NAVY DAY, OCT. 27

Navy Day, October 27, has been chosen for the date of the annual Fall convention of Boston University to be held in the Boston Arena, at which Rear Admiral William S. Sims, president of the Naval War College of Newport, R. I., will be the guest of honor. More than 7,000 students, faculties and their friends are expected to be present.

Professor John P. Marshall, head of the department of music at the College of Liberal Arts, is in charge of the convocation.

KEY SWALLOWED 58 YEARS AGO REMOVED

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Philip J. Kiefer waited fifty-eight years to recover a key which he "lost" as a boy. Surgeons removed it today from his stomach, where it had embedded itself.

Open Business Course

A course in business administration will be given by the Brighton Catholic Institute, starting Friday. Over one hundred members have registered for the course, which is also opend to non-members.

Plan Children's Day

"Alice in Wonderland" will be featured by the Concord Massachusetts Woman's Club at its annual observance of children's day to be held in the vestry of the Concord First Parish Unitarian Church on Monday afternoon, November 13, at 3 o'clock.

To Aid Building Fund

A musical revue will be presented at the Knights of Columbus Hall, Highland avenue, Somerville, October 20, for the benefit of the St. Benedict's building fund by Arthur J. Hagan, president of the Aeolian Musical Club.

Advertisement

Fighting that dread scourge—

Tuberculosis can best be fought by feeding the tissues and enriching your blood that your body may be stronger than the germs. Take

BOVININE

The Food Tonic

Of All Druggists

MOTHER!

Child's Best Laxative is "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry, mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Advertisement.

DYED A SWEATER AND SKIRT WITH "DIAMOND DYES"

Every "Diamond Dyes" package tells how to dye or tint any worn, faded garment or drapery a new rich color that will not streak, spot, fade or run. Perfect home dyeing is guaranteed with Diamond Dyes even if you have never dyed before. Just tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton, or mixed goods. For fifty-one years millions of women have been using "Diamond Dyes" to add years of wear to their old, shabby waists, skirts, dresses, coats, sweaters, stockings, draperies, hangings, everything!

Advertisement

A Sure Way To End Dandruff "Use Liquid Arvon"

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

Cuticura Soap SHAVES Without Mug

Cuticura Soap is the favorite for safety razor shaving.

Advertisement

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Bisurated Magnesia Neutralizes Stomach Acidity; Stops and Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion you have already tried pepsin, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, or milk, but the pure Bisurated Magnesia which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or three compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow, and, moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

164 KEYBOARDS

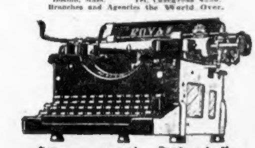

Royal Typewriters are made in many keyboards and many languages: French, Spanish, Czech, Swedish, Armenian, German, Portuguese, Italian, Russian and many others.

ROYAL TYPEWRITER COMPANY, Inc.

186 DEVONSHIRE STREET

Boston, Mass. Tel. Congress 4230

Branches and Agencies the World Over.

"Compare the Work."

ROYAL

BUSINESS NOTICE

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children

IN USE FOR OVER 30 YEARS

Always bears the Signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

Use MURINE NIGHT & MORNING & KEEP YOUR EYES CLEAN CLEAR AND HEALTHY

Genuine BAYER ASPIRIN

SAY "BAYER" when you buy Aspirin

Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting the genuine Bayer product prescribed by physicians over twenty-two years and proved safe by millions for colds, headache, toothache, earache, neuralgia, lumbago, rheumatism, neuritis and for pain in general. Accept only "Bayer" package which contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Clean, Clear, and Full-bodied

Texaco Motor Oil is all oil.

As soon as you see its clean, clear, golden color you will know that your motor is going to be a better motor.

TEXACO MOTOR OIL

THE TEXAS COMPANY, U.S.A.

Texaco Petroleum Products

Run it with Texaco Gasoline   Save it with Texaco Motor Oil

There's comfort, quality, service and good looks in the cars listed for sale over in the "Automobile Exchange" colums. Nobody will know they have seen service, and you will forget it in enjoyment of the comfort of owning one. Prices and terms are reasonable.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN

Boston's Want Ad Directory

Read for Profit—Use for Results

This store will be under the direct personal supervision and management of

MR. JOSEPH DONOVAN

A widely known and popular clothing man in New England. He will be supported by a picked force of all-star Boston clothing salesmen prominent in their line, with one of whom you are surely acquainted.

Georges Opens Friday the 13th!

It will present the greatest spectacle of fashion ever seen under one roof in Boston! It is practically 40 specialty clothing shops thrown into one---a grand central Palace of Style and Exhibition Hall of 40 of America's most notable and nationally famous makers of clothes for men and young men!

It is a sight of fascinating interest---one worth coming miles to see and one that you will never forget. The values shown at every hand are in themselves a revelation, absolutely unmatchable anywhere in Boston. Nothing like it has ever been seen before in New England! Come and see it all with your own eyes!

We have Only One Friend~ We want Only One Friend~

We need Only One Friend~

~The Public!

THE bosses of most businesses are those whose names are lettered in gold over their doors. Long ago we found out who was the boss of this business. He wasn't hired, he wasn't a partner, he's never had his name on our door. Yet he is our only boss—our only friend. He is, of course, you—THE PUBLIC. He lifted this great chain-store enterprise from a struggling little shop to a business which runs into millions of dollars annually.

He did it because we gave him greater value for his money; greater variety for his choosing—giving him the benefit of our vast purchasing power, low overhead and the small margin of profit that our big volume permits.

By doing this for him—by keeping faith with him—by believing in him—by working for him—by fighting for him—he rewarded us handsomely for our effort.

Think of the remarkable friendship, the confidence, the tremendous good will which our boss—our friend—THE PUBLIC—has accorded the business of GEORGES!

The public will do the same for us here in BOSTON as in New York, in Newark, in Philadelphia and in Buffalo, as well as in the many other cities where GEORGES stores will be located, for human nature is the same the world over.

The Most Complete Stock in Boston

STYLES:	Every popular model of 40 nationally famous makers—from the most conservative to the most extreme.
FABRICS:	Every all-wool fabric used in making men's clothing is represented—in a range of patterns and colors that beggars description.
SIZES:	For students: 31 to 36; For men and young men: regulars 33 to 48; shorts 33 to 42; longs 36 to 42; stouts and extra sizes (our specialty), 37 to 52.

Georges 45-47 Summer Street

Open daily till 6:00—Saturdays till 9:30 P. M.

BOSTON NEW YORK NEWARK BUFFALO PHILADELPHIA

HAVERHILL MAYOR ASKED: CAN GIRL BE GOOD ON $12 WAGE?

EXECUTIVE DECLINES TO REPLY

However, He Invites Hard Working Store Clerks to Office to Talk It Over

Haverhill, Oct. 11.—A rebellious letter asking the Mayor of Haverhill if he could live on twelve dollars a week and "be decent" has been sent to the city's chief executive by the spokeswoman of a group of girl clerks.

The local practice of compelling girl clerks to work an extra half day just prior to holidays has fanned into flame a feminine revolution that may assume large proportions.

FINDS IT HARD.

The letter lays emphasis on the long hours on Saturday, which the clerks are compelled to work, and naively asks: "Did you ever try it for a month or more? I draw $12 a week. Do you expect me to sleep, live and eat on that? Could you do it and be decent? I am a girl and it is hard. It is hard."

After enumerating various hardships the letter concludes thus:

DEPRIVED HOLIDAYS.

"Weren't holidays meant for us or are girl clerks coming to the slave age of the South? Could we clerks hear or see your reply to this in some newspaper or will you sit back and watch us clerks celebrate half legal holidays while others throughout the country enjoy whole days? Your answer! Or are you only interested in helping buy machines for the city?

(Signed)

"A GIRL CLERK OF 24 YEARS."

Mayor Flanders refused to make formal answer to the note of the young woman. In presenting the letter to the press he declared that the young woman and her associates are invited at any time to visit the mayoral office and "talk things over."

Forecast Passing of White Tiled Restaurants

Washington, Oct. 11.—The passing of the "white front" lunch room in favor of one with colors to soothe the aesthetic tastes of the diners was foreshadowed at the convention of the National Restaurant Association.

The white tiling may be all right for sanitation and hot climates, but in this country warmer tints are desirable in Winter, speakers agreed.

William Childs of the Childs chain said the colorful tiling promises to supplant the plain white.

NOTED JEWS TO AID PALESTINE DRIVE

Samuel Untermyer, one of the foremost Jews of America; Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, and Colonel Josiah Wedgewood, M. P., will be the principal speakers at a banquet Sunday night which will mark the opening of a drive for $250,000 for the Keren Hayesod.

Samuel Untermyer

The Keren Hayesod is a huge fund by which the Jews hope to redeem Palestine, the "Jewish Promised Land," from its ages of decay and neglect. "A home for homeless Israel" is the slogan of the drive.

COX INDORSES BIG DRIVE OF 'SALLIES'

The annual home service appeal of the Salvation Army will be made during the ten days from October 20 to 30. They will attempt to raise $200,000 in Boston to finance the local welfare and relief activities. This announcement was made today from the Salvation Army headquarters at No. 8 East Brookline street.

"It is a privilege for me to indorse the work of the Salvation Army and its annual home service appeal for Boston," Governor Cox told the army officials.

Betty Alden Predicts Success of Junior Supper Dances Which Start Next Month

By BETTY ALDEN

WITH such a good committee in charge, the junior supper dances this year are bound to be as much of a success, if not more, than those of last season.

Of the young women on the committee, there's Miss Louise Fessenden, dainty daughter of the Sewall H. Fessendens, heroine in "Now and Then," last year's Vincent Club show; Miss Ella de T. Snelling, who is quite a "pal" of Miss Fessenden's and who is quite as attractive; Miss Frances Weld, debutante daughter of the Bernard C. Welds; Mrs. Francis B. Lothrop, who prior to her brilliant marriage last April at Trinity Church was Miss Eleanor Abbott; Miss Mary Weld, another close friend of Miss Snelling's, who has gone down to the North Shore for the Myopia hunting this Fall; also Miss Marian Fenno and Mrs. Arthur Richmond.

These terpsichorean events, which are modeled on the senior supper dances, are especially for the debutantes with their train of cavaliers, as well as for the girls who have "been out" a year or more. The first of these affairs comes on Friday evening, November 17.

MRS. HELEN DRAPER TAFT has been spending a few days in New York at the St. Regis. She came up from the Draper country home in Hopedale, known as "Greencourt."

DECEMBER has been chosen by Miss Elizabeth Higginson Bowditch for her marriage to James Randall Frazer of California and Boston.

It was in July that the bride-to-be's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederic C. Bowditch of Brookline, announced the engagement of their daughter to Mr. Frazer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Frazer of Berkeley, Cal.

Miss Bowditch belongs to the 1919-20 Sewing Circle, in whose ranks quite a few matrimonial ventures have taken place of late. One of the most recent 1919-20 Sewing Circle brides is Mrs. Henry Holt, Jr. (Elizabeth Cabot), whose marriage last month drew a host of notables to Dublin, N. H., the Summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Handasyd Cabot. Another sister-debutante is Mrs. John Gordon Winchester (Lilian Aldrich), whose wedding was one of the smartest of the June processional. It is interesting to note that both Mr. Winchester and Mr. Holt, Jr., are New York men, and both attended Harvard University.

A younger sister of Miss Bowditch's, Miss Anita Bowditch, is one of this season's debutantes, and I hear that she is to be presented on November 18 at a tea which her parents are giving for her.

MRS. HENRY WARE PUTNAM has closed her Newport cottage and has returned to her Winter home in Chestnut Hill for the season.

Whenever a matrimonially-bound couple have their wedding day all set, and then suddenly postpone the all-important event, everyone immediately begins to wonder if "it's all off."

I understand that in the case of Miss Rose Fessenden and Edward L. Bigelow it is most emphatically not "all off," but that the marriage of the young people will probably take place in the Spring. Their marriage was to have taken place at Chestnut Hill on the last Saturday of the month, and it would undoubtedly have been one of the most important nuptials of the Fall, what with the host of Lee, Thayer, Forbes, Bigelow and Ames connections of which the young people may boast.

However, Miss Fessenden—she has very light hair and very blue eyes—is not well enough to be married, and it is very likely that she will go away for a while this Winter in order to regain some of her former good health.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN PHILLIPS MARQUAND (Christina Sedgwick) have concluded their wedding journey, and are now domiciled at their new home in Newburyport, Mass.

It was early last month that the daughter of the Alexander Sedgwicks was married to the well-known author, their Berkshire wedding bringing a notable contingent of Boston connections to Stockbridge, where the Sedgwicks have a country home. Miss Henrietta Ellery Sedgwick of Boston attended her cousin in the bridesmaids' group.

Betty Alden

Photo copyright by Bachrach.

MRS. THOMAS E. P. RICE

Mrs. Thomas E. P. Rice (Elizabeth Lyman) and her husband are of the younger married set making their all-year round home on the North Shore. Their marriage was one of the fashionable nuptials of last June.

HEAVY FIRING FROM DUBLIN AMBUSH

Dublin, Oct. 11 (By the Associated Press).—Numerous ambushes, accompanied by heavy bursts of firing, occurred in various parts of the city. The fighting continued until dawn.

The trouble began when a bomb laid to catch the Free State troops in Drumcondra exploded. The bomb was placed near the Mountjoy jail, where yesterday's outbreak occurred.

A medical student, named Cooney, who was reported to have led the jail revolt signed a statement today in which he said: "I accept full responsibility. That any lives were lost occasions my most sincere regret. I have absolutely no grievance against the guards. They simply did their duty."

A crowd of women, including many relatives of the prisoners, gathered outside the gates of the jail with food and other articles for the inmates. The military guard refused to accept the articles. The crowd remained, some of the women weeping and shouting. Among them was Mrs. Charlotte Despard.

A definite pronouncement against the anti-treaty rebellion was made by the Irish hierarchy.

The hierarchy issued a pastoral letter condemning in the strongest terms guerrilla warfare against the Free State government, and declaring that "the killing of National soldiers is murder before God."

Denouncing robberies and the destruction of roads and railways, the letter enjoins that persons guilty of such crimes shall not be given absolution or admitted to communion if they persist in such evil courses.

"It is almost incredible, inconceivable," the pastoral declared, "that decent Irish boys could degenerate so tragically and reconcile such an amount of criminality with their duties to God and to Ireland.

Armed Band Raids Irish Postoffice

Belfast, Oct. 11.—A party of armed men raided the postoffice at Castletown, in West Meath, dismantled the telephone and telegraph instruments and seized all the money. Later the wires were cut and the police barracks were blown up with bombs.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS

Washington.—Party leaders say fewer dollars will be spent in this congressional election than in any campaign in recent years. Republican and Democratic national organizations are broke—or badly bent.

Katonah, N. Y.—The volunteer fire department, numbering 130 men, resigned in protest against the defeat by the voters of a proposal to appropriate $25,000 for a new firehouse.

Rome.—Fascisti occupied the offices of the housing commissioner and forced the dismissal of all women clerks, replacing them with ex-service men.

San Juan.—Lieutenant Walter Hinton, on an airplane flight from New York to Rio Janeiro, left here with Guadeloupe his intended next stopping place.

Washington.—Bituminous mines on Monday produced 40,598 carloads, the largest amount mined in any day since December, 1920. The railroads loaded on Monday 6,446 cars of anthracite.

Berlin—A report was circulated a representative of the Rockefeller interests was conferring with the German government regarding a loan.

Berlin—The new low record of the German mark was attributed to British concessions to the French on the Near East.

Camden—Cherry, pear and apple trees are in blossom in Camden County. A lilac bush is blooming at Kirkwood. Lindenwold has a third crop of raspberries.

Tokio—Official Japan anticipates an early call from President Harding for an economic and land disarmament conference.

Muncie, Ind.—Snow fell for five minutes, melting as it touched the ground.

MAY GIVE UP SHIP FAST ON BEACH

Block Island, R. I., Oct. 11.—The tank steamer Swiftstar, which ran aground near Black Rock while bound to Fall River from San Pedro, lay broadside on the beach today.

Tugs were standing by, but a heavy swell was running. The vessel's bottom was reported to be badly damaged.

The Swiftstar proceeded to hastily that word was sent by wireless from the steamer it probably would be necessary to abandon her before night.

MEDIUM BROWN HAIR looks best of all after a Golden Glint Shampoo—[illegible]

EUROPE NEEDS U. S. GOLD TO PAY DEBTS

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 11.—Complete readjustment of the $11,000,000,000 allied debt cannot be worked out as long as the United States continues to hold one-half of the world's available gold supply, Representative Theodore E. Burton of Ohio, member of the American Debt Funding Commission, said today.

Senator McKinley of Illinois, a member like Mr. Burton, of the American congressional delegation to the recent inter-parliamentary union conference at Vienna, said the debt problem was not one of cancellation, but of collection. Mr. McKinley said the way to solve the problem was not by the United States hanging on to half the gold in the world. Neither could the debt be liquidated with European goods.

To flood this country with such goods would mean the closing of American factories and a paralysis of American industry. There must be a gradual reapportionment of gold reserves and a decided stoppage of the printing press currency of certain European nations if international bankruptcy were to be avoided, said the Congressman.

NEGRO POPULATION CENTRE MOVES NORTH

Washington, Oct. 11.—For the first time in history the centre of negro population of the United States has moved northeast, being located in the extreme northwestern corner of Georgia. According to the census bureau the northeasterly movement of the centre of negro population is due principally to the great increase in negro population of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Michigan.

Old Fashioned Wedding Ring
MODERNIZED
[illegible] Orange Blossom Design
REAGAN KIPP CO.

Jordan Marsh Company

The Foolish Man Who Built His House on the Sand

He gave an example of folly which anybody can understand.

THE man who, seeking public patronage and approval, takes away from quality of merchandise in order to make his price lower, or the store that knowingly countenances such practice by a manufacturer, is building upon the sand.

Like the famous house so builded, the weakness may be quite unseen for a time. Unfortunately, much of the work which makes for quality is hidden away from eyes which look only upon the surface. Like the delicate mechanism of a watch, or the inside tailoring of a suit or coat, only the test of time may decide. But the good works of a watch enable it to keep accurate time and the inside tailoring of a suit cause it to keep its style, fit and shape till worn out.

It's so easy for a manufacturer to skimp sizes, to omit a row of stitching here and substitute a poor quality of material there where it doesn't show, that the forward march of quality is one continual fight for progress! Cheapening or skimping, whether it be in a watch or a coat, lowers the standard of the man who makes or the store that sells such merchandise. He is building his house upon the sand.

The House of Jordan Marsh Company is founded upon the solid rock of Quality and Satisfaction. We are proud to believe that our strongest appeal to a constantly increasing clientele is not the appeal of price, but the honest attraction of good QUALITY and VALUE at all times!

'ZENDA' FILM DELIGHTFUL ROMANCE

By FRED J. McISAAC

"The Prisoner of Zenda" is one of the dramas of twenty years ago which has never grown dim in my memory. It was a delightful romance delightfully performed. It was far more charming as a play than in its original form a novelette by Anthony Hope.

Rex Ingram, director of "Four Horsemen," has dug it out of the past, and turned it into one of the very few worth-while photoplays. The folks who go to the State Theatre have the privilege of seeing on the regular program this picture which ran for several months at legitimate theatre prices in New York, in fact is still running.

PROLOGUE OMITTED.

Ingram's "Prisoner of Zenda" is based upon a scenario by Mary O'Hara. Strangely enough it omits the prologue, which occurs one hundred years before the play, and which was a feature of the E. H. Sothern stage production. This is the more curious because movie directors love to drag in ancient history, sometimes hitching it to a tale it doesn't fit, as De Mille did in "Male and Female" and just now in "Manslaughter."

Ingram plunges directly into his story and tells it in a clear, straightforward and engrossing manner. There are no bombastic captions, no rhodomontade of any sort. The romantic kingdom, its lovely princess, and the English traveler who looks so much like the King that he substitutes for him and saves his kingdom, and wins the love of his Queen, the swaggering officers of Black Prince Michael, all these picturesque figures and events make a tale to delight a motion picture director.

BEAUTIFUL PHOTOPLAY.

He has built his castles and moats, his cathedrals and his ballrooms, marshalled his armies and his mobs and carried on in a terse, crisp and enthralling manner. The photoplay is very beautiful and the trick stuff which enables Lewis Stone, in the dual role of King and traveler, to meet and dine together, is effective in the extreme. Mr. Stone's work in this part stamps him as a very unusual actor. Alice Terry as Princess Flavia was both lovely and regal. The long cast was thoroughly adequate.

WRITE A NIFTY, THEY BRING DOLLARS

TODAY'S WINNERS

Mary had a little lamp.
Which was well trained, no doubt.
For every time a fellow called,
The little lamp went out.

HARRY F. BOWEN,
No. 283 Eustis street, Roxbury.

Salem, I Saugus and he's all Lynn.

MILDRED PABST,
No. 8 Brewster terrace, Brookline.

When has a man four hands?
When he doubles his fists.

MRS. S. BIKOFSKY,
No. 109 Harold street, Roxbury.

We pay a dollar for each Nifty printed. Send one to the Nifty Editor, Boston American.

Snyder-Made

INDIGESTIBILITY is overcome in Snyder-Made by distilling the finest herbs and using the essence for flavoring instead of rough chopped herbs. It is evenly distributed through the meat. Order a box today. "As digestible as it is delicious."

IN THE RED SEAL BOX

PORK Sausage

strength

MUELLER'S Spaghetti is a wonderful food for children. It supplies the necessary building material for their growing bodies.

And you don't have to urge, or insist, that they eat Mueller's. Its delicious flavor pleases their palates, and there are so many delightful ways of preparing it that they welcome it with joy every time it comes to the table.

"All You Need in a Food"

MUELLER'S
The World's Best Spaghetti

One LEMON PIE is scarcely enough -- they always ask for more

SERVE the dessert that your family welcomes with delight! Don't be afraid it won't turn out right. Hundreds of women have for years been making lemon pie with perfect success every time.

Even though you never before attempted it you can make lemon pie with delicious tangy-tart flavor and luscious creaminess.

Just follow the simple directions on each Good Luck package. The ingredients are ready mixed for you—just as the best cook would do it. In a twinkling, your filling is ready. Your success is certain.

Tonight surprise your family with this lemon pie—richly golden, creamy, full of zest and tangy flavor. Don't think it an extravagance—with Good Luck it is one of the most economical of pies. At your grocer's.

GOOD LUCK for LEMON PIE
-smooth and creamy every time

FATTY ARBUCKLE TO APPEAL TO HAYS

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 11.—Roscoe "Fatty" Arbuckle, fat film comedian, after more than a year's banishment from the screen, will go to New York to appeal to Will Hays, czar of the industry, that he be allowed to resume work.

The Friendly Glow

THE fewer our mistakes the better Edison Service.

Your criticism is helpful—welcome.

The Edison Electric Illuminating Company of Boston

STOUGHTON JOY RIDE GIRL IS BACK HOME

The venturesome Hazel Porter, fifteen-year-old daughter of Mrs. Cora P. Porter of Stoughton, is back home, none the worse for an experience that caused a police search for her since she left home Sunday morning.

The girl, apparently unharmed, was found at Brockton. Further than admitting that she and Winifred Bunn had taken an automobile ride with three strange men, she would say nothing.

According to the story told by Winifred when she returned home Sunday night, the car had picked up the two girls in Stoughton square Sunday morning. That evening the Bunn girl was dropped off at her home on Chestnut street. Hazel was still in the car, Winifred said, and she thought the men were going to drive her home. Instead, they drove away in the direction of Brockton, and that was the last seen of Hazel until yesterday.

Fitchburg Strikers Back

Fitchburg, Oct. 11—Forty striking electricians in this city and Leominster resumed work today after being out a week.

"Joy Rider" Back

WINIFRED BUNN

THEATRE PARTY FOR ORPHANS JOYOUS

Another happy day for Boston orphans.

Over two hundred of them saw "Forget-Me-Not" at the Orpheum Theatre, as guests of the Boston American in co-operation with the management of the theatre.

This is the second day of the joy of seeing this wonderful film.

Ninety-six girls from St. Vincent Orphan Asylum and two hundred and eleven boys from the Home of the Angel Guardian marched into the theatre and were thrilled by the mother's love depicted in this film.

FILMS PLEASE.

They were orphans, but this picture brought vividly to their minds what mother means. Then besides this film others were shown, which made them laugh, even at the magician who appeared to tell them how tricks could be done and undone.

Miss Anna T. MacCarthy with a corps of assistants had charge of the St. Vincent orphans, and Brothers Borromeo, Cleophas, Gontran and Goslin took care of the boys from their institution.

It was a merry crowd of young spirits. Even the old felt young as they entered into the enjoyment of the occasion.

AUTOS ON HAND.

The Nash automobiles were again on hand to carry the children; Raymond had his handkerchiefs ready to give them on the way to the Home of the Elks, and the Ambassador branch of the Ginter Company supplied three hundred sandwiches, while the Elks gave the milk, ice cream, cake, and the Moxie Company was also there.

The Shuffle Along Company gave an entertainment at the Home of the Elks with Sissle & Blake in charge, assisted by Roger Mathews and Misses Lettie Gee and Edith Spencer. Charles West sang songs and Penn's gift flowers waved in the applause.

On Wednesday another representation of orphans from the Angel Guardian will be entertained, and on Thursday, the last day, orphans from the Italian Home, St. Francis Geroan Home and Ingleside Home, Revere.

FELLOW WORKERS PRESENT ELKS CHARM

Lieutenant Arthur W. Duffy of the Boston & Maine Railroad police was given a diamond studded Elk charm by his fellow officers. Mr. Duffy has just joined the Boston Lodge of Elks, No. 10. The gift was in appreciation of the many favors extended by the official to his men. The charm was presented at roll call when the entire force had gathered in the police quarters. Lieutenant Duffy has been attached to the railroad police force for seven years. His home is on Edson street, Dorchester.

Arthur W. Duffy.

U. S. EXPORT TRADE WITH EUROPE DROPS

Washington, Oct. 11.—America's export trade with Europe suffered a marked decline in August, dropping to $155,000,000 as compared with $204,000,000 in August, 1921, but the value of goods imported from Europe jumped upward as importers hurried shipments across the Atlantic in a race against final enactment of American tariff legislation. The import total for August as announced by the Commerce Department today was $85,000,000 against $59,000,000 the same month last year.

TODAY

Continued from First Page.

the wars with Caesar, died younger than he need have done, but made a reputation. Even his father tried to be a soldier, without much success.

Samuel Rzetsewski, ten-year-old Jewish boy from Poland, played chess eight hours against Edward Lasker, one of the greatest American players, and forced Lasker into an adjourned game. A wonderful thing that childish brain must be. Too bad to use it in that way.

And a strange game is chess. In no other line could a child of ten by any possibility compete with adults of real ability.

The price of gasoline in Chicago is cut two cents. Users will pay nineteen cents at the tank wagon, twenty-one cents at service stations.

That interests users in other places, nearer the edge of the Atlantic where they pay twenty-eight cents.

The company in Indiana announces that the cut means a saving of two million, five hundred thousand dollars a month for motor owners in that neighborhood. The saving will be welcome. It emphasizes the fact that corporations possess a power of taxation without representation that would have made the Americans of old King George's day sit up.

Crossing the Sea of Uncertainty

Even the great Columbus didn't really know what was "on the other side" till he got there!

Just so today! Thousands of people never actually know whether the Ice Cream they eat is Safe and Pure until after they eat it.

But there is no reason why YOU should continue to order YOUR Ice Cream in this uncertain fashion. PURITY—Safety—and uniform Ice Cream quality are always yours in HOOD'S OLD-FASHIONED ICE CREAM.

Smooth and Rich with Wonderful Flavor—the most popular selling Ice Cream in New England—that's Hood's.

To be safe and certain all ways—Buy HOOD'S always!

HOOD'S Old fashioned Ice Cream

"The flavor's there"

ESTABLISHED 1846

Good for the hands

Can you imagine it? Dish-washing made good for the hands? Well it's absolutely true! 20 Mule Team Borax Dish Washing Powder will wash your dishes easier and cleaner and, owing to the remarkable proportion of Borax, it will not injure the skin in any way.

20 Mule Team Borax dissolves the grease and dirt from the dishes as if by magic. It takes half the time and leaves china and glassware with a high, sparkling polish.

Try it today and see for yourself. At your grocers. It saves money.

20 MULE TEAM BORAX DISH WASHING POWDER

25¢ at all grocers

MATHILDE NOT TO WED UNTIL SHE IS 18

Paris, Oct. 11.—The wedding of Miss Mathilde McCormick and her Swiss riding master fiance, Max Oser, has been postponed until next April when the bride will be 18 years old and thereafter able to marry without the official permission of her father, as guardian.

This decision was reached after a friendly discussion with Harold F. McCormick, the bride's father.

Peterman's ROACH KILLS FOOD ROACHES

Fast 3 Days Before Visiting Food Fair, Is Flapper's Warning

Every item in a loaf of tailor-made bread is weighed as carefully as the diamond in your engagement ring. Intrikate—but scientific. That's the rule of the latest wrinkles in foods all the way through the show. At that, I half is admit that ready-to-wear vittles are the beaver's brassier.

By THE FLAPPER.
(Caryl Frink).

Symphonies in soo-ip, artistically executed deserts that Rodin would be proud to have schulped, entrees that make our old friend Luculius look like a bottle-fed baby, tid-bits that entice—the food show at Horticultural Hall!

It costs thirty-five cents, and listen, friends and lodge-brothers—it's worth it!

Have you lost your appetite? Spots before the eyes? Difficulty in breathing and what-not? GO to the Food Show. Your appetite will be revived with such haste that you'll be ashamed of yourself. You'll be hanging around for samples of dishes that you've spurned in other and less inspired days.

FAST BEFORE GOING.

By Golies, the way they fix vittles up these days, it's a caution. Now, when I was a girl a hunk of bread and butter was just that and nothing more. But at the Food Show! They marcel the buns and sculp a head of Venus at the Bath on the butter and you don't know whether to eat it or frame it.

One thing I want to warn you about right now, before we get any deeper into this: Don't pick out the Food Show for a little after dinner entertainment. If you do you'll never forgive yourself. What you really ought to do, once you've a ticket to the Food show, is to fast for three days beforehand.

LOOSE WITH SAMPLES.

For the Boys of the Booths are loose with their samples. It's a cheese sandwich here and a plate of Jellidne there and plenty of this and that and the other in between.

You start out enthusiastically. The red-lipped girl in the Blue Ribbon cheese booth corners you right at the start.

"A taste of nippy?" she invites, ever so coyly.

And you fall head-on. While the nippy still lingers, the latest patent pure food oleo maiden lures you with a butt-rino sandwich. A minature cup of near coffee, guaranteed not to keep you awake a minute, or to wear and tear on the old nerves, follows at the next booth.

FOOD JAG POSSIBLE.

Then a wedge of coniest cake; then a shimmying cube of jazzy jell; then a waffle frizzed on a patent piffleberry worf-ut iron; then a toothful of checker-nugor candy; then a—then a—where were we? Good-night—didn't know you could get jagged on food.

Food, as such, is all right, and I recommend it to all and sundry. But here's what you wanta watch out for, mates. Every now an' again you hit a booth where they're ballyhooing some good-durn thing that will one day be food. That is to say, something with latent possibilities. Such as un-cooked pancake flour which only lacks the magic of heat to make it a tempting breakfast dish, or ginger still on the tree, or larderines, the one and only substitute for legitimate lard.

BE WARNED BY FLAP.

Now, as I was saying, the unscrupulous promoters of these commodities will attempt to entice you to eat heavy of these undeveloped resources, and in your enthusiasm, you might. I warn you. Leave offa the unfinished products. I wish I had.

One thing a Food Show accomplishes, if I may get Rotarian about it, is to point out to the poor little drudging housewife, how perfectly silly and ant-like her last-century housekeeping methods are. Science, chased outa the laboratory into the kitchen, has thought up no end of time and tired-step savers, and the Food Show points them out with pictorial insistence.

HURRAH FOR SCIENCE.

In fact, science even gets impertinent and thinks up a pie crust cutter! Can you imagine that? Reducing the old time-honored pre-Thanksgiving pie pinching scene to mere mechanics.

But all the same I like the idea of scrubbing a floor by machinery, instead of by hand massage, of mixing a cake by electricity instead of by elbow energy, of getting bread at the corner delicatessen instead of roasting same by hand of a Saturday afternoon.

Out of the kitchen and into the ford; that's the un-yodeled college yell of the Food Show, class of 1922. Long may it flourish!

FLAYS R. I. MILL MEN AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

Providence, Oct. 10.—Rhode Island mill owners were flayed at the Republican State Convention today by William A. Needham, executive secretary to Governor San Souci.

In placing Governor San Souci in nomination for re-election, Needham charged that his chief opposition was organized by the mill owners in an effort to crush the Governor.

"They are trying to eliminate Governor San Souci because he refused to cause defenceless men and women and children to be shot down in the recent textile strike," said Needham. "They want to get him because he refused to order the State troops to break up mass picketing."

The Governor was opposed for a renomination by Congressman Ambrose Kennedy of Woonsocket and Lieutenant-Governor Harold J. Gross.

Former Governor R. Livingston Beeckman was nominated for United States Senator.

The party platform unqualifiedly approves the Harding administration.

DECLARE WAGE LAW WOULD CLOSE STORES

Retail stores in at least the smaller cities of the State will have to go out of business if a mandatory minimum-wage law for their employes is enacted and the stores compelled to live up to the decrees of the Minimum Wage Commission.

That was the claim set up today by several representatives of retail merchants' associations at a crowded hearing of the legislative Commission on Unemployment and the Minimum Wage.

James W. Eadie, an accountant, retained by thirty-six department stores throughout New England, said:

DENIES PROFITEERING.

"The retailer is made the butt of public resentment against the high cost of living. He is the last link in the chain of getting goods to the customer, and he is the only one they can take it out on.

"The belief on the part of the public that the retailers are guilty of profiteering is not based on the facts."

"What do you consider a good profit?" asked Chairman Walter A. Hardy.

"They only average to make 5½ per cent. net," replied Mr. Eadie. "In 1919, a banner year, these thirty-six stores whose figures I have compiled, made only 6 9-10 per cent. net.

WOULD BOOST PRICES.

"The stores will be obliged to increase the selling prices of their merchandise if they have to pay the minimum wage," declared Mr. Eadie. "They will also be compelled to discharge many of their employes."

"Isn't it a fact," asked Representative Whidden, "that savings in the banks have enormously increased since the increases in wage began a few years ago?"

Mr. Eadie agreed that was so.

Former Secretary of State Langtry, a member of the commission, interjected: "Also because of the eighteenth amendment."

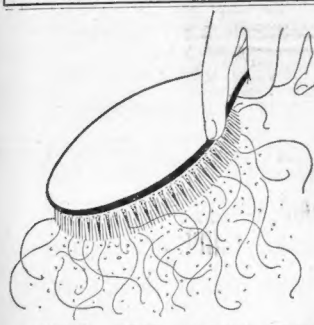

Wedding Rings
Solid 14, 18 & 22K Gold Seamless Wedding Rings
Prices from $5 to $15
Platinum Wedding Rings, $25
The E.B. Horn Co
Established 1870
420 WASHINGTON St.

FOR AFTERNOON TEA
"SALADA"
TEA
Is the most appropriate. Delicious and Economical it assures satisfaction.
Ask for SALADA—Your grocer has it.

ZODIAC
Wedding and Engagement Rings
FOR THE BRIDE
FOR THE GROOM
Wilson Bros.
Big Jewelry Store
Tremont Row
BOSTON
We have many out-of-town customers who tell their friends that for 26 years WILSON BROS. BIG JEWELRY STORE, Tremont Row, is a safe place to Trade. EYES EXAMINED—GLASSES FITTED—COME AND SEE.

IS THIS TRUE (Read Nos. 1 & 4) About Your Sweetheart?
(Leo) Born July 23 to August 22 inclusive. CHARACTERISTICS—Fine, orderly mind, inclining to independence of thought; active and aspiring; fond of music, literature and art; affectionate and sympathetic; adaptable to almost any condition in life.
(Gemini) Born May 21 to June 21 inclusive. CHARACTERISTICS—Belongs to the realm of art and education; lover of knowledge in all departments; vivacious and active; capable of high attainments; a strong will, with high aspirations and ambitions.
YOUR BROKEN watch-glass can be replaced with an Unbreakable Crystal. If your watchmaker fails to repair your watch and make it RELIABLE let us do it for you. Our watchmakers are competent to put in thorough order Ladies' tiny Swiss and American watches. Also to repair and adjust Gentlemen's high-grade watches to heat, cold and position. Customers who cannot call send watches by registered mail for estimate. When you want to buy a dependable watch see WILSON BROS. ONE PRICE TO ALL.

QUICK! STOP FALLING HAIR!
35-cent "Danderine" will Save Any Man or Woman's Hair—Delightful Tonic—See Dandruff Go!
Quick! Don't wait! Every bald head started with just a few falling hairs and a little dandruff—but soon the hair appeared thin, scraggly, and then the dreaded bald spot. It seems a sin to let hair fall out or tolerate destructive dandruff when you can quickly correct all such hair trouble with a bottle of delightful Danderine.
Millions know the magic of Danderine; how it corrects oily, dandruffy, itching scalps and helps the hair to grow long, thick, strong and luxuriant. Danderine is not sticky or greasy. It is the largest selling hair corrective and tonic in the world because it is not a humbug! Get a bottle at any drugstore.

COLDS
"Pape's Cold Compound" Breaks a Cold in Few Hours
Every druggist here guarantees each package of "Pape's Cold Compound" to break up any cold and end grippe misery in a few hours or money refunded. Stuffiness, pain, headache, fever, sneezing, inflamed or congested nose and head relieved with first dose. These safe, pleasant tablets cost only a few cents and millions now take them instead of sickening quinine.

"NOT VERY WELL TODAY"
How often do you hear this plaint from people who look the picture of health? Yet this vague feeling may be a message of real danger. Don't neglect it.
In most cases it is noticed that the kidneys are not eliminating the poisons from the body. They need help. Take Lathrop's Gold Medal haarlem oil capsules (the original and genuine) regularly and that "Not Very Well" feeling will be a thing of the past. A standard remedy since 1696. Fully guaranteed to be as represented.
LATHROP'S GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES
Look for the name Gold Medal on the blue and gold box. Accept no substitute. All first class druggists, $1.25.

After the day's driving work—
How much will you enjoy the hours that are your own?

YOUR job will always take your freshest hours—the hours when you're really "fit." How much energy does it leave you for the time that comes after?

Crowded rush-hour cars, eight or nine hours of grinding work, on your feet a lot—each day these exhausting drains are put upon your energy. And remember this—you start out each day with a certain fixed amount—and no more!

Yet many people today waste a large part of this energy needlessly.

Standing or walking on hard heels—this is one of the most useless ways of wasting it!

"Yes, but I wear rubber heels!"

That is what 8 out of 10 men will answer today.

Twenty-five years ago a man discovered this idea by accident. Working constantly on his feet all day he used to find himself each night with no energy left—and a backache in the bargain.

One day instead of standing on the hard floor he stood on a rubber mat. The effect astonished him. He felt better that night than he had in weeks. Next day he cut two pieces of rubber from the mat and fastened them to the heels of his shoes.

And that was the beginning of the idea that resulted in O'Sullivan's Heels!

Look at your heels!

Like all good things, O'Sullivan's Heels have been widely imitated.

Are yours O'Sullivan's?

If they're not—ask your repairman for O'Sullivan's next time! O'Sullivan's usually cost you no more than ordinary rubber heels—

But notice the difference at the end of each day! See how much freer you are from tiredness and strain.

You'll understand then why millions of men and women today don't just "wear rubber heels"—they insist on O'Sullivan's!

This diagram shows how the average man's energy falls. Do you go down too far each day toward exhaustion?

O'Sullivan's Heels
Absorb the shocks that tire you out

For men, women and children—a special O'Sullivan Heel for every type of shoe.

Your energy is limited—don't waste it

TWO COMPLETE NEWS SECTIONS, TWO FIRST PAGE TWO FICTION PAGES, 14 AND 15, TWO PAGES OF PICTURES, AND COMICS, 12 AND 13

FIRST WITH THE LATEST
Only Boston paper with full leased wires of International, Universal, Cosmopolitan and Associated Press News Services

BOSTON AMERICAN
LARGE EVENING CIRCULATION IN NEW ENGLAND

2ND SECTION—HOME NEWS
More Pictures, Comics, Fiction and Features than any other Boston Newspaper

THIS PAPER IS NOT COMPLETE WITHOUT THE FIRST SECTION—GET BOTH.

CHARGE HUB SKIPPER REFUSED TO AID WRECKED SHIP

Girl Keeps Suitor's Ring, Weds His Rival

SUIT FILED BY JILTED SWAIN

"Try and Get It!" Naively Replies Roxbury Girl to Everett Ex-Wooer

William Everett McNaughton of Parker street, Everett, thought he had reached the irreducible minimum in hard luck when the girl he was engaged to broke the engagement and wouldn't return the $400 diamond ring he had given her.

But he discovered there was still worse in store.

When he got his lawyer to file a bill in equity for the ring, he learned the girl had been married to another man.

EVEN GOT LICENSE.

McNaughton told a reporter for the Boston American that he had even got a marriage license before he heard of his sweetheart's defection.

The girl, who was Miss Katherine Lang, of No. 63 Dewey street, Roxbury, and who is now said by McNaughton to be Mrs. Carl Lindberg, twists the ring on her finger and says nothing—to reporters. But to McNaughton, when he asks her for the ring, she remarks:

"Oh, the ring. Try and get it. I'll never give it back."

This, at least, is what the rejected suitor says she says.

BECAME ENGAGED.

Back in August, 1919, says McNaughton, he became engaged to Miss Lang. Shortly afterward he gave her a ring. This ring, it seems, was set with six small diamonds, in platinum, grouped about a large diamond in the centre. It was engraved with their initials and the date.

Everything went well for two years, says McNaughton. Then, last year, someone got Miss Lang a position in the firm where Lindberg, who lives at No. 1055 Massachusetts avenue, Arlington, was employed.

"Right there was where the trouble began," says McNaughton. "We didn't get along so well. Finally her father told me he didn't want us to go together any longer."

When McNaughton refused to heed the parental injunction, he adds, her father abruptly ordered the engagement broken, and forbade further meetings. So, in February of this year, the engagement was broken. Not long after this, says McNaughton, her engagement to Lindberg was announced.

GIRL WEDS DESPITE PLEA OF MOTHER

Providence, Oct. 11.—When Teresa D'Ambra, accompanied by her fiance, Raffaelo Cianciarulo, appeared at City Hall to obtain a marriage license she found her mother and two sisters awaiting her for the purpose of opposing the marriage.

Policemen managed to get the couple out of the room and they were taken to the Superior Court where Judge Tanner presided at the wedding ceremony. The young woman said her relatives had locked her up for several days in an effort to prevent her marriage to Cianciarulo.

CLAIM IMMUNITY FROM STATE TAX

Federal Judge Anderson today gave a final hearing on the bill brought by Bradford and Maxwell Norman of Newport, R. I., trustees under the will of George H. Norman, to restrain Henry F. Long, Commissioner of Corporations and Taxation, from assessing them under the State income tax law. They contend their domicile of origin is Newport, and that they are not subject to the Massachusetts income tax.

GETS DIVORCE BUT NOT HER MAIDEN NAME

MRS. LEONA GAUCHER

Married 17 years ago, her husband did not like the friends she cultivated. They quarreled. He threw a cup at her. Finally he deserted her three years ago. He was not on hand to contest the suit so she got the divorce she asked for. She says he was jealous because she made more money than he did.

KILLS HUNTING PAL IN WOODS OF MAINE

Houlton, Me., Oct. 11.—Another fatality of the hunting season became known today with the arrest of Charles A. Hoak of Harrisburg, Pa., for the accidental shooting of Dr. Lee M. B. Maynard of Philadelphia, in the woods near Squaw Fan Lake.

Hoak waved examination on a charge of negligence and was held in bail for appearance at the next term of court.

Both men were members of a hunting party of Pennsylvanians. Hoak, who had seen one deer, mistook Dr. Maynard for another animal and fired. The bullet struck the physician in the neck, causing instant death.

Maynard leaves a wife and one daughter in Philadelphia and was about forty-three years of age. Hoak is about the same age.

SAYS HUBBY WAS JEALOUS OF HER SALARY

Mrs. Leona Gaucher, from Lower Canada, now of Brookline, had ambition when she married Wilfred Gaucher, 17 years ago.

She wished to improve herself, to speak good English, to get up in the world. But Wilfred had no sympathy with that, so she told Judge Fox in the divorce session of Suffolk Superior Court today.

He was jealous because at the time they married she was making more money than he was. He did not like the friends she cultivated. So there were quarrels. Once he threw a cup at her. Finally, she said, Wilfred deserted her three years ago.

Wilfred was not on hand to contest the case. Mrs. Gaucher received a decree nisi on the desertion charge, but was denied the right to resume her maiden name.

Indianapolis Stills Fireproof

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 11.—All stills must be in fireproof buildings and outside the "mile square"—the city's commercial district," Mayor Lewis Shank issued this order today in line with the city's promotion of fire prevention week.

HOLIDAY FETE ON COMMON

Beautiful Outdoor Pageant Will Feature Program Arranged Here for Tomorrow

This year's Columbus Day exercises will be the most elaborate and picturesque even seen in Boston.

Representatives of 21 countries will participate in a patriotic pageant, the Pan-American Festival, to be conducted from the Parkman bandstand. Appropriate exercises, with W. Bourke Cockran of New York city the principal speaker; the sunset military spectacle on the Common parade ground, and a municipal athletic meet comprise the main part of the city program.

The general program follows:

10 A. M.—Municipal athletic meet, Charlesbank. Events for registered amateurs. Tennis and handball.

2 P. M.—Columbus Pan-American Festival, Parkman Memorial Bandstand, Boston Common.

A—Entrance of the People of the World: racial groups with flags representing the various lands of the world.

B—Arrival of Christopher Columbus.

C—Columbus reviews the world's peoples. Accompanying music, "March of the Pan-Americans," Sousa. Singing of "America" by assembly.

D—Our own State and city. Special honors to the flag of Massachusetts and Boston, each with a color guard. Mass singing of State and city songs.

E—Address by W. Bourke Cockran, introduced by Mayor Curley.

F—Brazilian overture by band in honor of anniversary of the independence of Brazil.

G—Growth of the Stars and Stripes. A pageant illustrating the successive steps in the development of the flag, participated in by 100 in costume.

H—Singing of "Star Spangled Banner" by assembly.

5 to 5:30 P. M.—Sunset ceremony on athletic field, Boston Common. Military ceremony of evening colors, and a review to the diplomatic representatives of foreign countries stationed in Boston. Military band of 40 pieces.

The committee in charge of the municipal exercises is headed by J. Philip O'Connell, director of public celebrations, and includes Frank C. Brown, John B. Archibald, William H. Cuddy, Merle R. Griffith, W. Carroll Hill, James H. Phelan, John J. Keenan, Louis Watson and Judge Frank Leveroni.

Brigadier-General John H. Dunn is chief marshal of the parade and John H. Wallace chief of staff.

STURTEVANT IS NAMED JUDGE

Malcolm E. Sturtevant of Somerville was appointed judge of the Somerville district court today by Governor Cox. He succeeds the late Judge L. Roger Wentworth.

Judge Sturtevant was born in Somerville forty-four years ago. He was educated at Tufts College and Harvard Law School. He was chairman of the first Planning Board of Somerville and in 1918 was appointed a special justice of the district court by Governor McCall.

HEADLIGHT VIOLATORS WARNED

Unless Autoists Comply With Law Licenses Will Be Revoked, Goodwin Says

Failure on the part of any motorist to equip his car with headlights as prescribed by law will mean the revocation of license and registration plates, according to a letter written today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin to Police Commissioner Herbert A. Wilson.

The registrar writes:

"Last night, according to press reports, the life of a little boy was crushed out in Somerville by a truck which was not equipped according to law with headlights that would enable the driver to see persons on the highway at a sufficient distance ahead to enable him to stop.

"This is typical of what we must expect unless immediate action is taken to compel owners of motor vehicles to equip their cars properly with headlights.

"There are still thousands of owners in this State who are more interested in saving dollars than they are in safeguarding life. You can clean up the situation in a very short time if you will direct your men to take the number of every car not properly equipped with head lamps and send the numbers to me at once.

"It is useless to take the violators to court. The best remedy is to take away the registration and plates, which I shall do on your presenting the numbers."

URGES CHANGES IN ELECTION LAWS

In an attempt to destroy some of the injustices which result from the election laws, M. A. O'Brien, Jr., of Dorchester today filed with the House clerk a bill for the creation of a special commission to consider the following propositions:

That the State pay the campaign expenses of candidates for office, including the cost of advertising, in order that all nominees may have the same opportunity to get their issues before the voters.

That the polling hours be uniform throughout the State, the polls to be open from noon until 9 p. m.

That the State consider a new system by which the primaries and conventions may be combined.

WOMAN AND BOY BITTEN BY DOG

Two persons were bitten by dogs in Lexington today. Mrs. Frances Famolaire, one of the victims, is a resident of Arlington Heights, near Lexington town line. She was treated by Dr. Margaret M. Sanford for bites on the arms and legs. James Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Smith of Franklin road, was bitten on the finger. He was treated by Dr. Fred S. Piper.

BOATSWAIN TRIED AFTER LIQUOR RAID

Benjamin B. Johnson, boatswain on the navy tug Mohave, was summoned before a court martial at the Charlestown Navy Yard today, charged with unbecoming conduct. It is charged he was on board the Lorena when it was raided off Newburyport July 11 and a quantity of liquor confiscated. He pleaded not guilty.

Whisper Testimony in Divorce Court

Evidence of 3 Wives Is Kept From Ears of Curious Spectators

SMILES WHEN MARITAL YOKE IS LIFTED

Evidence of the grounds for the divorces of these three women was whispered to Judge Fox in the Suffolk County Divorce Court. Left to right they are: Mrs. Edith F. Forbes of Cambridge, an artist, smiling as she leaves with the right to her maiden name; Mrs. Freda Porter, another artist, whose husband refused to have children, and Mrs. Doris M. Neall.

JUDGE UPHOLDS HUSBAND'S BAN ON OFFSPRING

The Superior Court session before Judge Fox assumed the nature of star chamber proceedings, testimony in three cases being given in whispers inaudible in the courtroom, to a great extent.

The first of these cases, all of which were uncontested, was that of Doris M. Neall against Daniel L. Neall. Mrs. Neall, coached by her counsel, breathed her story into the ear of Judge Fox, whose comments and decision were inaudible in the courtroom.

Edith F. Forbes of Cambridge then related sotto voice her matrimonial troubles with John C. Forbes.

The husband, who was wounded twice in the World War, was convicted of highway robbery and larceny, according to his wife. Mrs. Forbes, who is an artist, was granted a divorce and permission to resume her maiden name.

Then came Freda Porter who sought a divorce from Hiram Porter on the grounds of cruelty and neglect to provide. After Mrs. Porter had whispered to Judge Fox at length, the court announced that the refusal to have children could not be construed as cruelty.

He said there was a difference of opinion over children. The wife wanted little ones but Porter was opposed to them.

GETS 60 DAYS AFTER MOONSHINE RAID

Methuen, Oct. 11.—Samuel Remay was sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $100 today after police had raided a house belonging to Remay at No. 41 Orchard street. Three 150-gallon stills, 50 gallons of liquor, 100 barrels of mash and a large quantity of other materials for the manufacture of moonshine were confiscated.

MARIE BRAGG TO BECOME BRIDE OF F. B. HICKS

One of the notable Fall weddings among the young society set will take place Wednesday evening, October 26, in the Church of Our Saviour, Brookline, when Miss Marie Bragg of No. 20, Beacon street will become the bride of Frederick B. Hicks of Boston.

Miss Bragg is the daughter of Mrs. Alonzo Bragg. The groom is a World War veteran and served overseas for eighteen months. The bride will be attended by Miss Ethel Morse. Willard Hicks, a brother of the groom, will be best man.

Because of the serious illness of the bride's mother only immediate relatives of the family will be present at the ceremony.

CASE OF MRS. MEALEY IS AGAIN CONTINUED

Mrs. Catherine J. Mealey appeared in Brookline court today on a continuance. She was charged with intent to kill her husband, Frank H. Mealey, war veteran and former policeman, last Saturday at the home where Mrs. Mealey is employed, at No. 124 Babcock street, Brookline. The case was continued again until October 20. Mealey is still on the danger list at the Pete Bent Brigham Hospital. Mrs. Mealey has obtained bail of $10,000.

GETS DIVORCE FROM 24-HOUR HUSBAND

He promised to love, honor and protect until death did them part, but after twenty-four hours he was seen no more. Thus, stating her case before Judge Fox in Suffolk Divorce Court today, did Mrs. Olivia M. White secure a divorce from Maxwell White.

They were married in 1917. On the day of their marriage Maxwell left for the war. He returned in April, 1919, spent one night at home and disappeared.

IGNORED DISTRESS SIGNALS, SAY CREW

Captain Rosamond Alleged to Have Left Barkentine to the Mercy of Gale Off Banks

An American skipper, Capt. W. E. Rosamond of the U. S. Shipping Board steamship Nocealula, was accused by members of his crew today of deliberate abandonment of a barkentine in distress in a Grand Banks gale the night of Oct 1.

According to formal charges filed by some of the Nocealula's seamen Captain Rosamond said he "had no time to lie around there" and headed the Nocealula for Boston.

The charges were filed with the Board of U. S. Steamboat Inspectors in the Appraisers' Stores Building on Atlantic avenue.

Captain Rosamond's side of the story is yet to be heard. He will be summoned before the board.

The Nocealula arrived at quarantine last Saturday with coal from Glasgow. Owing to congestion at coal piers in the upper harbor the steamship had been unable to get an unloading berth yet.

SAW DISTRESS SIGNALS.

Steamship officers along the waterfront, commenting on the case today, said that maybe all the barkentine wanted was her maritime position, in which case Captain Rosamond was justified in not remaining alongside all night in a gale.

Able Seaman Olaf Olsen spoke for the complainants, his companions signing the statement he made. Olsen said he was on watch the night of October 1 400 miles southeast of St. Johns, N. F., on the southern edge of the Grand Banks, graveyard of many vessels.

He sighted this barkentine showing a flare which he took to be a signal of distress. He told the third mate, who went below to the captain. On returning to deck the third mate changed the Nocealula's courses to circle around the barkentine two or three times.

NO REPORT OF WRECK.

The barkentine was laboring in heavy gale and high seas with only two storm try-sails set. As the Nocealula approached the struggling square-rigger fired three guns, evidently to attract attention. Some of the Nocealula's crew waved torches. The Nocealula went close enough for her men to hear cries from the barkentine, but not to distinguish words.

One man on the Nocealula thought he made out the cry "Magdalene" as the name of the barkentine.

After this circling of the barkentine Captain Rosamond, with the remark alleged above, put the Nocealula back on her course and headed for Boston.

Among the complainants with Olsen were Quartermaster Nicholas Weston, who was at the wheel at that time, and John Carlson, able seaman, who was on deck.

No report of a barkentine being wrecked on the Grand Banks that night has been received yet.

ASHAMED, WIFE OF JAP OFFICER DIES

Tokio, Oct. 11.—The wife of Major Hara, a Japanese army office, who is to be court-martialed in connection with the disappearance of Czecho-Slovak arms in Vladivostok, committed suicide today by drowning. She leaped from the steamer Husan. She left a note in which she stated, "I am dying because I am ashamed of the arms affair in which my husband is involved."

WAITER A LITTLE BIRD TOLD ME THIS COFFEE WAS NOT STRAINED — "ROXBURY ORDER OF WHIGS"

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

- A LITTLE BIRD SIR? - YES, A SWALLOW

BROWN'S VETERAN ELEVEN GETS BIG TEST AGAINST ORANGE

BOTH TEAMS RATED AS TITLE CONTENDERS

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Chick Meehan, coach of Syracuse, will start throwing his Orangemen at the Brown bear Saturday afternoon. That pastime, which is scheduled for Andrews Field, Providence, and the Jones Brothers' intersectional act, "Yale versus Iowa," at the Yale Bowl, stick out as the two feature numbers of New England's week-end grid program, and while the latter undoubtedly will attract the greatest attention, the former will not be without interest to football fandom.

For one thing it will reveal what effect Brown (Reggie) has had upon Brown (University).

Brown (Reggie) was something to be reckoned with when he scouted for, and coached the Crimson teams under Percy Haughton. Brown (University) usually has been something to be reckoned with in the game of football. Consequently one naturally would suppose Brown (University) aided by Brown (Reggie) would develop such an indelibly Brown tone that it could mix with anything and still come forth a very positive Brown.

But such year since 1916 the Brown bear has been badly splattered with Orange—buried under them on several occasions—and whether he can stem the citrus avalanche on Saturday remains to be seen.

Both Teams Boast Many Veterans.

Brown and Syracuse are two of the few Eastern college elevens which retain the majority of their veteran players of last season. The Bruins can gridiron a team and a full quota of substitutes who have enjoyed one or more seasons under the guidance of Ed Robinson, the Brown head coach, and Syracuse is in much the same position. And the material in each case is very sizable. Syracuse can introduce no less than six linemen whose average weight is well over 200 pounds. Van Blarcom, at tackle from Culver Academy, who jiggled the old beam at 221, is the most colossal of the collection; Vincett, a 211-pound guard from Worcester Academy; Reinhart, 203 pounds; Starobin, 202 pounds; Shemin, 200 pounds, and Appe, 195 pounds, complete the list of behemoths whom Chancellor Day is endeavoring to instruct in the classics and Chick Meehan ditto in the game of football.

But in Captain "Mike" Gullan, Barrett, Spellman, McDermott and Mikey the Brains possess a group of stalwart young men who, if the occasion deshanded, could out-stevedore East Boston's best cargo jugglers.

Brown May Break Up Winning Streak.

Not having seen either team in action this season we are not in the best possible position to predict the outcome of this game, but things material being as they seem from a more or less distant distance we are rather inclined to the opinion Brown will break the Syracuse spell.

The factor that influences this timid prediction is the record of Syracuse teams against tough opposition. Against easy foes Syracuse teams of the past have looked like that famous million dollar team we so often refer to, and against strong opposition they have looked well on many occasions, but usually only when a very favorable break or a series of such favorable breaks have come Syracuse's way. If the other team grabs an early advantage or the favor of fortune, Syracuse is, or has been, a beaten team. This was so two seasons ago, when Holy Cross achieved a 3 to 0 triumph over the Orange, and it has been so on numberless other occasions. The comeback spirit has served a foreign quality to Salt City teams.

No one can rightfully accuse Brown of a lack in that quality. Brown teams are never licked until the last whistle finds the score balanced in favor of the other feller, for Coach "Robbie" is a bearcat for developing spirit, and when spirit is combined with very sound football it makes a tough combination to down.

Bruin's Line Charges Sweet and Low

"Robbie's" defensive line charge reminds one of the "wyndes o'er the Western seas." It's so sweet and low. And he teaches that kind of deserting offensive—plenty of interference for the runner on off-tackle and wing charges; the unexpected application of unexpected power on plays through the line, and reasonably good forward passing, and he insists that his backs, when they are tackled, get in the final forward plunge which means an extra yard or two before they flop on the greensward.

Thus, if the Brown eleven has learned all the lessons "Robbie" teaches, it is quite apt to start its rather lengthy series of tough contests with a victory. That tough series includes games with Syracuse, Lehigh, Yale, Harvard and Dartmouth, with only B. U. and Bates breaking up the monotony of hard encounters between now and the end of the season.

May Shift Hills to the Tiger Backfield.

It would come as no surprise to many athletic followers if Coach Bill Roper of Princeton moved Ralph Hills from the line to a backfield berth. Hills, who, as an eighteen-year-old schoolboy won a place on the American Olympic team three Summers ago, weighs nearly 200 pounds and is remarkably fast on his feet, as was evidenced by his work as a freshman hurdler last Spring, and since his advent to varsity football at Princeton he has proved a remarkable punter and dropkicker.

Roper already has shifted Snively, varsity end last year, to a guard position and has moved Baker from guard to the tackle position Hills has been occupying.

Harvard Regulars Will Get Off Easily Saturday.

Few Harvard regulars are likely to remain in the game against Bowdoin Saturday after the first period and it is possible several of the first string Crimsonites will see no service whatever this week. Owen is one who will get a rest, and Dunker is another who may get off easy. The latter took considerable punishment while playing his sterling game against Holy Cross, and certainly earned a let-up.

Fordham Shifts Four in Preparing for B. C.

New faces will occupy four of the eleven positions in the Fordham lineup that faces B. C. tomorrow afternoon at Braves Field. McGeough, a substitute, has been nominated first string quarterback; Weermer, another second stringer, has been moved to a first string halfback post, and Ryan has been shifted from tackle to guard while Smead has been switched from guard to tackle.

Return of Green Cripples Pleases Dartmouth Rooters

Just what is to be the regular lineup of the Dartmouth eleven this season may be revealed in Saturday's meeting of the Green and Middlebury, for word from Hanover tells us the Dartmouth cripples with but one exception are back on deck and rarin' to go.

To date there has been considerable moaning in the New Hampshire sector as the hospital list ran into two figures, but with Captain Chuck Burko, Eddie Lynch, Larry Dewitt, Ozzie Seigfried and a few others of proved ability returning to duty Green smiles are in order.

PLENTY OF TENNIS ON TAP AT CONCORD

There will be plenty of tennis in Concord on Columbus Day. The Concord Country Club will play the Framingham Country Club, each club to be represented by four men and four women. Men's singles and doubles and women singles and doubles and mixed doubles will be played.

The Concord Tennis Club will play the Middlesex School faculty in singles and doubles matches.

Maidlen in the doubles division of the town tournament are listed for Thursday.

U. S. Tax Receipts From World Series Games $60,457

New York, Oct. 11.—Federal taxes on the five World's Series baseball games amounted to $60,347.50, Collector Frank K. Bowers announced here.

His report contained a detail statement of the attendance and receipts at each of the five games, and gave the total seating capacity at the Polo Grounds as 58,514, divided as follows: box seats, 1,454; grand stand seats, 16,866; reserve seats, 8,494; general admission or bleacher seats, 12,000.

On October 5 and 6, 1,186 fans paid $3.30 each for standing room. The total attendance for the five games was 183,947.

Why Have Wings When One Can Fly Like This? A Bird of a Flying Fullback

Remarkable photograph of "Ty" Rauber, captain and full back of the Central High School team of Washington, D. C., in the act of spoiling what otherwise might have been a perfect tackle on the part of Gene Casey, star tackle. The photo shows Rauber just as he eluded the tackle's grasp.

KARR OUT TO HAND MALONE TROUNCING

"And don't forget," said Alex McLean of the Armory Club, "to say something about Johnny Karr and Jock Malone."

And so we chronicle the fact that these famous welterweights are ready for their ten-round bout which will be staged by the Triple A at Mechanics Building, Friday night.

Karr has two distinguished service stars. He gained the first one when he walloped Jock Malone in a no-decision match. He gathered in the second when he won over the same Malone in a battle to a decision.

Will he annex his third star Friday night? A rather difficult question. Malone has always done good work in Boston rings. You may recall he has pasted Pansma, Joe Gans, Pat Walsh, Augie Ratner, Lou Bogash, Pal Reed and Mickey Walker in contests in this city.

'Tis said that Karr and Malone will arrive in town tonight.

Anyhow we have written something about the rival warriors.

We hope Alex is satisfied.

SCOTTY WELSH ON TRAIL OF LEAHY

Moe Levy, a newsboy who saw front line service during the war, ushered Scotty Welsh into the sporting department today. Remember Scotty? He comes from Roxbury and used to battle our local lightweights a few years ago.

Scotty Welsh

Among other things he stopped Tommy Leahy in three rounds at Worcester. Scotty then entered the Navy and has won all kinds of fistic honors while serving your Uncle Samuel. Welsh is soon to get his honorable discharge from the navy and will then be willing to try conclusions with any of our lightweights. Leahy will do as a starter.

HARVARD COACH SENDS MORE TO 'SECONDS'

Harvard's varsity football ranks are slowly thinning. Coach Fisher sent two of his 45 battlers back to the second line of defence, Wagner, the heaviest man on the do guard duty to Jimmy Knox's company, while in the next berth he will be kept company by R. S. Hubbard, also deposed.

Fisher's Fall football formulae are slowly but surely showing results on the individuals of the team. Piece by piece he arranges and rearranges the pattern of his football puzzle which will not be completed entirely until the last whistle of the Yale clash.

Two more pieces were replaced yesterday. Dan Holder was shifted from tackle to end, and Post from centre to guard. Holder is fast and too light for the centre of the line, while Post is erratic at centre, but has enough fight in him to guarantee being on the Harvard frontier somewhere.

Harvard's backfield, made up of Chapin, Churchill and Coburn piloted by Jimmy Lee, sailed right into their assignments of the afternoon in the cage practice with a crew of swarthy linemen.

Kernan at centre despite his 166 pounds pleased the powers-that-be at Harvard in the Holy Cross clash and is still pivot man.

Heinie Dunker in the right tackle berth is endeavoring to peep from the peeper that was temporarily closed by the Worcester collegians.

Anthony, Hobson and Holder are wearing smiles of victory although they did not play last Saturday. They fooled the "profs" last week, however, and are entitled to wear their victory grins until Fisher's hard work wears them off.

Owen, Kuhnardt, Hammond, Jenkins and Clark are in Dr. Richards' clutches, but slowly his fingers are relaxing and will soon drop all except Percy Jenkins. Jenkins was hurt in the Middlebury game and it will take a week longer for him to persuade the doctor that he is capable of doing the stuff.

As for the Bowdoin game Saturday, it is probable that very few of the first-string men will be called upon, for Centre College chatterings are becoming ominous and it is advisable to save the "400" to turn back the Bluegrass invaders.

Owen and Gehrke probably will not put in an appearance. Although Eddie Clark will be able to take over the centre job from Kernan, a week more for his injury to mend would not hurt the plan of things at the Stadium a bit.

Flynn Will Fight Sears

Irish Paddy Flynn, of Everett, will fight Al Sears, of East Boston, in the main bout of ten rounds at Lexum Hall, Woburn, on October 23. Matchmaker Jack Holland of the Lyceum A. C. made the match and will promote the bout.

WORKMAN BACK IN OHIO LINE-UP

Columbus, O., Oct. 11.—The return to eligibility of "Hoge" Workman, All - American quarterback two years ago, has added a rosy tint to the football outlook of the Ohio State football team. "Hoge" is the greatest forward passer ever to perform for Ohio in the cage practice with a crew of yearly linemen.

"Hoge" Workman.

Workman's backfield, made up of Chapin, Churchill and Coburn piloted by Jimmy Lee, sailed right into their assignments of the afternoon in the cage practice with a crew of swarthy linemen.

Kernan at centre despite his 166 pounds pleased the powers-that-be at Harvard in the Holy Cross clash and is still pivot man.

Heinie Dunker in the right tackle berth is endeavoring to peep from the peeper that was temporarily closed by the Worcester collegians.

Anthony, Hobson and Holder are wearing smiles of victory although they did not play last Saturday. They fooled the "profs" last week, however, and are entitled to wear their victory grins until Fisher's hard work wears them off.

Owen, Kuhnardt, Hammond, Jenkins and Clark are in Dr. Richards' clutches, but slowly his fingers are relaxing and will soon drop all except Percy Jenkins. Jenkins was hurt in the Middlebury game and it will take a week longer for him to persuade the doctor that he is capable of doing the stuff.

As for the Bowdoin game Saturday, it is probable that very few of the first-string men will be called upon, for Centre College chatterings are becoming ominous and it is advisable to save the "400" to turn back the Bluegrass invaders.

Owen and Gehrke probably will not put in an appearance. Although Eddie Clark will be able to take over the centre job from Kernan, a week more for his injury to mend would not hurt the plan of things at the Stadium a bit.

DARTMOUTH NINE TO PLAY PENNSYLVANIA

Hanover, N. H., Oct. 11.—Dartmouth and Pennsylvania baseball teams will meet in Atlanta next Spring for a two game baseball series, according to an announcement by Graduate Manager Horace G. Pender.

Joseph T. Gilman, '05, of Boston, was elected president of the Dartmouth Athletic Council, succeeding Joseph W. Gannon, '20, of New York, who resigned last Spring. Gilman was an All-American guard while in college.

The Spring training trip of the ball team will open with Georgetown at Washington, or Navy at Annapolis, March 31. The whole Easter vacation will be spent in the South.

REFORMATORY BOYS TO PLAY BALL GAME

A baseball game between the prisoners' nine and the Concord Junction Union Club will be the feature of the Columbus Day celebration at Concord Reformatory. The prisoners will enjoy a special holiday dinner.

HAVERHILL TO BATTLE LYNN CLASSICAL

By FRED C. LANE.

"It's the best team that ever carried the colors of Lynn Classical," so says Coach Bill Joyce when questioned about the ability of this year's eleven. When Bill makes such a statement he generally has good reasons, for he has coached football teams at Lynn for ten years.

Bill Joyce.

Apparently Coach William Broderick and his Haverhill team, who will meet the Lynn school on Columbus Day at the Haverhill Stadium, are aware of this fact, to judge from the preparations made for the contest.

This year's Haverhill eleven is without the services of Arthur Fuselen, the sensational back, who raised havoc with all opposing lines. In Batchelder, however, the right halfback, Haverhill claims a player of equal ability and less apt to succumb to injury.

Horach and Legacy are in service at Haverhill and get their names in the headlines of every account coming from Haverhill.

The wing men on the Lynn Classical eleven have their work cut out for them to stop this quartet, but, if the word of Bill Joyce holds water, Blanchard and Phelan will do it.

Blanchard is a player of rare ability. He has proven his worth in former years, much to the sorrow of the Haverhill backfield.

100 TO 1 SHOT WINS CESAREWITCH STAKES

Newmarket, Eng., Oct. 11.—Captain Forester's Light Dragoon, at 100 to 1 against, won the Cesarewitch stakes handicap of 1,000 pounds with extras, run here today. A. DeRothschild's The Villager, at 40 to 1, was second and Sir A. Bailey's Cyclonese, at 10 to 1, was third.

SWIMMING MEET AT THE "Y" ON OCT. 18

The Boston Y. M. C. A. natatorium will hold an exhibition by the Boston Red Cross Swimming and Life Saving Corps on October 18. Five New England champions will participate.

HEAPHY OUT OF B. C. HOLIDAY LINEUP

Boston College and Fordham will clash tomorrow afternoon at Braves Field and give local football followers a chance to see a first-class battle on the holiday. As the game will be the only major contest in the city, a capacity crowd is expected to flock to the "home of big things."

Fordham has only four regulars on this season's eleven, but the new material has enabled Coach Gargan to build a team that is much stronger than that of last year. The Bronx boys played a fine game against Rutgers last Saturday, and although the line did not prove very strong, the backfield, headed by Captain Myers, showed a driving power that is sure to bother the Boston College line.

Besides a desire on the part of both teams to put across a decisive victory, since last year's game resulted in a scoreless tie, there will also enter into the game that spirit of rivalry existing among the four Jesuit colleges of the East. Fordham is the first of the four to meet Boston College, and the Eagle is anxious to at least be on top of the Catholic college list when the season closes.

Coach Cavanaugh had two poor days in which to strengthen his line. The condition of Alumni Field made scrimmage practice dangerous, and the coach had to drill in theory rather than in practice to whip his line into shape for tomorrow's contest.

The same team that started last Saturday for Boston College will probably take the field against Fordham. The weakness of the Maroon and Gold line against Boston University was because the guards and tackles did not follow instructions, rather than because of lack of material strength.

There is doubt that Jack Heaphy will be in condition to start at centre tomorrow. Jack has six stitches over his right eye, and was pretty well tied up in the B. U. game. He has not reported for practice for two days, and as he will be needed in the Detroit game a week from Saturday, Coach Cavanaugh may keep him out of the Fordham game.

If Heaphy does not play "Dyker" Doyle may go back to the pivot position, while McManus may step in at guard. Again, Doyle may be kept at guard, and "Tiger" Jack Reardon sent in to fill Heaphy's place.

Reardon is a pivot man of Heaphy's type, and can fill in at centre very well when called upon. This is Reardon's second year on the squad, and his work in past contests, with his experience, makes him the most probable choice.

Again in tomorrow's game the B. C. backfield will be relied upon to rip up the Fordham line as it did H. U.'s last week. Ward and Cronin know how to smash through, and their weight and speed make it hard for an opposing line to stop their attacks.

"Curley" Darling will start at quarter, and as he is in the pink of condition, he is expected to prove a jinx for Fordham.

TONY JULIAN NOW AFTER FRUZETTI

Jack Burns, Brockton manager of boxers, wants the world to know that Tony Julian is prepared to take a fall out of Jimmy Fruzetti.

Tony Julian

Be it known that Burns formerly piloted Fruzetti. The latter then broke with his manager and Billy Henderson purchased the contract. Burns is held with Fruzetti. The latter is New England light weight champion and he (or it) is known that he is prepared to battle all-comers.

Burns claims that Julian is a better fighter than Fruzetti and he would like to pit his new protege against the old.

FRANK TABER IS HYDE PARK STAR

In every high school there is one lad on the athletic roster who excels in every branch of sport. When one man holds Hyde Park High, the name of Frank Taber is the choice of everybody.

Frank Taber

Frank is one of Hyde Park's versatile athletes. He is captain of the football team and has proved himself an able leader. Coach Daly's boys are a heavy scoring machine and to Taber can be attributed this reputation.

Taber has been the leading point scorer on the Hyde Park track team. His favorite distance in over the 880-yard route.

FOUR CLUBS IN A BIG HOCKEY LEAGUE

An intercity hockey league among the leading athletic clubs of the East is a prospect this Winter. The Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn, New York A. C. and the Meadowbrook Club of Philadelphia may join with the B. A. A. in a four club combination. These clubs are eligible for membership in the United States Hockey Association. The New York A. C. introduced the Canadian game in this country twenty-six years ago. The Crescents up to seven years ago were represented by a cracking fine hockey team.

The new rink on 52nd street and Eighth avenue will provide the home surface for the New York teams.

YALE TO KEEP EYE ON WORK OF LOCKE

The play of one young man in the Iowa lineup will be watched closely by Eastern football followers when the Western Conference champions of 1920 encounter Yale at the Bowl Saturday afternoon. That young man is Gordon Locke, fullback on Howard Jones' team and selected for that position on the All Conference eleven last year. Locke weighs 185 pounds and is a splendid secondary defence player as well as an excellent man in open field running.

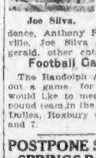

Gordon Locke.

Captain Jordan of Yale is a representative Eastern fullback and the direct comparison of the work of both of these players is sure to shed light on the East and Middle West compare in that position.

SCOTS IN BIG MEET COLUMBUS DAY

Billy Queal, holder of the world's four-mile record and American long distance champion, is the favorite to win the big three-mile professional event at the Scottish Clans' meet at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury, on Columbus Day. He will have a big field to run against on Thursday, which includes Charlie Hill of Providence, Anthony Ratkgeb of Somerville, Joe Silva and Jimmy Fitzgerald, other entries after Queal's

Joe Silva.

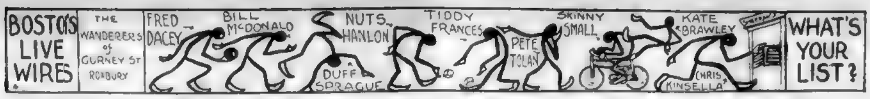

Football Game Wanted

The Randolph All-Stars are without a game for the holiday and would like to meet any 110 to 120-pound team in the State. Call Frank Dullea, Roxbury 4225-W, between 6 and 7.

POSTPONE STAFFORD SPRINGS RACE EVENTS

Hartford, Ct., Oct. 11.—There was no racing at the Stafford Springs Fair Ground yesterday. The track was a sea of mud. An attempt will be made to race off five events this afternoon, provided that track and weather conditions are favorable. The events will be 2:14, 2:17 and 2:20 trotting classes and 2:05, 2:14 and 2:17 events for pacers.

BOSTON AMERICAN

SPORTS

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF WRESTLERS ON BIG HOLIDAY CARD

ZBYSZKO AND LINOW TOP ALL-STAR BILL

By JACK CONWAY.

"Boston is today the greatest wrestling city in the United States."

This is a sentence from a letter written to this writer by Jack Herman, one of the world's leading wrestling promoters and managers.

John Grandovitch.

It is proper that Herman should be on hand when the first big show of the season is staged at the Boston Arena tomorrow night under the direction of the Old Howard management. There have been several small shows at the Grand Opera House, but the real opening will take place on the evening of the holiday.

Herman will be here to second Stanislaus Zbyszko, grand old man of the wrestling game. Although well past forty there are many persons who would back big Zibby to win over Strangler Lewis if these men were to clash again.

Zbyszko, former champion, has hopes of winning back his lost title. The fact that Lewis has avoided a return meeting with Zbyszko can only mean that the champion is not any too confident of his own ability to upset the giant Pole.

As usual Zbyszko is meeting one of the world's foremost mat men in the person of Ivan Linow. Zibby never picks on dead weed.

"Pit me against the best man available" is the way the Pole talks to the [illegible]. Matchmaker Paul Bowser therefore secured the services of Linow. The latter has clashed with all of the big fellows in the mat game and has usually acquitted himself with all kinds of glory.

Ivan Linow.

Linow plans to carry the battle to Zbyszko. He believes that by setting the pace he will be able to tire his opponent and thus pave the way for a decisive victory.

This match will be to a positive finish, best two falls out of three.

Greek Champion to Battle Grandovitch.

As if a bout between celebrated stars like Zbyszko and Linow would not be big enough to stand alone, Matchmaker Bowser has also put on another star event which will bring together George Kotsonaros, Greek light-heavyweight champion, and John Grandovitch.

Kotsonaros has proved a sensation in his Boston starts. He has won four straight bouts. Ivan Mihailoff was numbered among his victims.

The Greek champion has taken the place of Jimmy Londos as the popular idol of the local Greek colony. The Greeks are confident that Kotsonaros will be able to avenge the defeat of Londos by George Calza, Italian champion.

If Kotsonaros wins tomorrow night he probably will be pitted against Renato Gardini and in the event of defeating Gardini he will receive a match with the mighty Calza. A large number of Italian mat fans will journey to the Arena tomorrow night so as to get a line on Kotsonaros.

Grandovitch, though, is likely to [illegible] Kotsonaros from the wrestling free-for-all. Grandovitch has battled every wrestler in the country of prominence and has usually given a fine account of himself. He has an idea he will put the skids under the Greek idol.

There will be plenty of action in the prelim with John Perelli, Italian, will [illegible] battling with Frank [illegible]rich, Lithuanian star.

Siegal Will Do Better Against Bryan Downey

Nate Siegal will make a much better showing against Bryan Downey, Columbus middleweight, than he did in his tussles with the fast clever welterweights. Nate has put on considerable weight, which enables him to enter the ring stronger than he was in the custom of doing when trying to make low poundage. In the middleweight division Siegal will not encounter as many clever boxers as was the case when he was battling as a welterweight. Downey, for example, is one of those free swinging boys who can knock 'em dead with a right hand smash.

Jimmy Dunn boasts that Downey knocked out Wilson when they met at Columbus, Ohio. Siegal never backed away from a puncher in his entire career. As he will also be able to score against Downey, there should be plenty of thrilling moments in Monday night's quarrel.

Dave Shade Generous to Shevlin After Bout

There was not anything of the small town fighter about Dave Shade following his bout with Eddie Shevlin at the Arena.

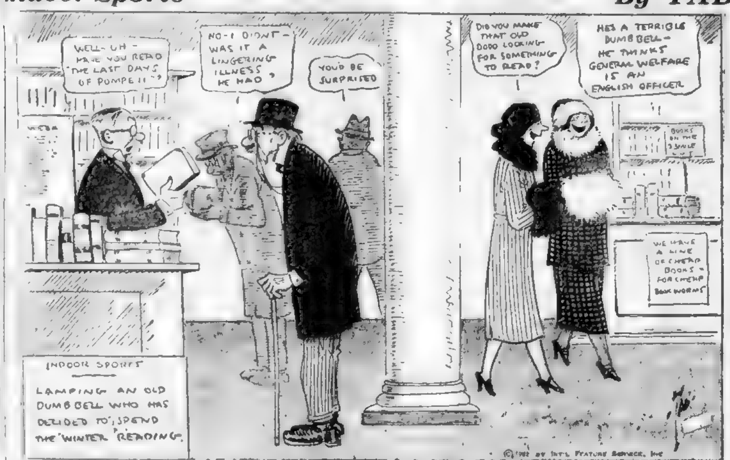

"Let me congratulate you, Eddie," he said when he met the Roxbury welterweight in the Arena Club's office after the battle. "I guess all the fans were satisfied with your victory, judging by the ovation you received. You certainly are a wonderful boxer. I hope we may meet again soon. I will then try a little bit harder to gain the award."

When asked his opinion of the bout Shade did not try to claim he had the margin, although this opinion was held by many keen judges of ring affairs. He gave Shevlin all the credit to which he was entitled for his great victory.

Indoor Sports

Copyright, 1922, by International Feature Service, Inc. Registered U. S. Patent Office

By TAD

JACK BRITTON WINS IN HAVANA BOUT

By Universal Service.

Havana, Oct. 11.—Jack Britton was given the decision over Jimmy Kelly, of the Bronx, in a twelve-round fight for the world's welterweight championship.

The fight, which was held in the Marina Stadium, promoted by the well known Cuban promoter, Sammy Tolon, was largely attended.

Britton weighed in at 149 pounds, while Kelly tipped the beam at 149½.

The fight was staged before a crowd of 12,000, which taxed the Stadium Marina, situated on the Malecon, Havana's famous boulevard, three hundred yards off the turquoise expanse of the Gulf of Mexico.

Britton opened Kelly's lip in the first round with a stiff left jab. Kelly tore after Britton with both hands, but was blocked.

Britton kept jabbing throughout the second, with Kelly boring with left swings. Both were warming up easily under the cloudy sky, which at times threatened to break forth into rain.

In close quarters, during the third round, Britton pummelled Kelly about the body. Kelly poked short, hard stabs to the head in one-two order, somewhat disconcerting the crafty champion.

Britton won the third with his right and left jabs to face and body punching with one arm free, doing little damage, however, to the sturdy Bronx boy.

After two minutes of jabbing and distance fighting in the fourth, Kelly caught Britton on the jaw with a vicious left swing, momentarily dazing the champion who immediately went into a clinch. Britton, however, won the round on his quick taps to the face.

Britton had all the better of the milling during the next four rounds, although Jimmy stepped inside occasionally to shoot a right jolt to the jaw. He took plenty of stiff straights in order to land. Kelly was bleeding freely from the cut lip but appeared to be gaining in strength with each round.

In the twelfth both boys exchanged rights and lefts at close range, with Kelly having the advantage during the early minutes.

His blows were more powerful than those of the champion. Britton jabbed with his left and went into clinches in order to keep the tough Bronx fighter away. During the last ten seconds they slugged toe to toe in Kelly's corner, Britton breaking ground after taking three hard swings to the head and left to the body.

Sammy Tolon, the Tex Rickard of Cuba, promoter of the fight, said that construction will begin immediately on the new stadium having a seating capacity of 28,000. It was said that this amphitheatre will be in readiness by January when Harry Greb is expected to defend his American light heavyweight title.

Promoter Tolon made an offer of a purse of $25,000 for a Benny Leonard-Pal Moran fight, to be staged at the Oriental Park race track during the early part of December. Tolon offered Leonard $15,000 and Moran $10,000.

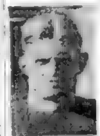

Lew Raymond, manager of Moran, now in Havana, has accepted on behalf of Moran. Tolon is now waiting for a reply from Billy Gibson, manager of Leonard.

Open Shoot Thursday

The Arlington Rifle Club will hold an open shoot, over its range, at the Munroe Farm, East Lexington, tomorrow.

GREEN STARS IN GREAT DEMAND AS PLAYERS

Young men who have served a football season or two at Dartmouth but who on account of scholastic failure or other causes have found it impossible to continue at Hanover seem to be in great demand at other institutions. The Virginia team this year has two Dartmouth freshman castoffs in Yan[illegible] and Eastern. Detroit University has another in Gus Sonnenberg.

"Swede" Eckberg.

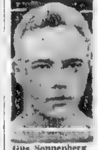

All-America tackle of two seasons ago. McDermott, playing guard for Brown University this Fall, is another, and Eckberg, a fast[illegible] star at West Virginia this Fall, is said to be none other than Swede Eckberg, whose play featured the Dartmouth games of two or three years ago.

Mack McDermott.

"Cutie" now Dr. C. W. Spears, coach of the West Virginia team and former Dartmouth lineman, was the discoverer of both Eckberg and McDermott, and an interesting yarn is told of his introduction to the present Brown guard.

It seems, according to the story, "Cutie" was wandering about the streets of Chicago late one evening when his attention was attracted to a rough and tumble fight. Several uncouth individuals had set upon a rather stalwart young man with the evident intention of doing him dirt." But the stalwart one seemed set against that sort of thing and with surprising swiftness pinned a K. O. on each of his assailants.

Gus Sonnenberg.

"Cutie," who had rushed over to help him out, inquired his name, and upon learning that and that he was a graduate of a Mid West prep school, talked Dartmouth to him so strongly that McDermott reported there the next Fall.

Billy Miske Is Favorite

New York, Oct. 11.—Billy Miske is a 3 to 5 choice in the betting to win over Tom Gibbons in their fifteen round bout Friday night in Madison Square Garden. Miske has shown fine form in workouts in the gym.

Fittons Play on Holiday

The Fitton A. C. football team of East Boston will play two games this week. On Thursday afternoon they will clash with the Abington Town Team at Abington. On Saturday they will go to Campbello, where they will play the Oso Club of [illegible]

NATIONAL SOCCER CUP PLAY WILL START

Soccer Games Tomorrow

NATIONAL CUP
FIRST ROUND
Maple Leaf vs. Charlestown, at Fore River Field, Quincy.
Holyoke, F. C. vs. Boston Blues, at Holyoke.
INTERNATIONAL GAME
Portugal vs. Sweden, at Sullivan square.
CLAN PICNIC
Five-a-side competition, Caledonian Grove.

By ART CURLEY.

Tomorrow will see the start of the great national challenge cup competition with four North[ern] Massachusetts teams competing in the first round. Three of the local teams will play their games on the road.

Vic Irvine.

Manager Vic Irvine will take his Charlestown team out to Quincy and try to force the Maple Leaf Club out of the national championship race, but if his forward line does not show more football than it did in the last two starts the Neck boys are doomed to defeat. Vic laid off last week to try out a young Armenian, but Vic, who is one of the fastest little men in the district, will be greatly needed to strengthen his forward line.

Charlestown also will have Duffus, Hogarth, Collins, White, Raney, Nelson, Brown, Marchant, McAlister and McCloskey out in uniform.

Both Jimmy and Jacky Lyons will be on tap to give Manager Bobby Lewis a helping hand against the Neck boys and their addition to the Maple Leaf lineup will strengthen the Quincy team. Although that team has failed to win many games this season, Lewis has rounded out a team of fast youngsters who will make any local team step.

Frank Dorman will take his Boston Blues to Holyoke for the other scheduled cup contest and hopes to return victorious. The Blues have been in a bad slump for the past few weeks through the loss of several of their best players, but Dorman is confident that what few stars he has left can give anything in Holyoke a good battle.

Sullivan square, the local soccer Mecca will be the scene of an epic international tilt between the Swedes and the Portuguese and habitues of the Neck playground may be assured, in advance, that they will witness a red hot tussle.

At Caledonian Grove a five-a-side competition has been arranged for the entertainment of the crowds that attend the annual Scotch Clans Picnic. Clubs entered are Fore River, Roxbury, St. Georges, Clan Sutherland and Clan Stewart. Other teams have been invited to make up for the loss of Charlestown, Maple Leaf and Boston Blues who have important games elsewhere.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE NAMED AT HARVARD

The governing boards of Harvard University have appointed the following men as members of the athletic committee, in charge of the regulation of sports.

Representing the faculty—L. B. R. Briggs, '75, dean of the faculty of arts and sciences, chairman; Chester N. Greenough, '98, dean of Harvard College; Dr. Roger I. Lee, '02, professor of hygiene.

Representing the graduates—Henry Pennypacker, '88, chairman of the committee on admission; B. Loring Young, '07, speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives; D. H. Eaton, '21, first marshal of his class during his senior year and now a student at the Medical School.

Representing the undergraduates—Charles C. Buell, '23, of Hartford, Ct., captain of the football team; George Owen, Jr., '23, of Newton, captain of the baseball and hockey teams, and John Gardiner Flint, '23, of Boston, president of the senior class.

The undergraduate members were selected by the captains and managers of the athletic teams and approved by the governing boards.

BRITISH GOLFERS LEAD AMERICANS

New York, Oct. 11.—George Duncan and Abe Mitchell, British golf professionals, led Jim Barnes and Walter Hagen, American pros, 4 up at the end of eighteen holes in the first half of their thirty-six-hole exhibition at the Pelham Country Club. The Britishers led practically from the start, and were 2 up at the end of nine holes.

Holiday Morning Game

The Union Club of Concord Junction will engage in the last game of the season with the Concord Reformatory nine at Concord on the holiday morning.

DOWNES IN GO WITH BOYLE

South Boston Johnny Downes, while acting as sparring partner for Eddie Shevlin for his contest with Dave Shade, rounded himself into first-class shape for his match with Finny Boyle, which takes place at Lowell tomorrow night. The contest was to be promoted in the afternoon, but a request of the Pere Marquette Council, K. of C., to have it in the evening, has been granted, as they have chartered a dozen trucks to make the journey over the road to root for their favorite.

Johnny Downes.

JOHNNY BROWN IN CONDITION AGAIN

Newport Johnny Brown is in condition once more, says Chick Hayes. Brown injured one of his hands in his recent bout with Freddy Williams at Lowell. The injured member is now walloping away on all cylinders which makes it look dark and gloomy for some of Brown's future opponents.

Johnny Brown

Brown was traveling on high up to the time he bumped into Kid Injury. Hayes says his protege will get going in the ring in a short time and that our noble 133-pounders will then be running to cover.

BARNEY McINTEE IN A DRAW AT NASHUA

Nashua, N. H., Oct. 11.—Barney McIntee of Revere, Mass., and Doddy O'Neil of Nashua went ten fast rounds to a draw at the meeting of the Gate City A. C. in the Nashua Theatre. In the semi-final, Young Kenyower of Derry and Bert Jones of Boston fought eight rounds to a draw.

Eddie Lane of Cleveland, O., knocked out Leo Taylor of Nashua in the fourth round of an eight-round number.

Young Gray of Nashua got the decision over Tommy Dalton of Boston in a six rounder.

Arlington Plays Woburn

Arlington High team will play its first Mystic Valley Interscholastic League game tomorrow with Woburn.

NORWOOD WILL PLAY PUTNAM TOMORROW

Norwood High will entertain Putnam High tomorrow morning at Norwood. Norwood showed its class by beating Boston College High. The teams will line up as follows:

Norwood—Dower, l. e.; MacDonough, l. t.; Harshis, l. g.; Thomas, c.; Nee, r. g.; Curran, r. t.; Allen, r. e.; Hammersley, q. b.; Flaherty and Stierdawis, halfbacks, and Foren, fullback.

Putnam—Morse, r. e.; Thayer, r. t., Wright, r. g., Harris, c.; Carpenter, l. g., Geissler, l. t.; McCoy, l. e.; Donovan, quarterback; Arnold and Maher, halfbacks, and Harrison, fullback.

I WILL BE OPEN ALL DAY COLUMBUS DAY

Perseverance Worsted Co.'s 16-17-oz. absolutely all-wool worsteds. No tailor or clothier in the country advertises Perseverance Worsteds to my knowledge under $40 for a suit of clothes. I am forcing early Fall business at prices lower than pre-war times. I want my old customers to get in on these heavyweight goods.

Suit to Order $17.75
IRRESPECTIVE OF SIZE

Pontoosic Plaid Back Coatings. No tailor or clothier advertises Plaid Back Coatings under $25-$30-$35. My price,

OVERCOAT TO ORDER $17.75
TO FORCE EARLY BUSINESS

Blue Melton Coatings
30 oz., absolutely all wool, made up according to Government specifications, and I don't care if you are as big as a whale, I will take your order for a Single Breasted, Fly Front Overcoat, imported velvet collar, to your measure.

$15.75 To Measure

Balance of Last Year's OVERCOATS as low as $8

Uncalled for SUITS as low as $8.00
Uncalled for TROUSERS as low as $1.75

MITCHELL THE TAILOR
279 WASHINGTON ST.
OPP. WATER ST. OPEN EVENINGS

THE THIMBLE THEATRE

Now Showing—"The Prettiest Girl in the Company."
To-morrow—"End of the First Reel."

THEN THE FUN BEGAN

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

HELPFUL HENRY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Kabibble Kabaret

Copyright 1922 International Feature Service Inc.—Registered U. S. Patent Office
BY HERSHFIELD

DEAR MR. KABIBBLE-
HOW MUCH SHOULD A HUSBAND EARN?
—FANNIE COHEN—
HOW MUCH CAN YOU SPEND?

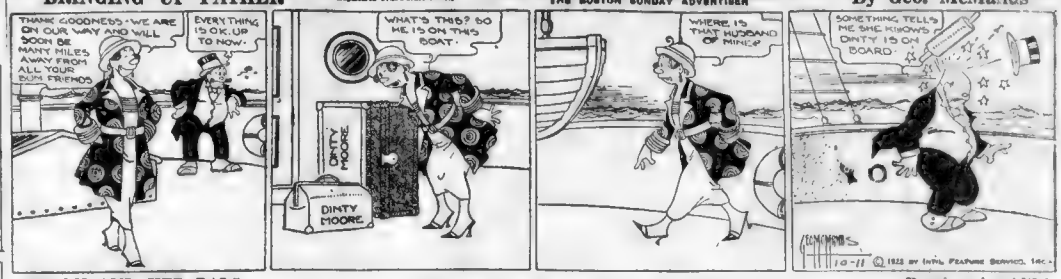

10-11

BRINGING UP FATHER

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

DAILY IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN AND IN COLORS IN THE BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER

By Geo. McManus

POLLY AND HER PALS

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Proving An Alibi

JERRY ON THE JOB

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Willing to Start at the Bottom

ABIE THE AGENT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Right Thing at the Right Time!

KRAZY KAT

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Weight a Minute—This Is Deep Stuff

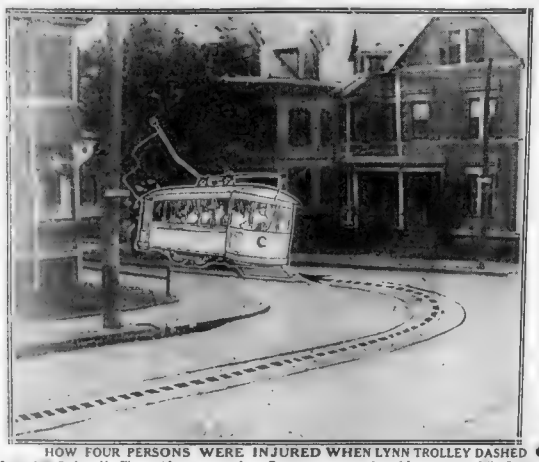

US BOYS

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Emily Is Playing Safe

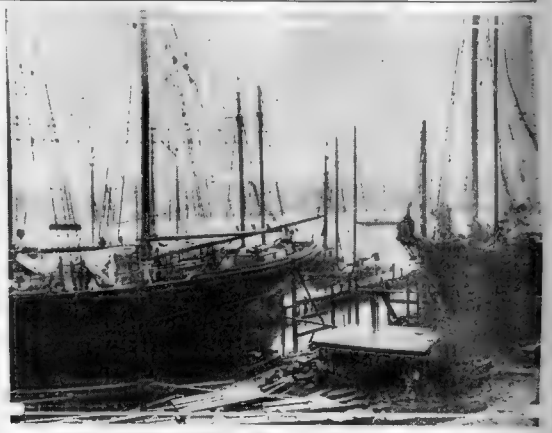

BLOOD TEST DOCTOR DENOUNCES PHYSICIANS OF BOSTON

HOW FOUR PERSONS WERE INJURED WHEN LYNN TROLLEY DASHED Down Hill Backward! The accident occurred at Rogers avenue, at foot of Lawton avenue hill. Raymond B. Perry, the motorman, was unable to operate his car after it had risen to the crest of the hill after the controller broke. The trolley started backward at terrific speed and crashed into a pole at the turn of the incline.

"HOOT MON, YE CANNA BEAT IT!" NONE other than Sir Harry Lauder, himself, will be the guest of honor at the thirty-third annual picnic and games of the Associated Scottish Clans of Greater Boston to be held on Columbus Day at Caledonian Grove, West Roxbury. Among the entertainers are these two wee dancers, Florence and Edna Trask.

AMERICAN FISHING VESSELS TUNED UP FOR ELIMINATION TRIALS TO-morrow! Photo shows the Yankee, at left, and the L. A. Dunton on the ways, where they were scraped and painted and generally placed in apple pie order. The winner among the four vessels in the race will meet the Canadian Bluenose.

BIG AMPLIFIERS TO SEND COLUMBUS DAY Speech to Every Corner of Common! The City of Boston is preparing to act as host to the largest throng that ever gathered on its historic Common when Bourke Cockran of New York and other prominent orators speak from Parkman's Bandstand on Thursday. The photo shows the amplifiers set up.

BRISTOL STREET ENGINE BOYS TIED FOR SPEED TITLE OF BOSTON DURING DRILL TESTS AT HEAD-quarters! Yesterday we printed the group of Bristol street laddermen tied with the enginemen for first honors. The title, by the way, must remain unclaimed for another year. The members of Engine Co. No. 3 are (left to right), Captain George A. Carney, Francis A. Nicholson, Thomas F. McGowan, Julian H. Cutler, John F. Foley, Cornelius J. Sullivan, James H. Donahue, William E. Coughlin, William J. Whalen, John L. Glynn, John F. Regan and Lieut. William Peterson.

SAITH THE FARMER'S ALMANAC: "WE'REN For a Spell of Weather!" And if you want to believe this wee little trio, it's going to be wet weather. However, Eleanor Cole, June Morris and Eleanor Davis say a little rain can't frighten us. Mr. Smith, the genial weather doposter, says that Boston is likely to be wet today and perhaps tomorrow, with lower temperature.

SOMETHING TO HAVE Around the House! Referring to the exquisite hand crochet jumper fashioned in lilac silk and caught in at the centre by pull strings, trimmed with tassels. A popular informal garment that is rapidly succeeding the sweater. (International News Reel)

IS THIS YOUR TEACHER?

Head of English department in his school.

Was graduated from Dartmouth in 1891.

Is a member of the Apollo Club.

Conducts small boys' camp at Boothbay Harbor, Me.

Who is he?

See this page tomorrow!

(No. 15 of yesterday was Miss Theodate Burpee, teacher of commercial subjects at Brighton High School.)

IS THIS YOUR TEACHER?

She is assistant principal of her school.

Is head of modern foreign language department.

She is a native of Boston.

Who is she?

See this page tomorrow.

(No. 16 of yesterday was Frederick A. Tupper, headmaster of the Brighton High School.)

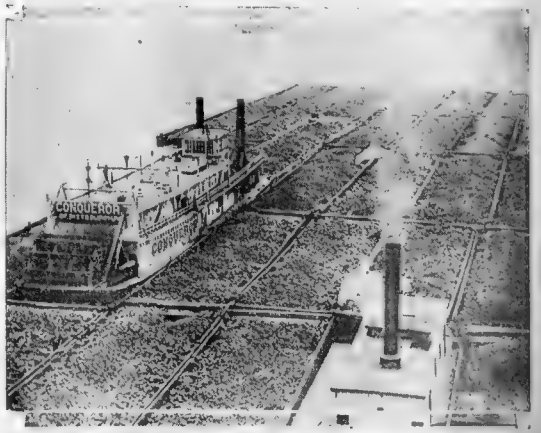

LEADING MEMBER OF Professional Women's Club Opposes Film Censorship! Miss Amelia Burnham, widely known Boston dancing teacher, says the censoring of motion pictures not only infringes upon the public freedom, but would place a dangerous power in the hands of a few.

"ALL THAT BOSTON DOCTORS KILL IS THEIR Patients They Can't Kill My Enthusiasm!" This is the answer of Dr. Albert Abrams, inventor of the new electronic reaction theory in the diagnosis of disease, to his cool reception by the Boston medical profession. One of his followers, Philip Shepard, was refused a license to practice medicine. Shepard is at left and Abrams right.

AS BOSTON SAW THE EVOLUTION OF THE SKIRT IN ONE DECADE—FROM ANKLE TO KNEE AND BACK TO ANKLE AGAIN! Men of great cerebral vigor, the scientists and thinkers, declare that the history of the human race proves that it moves in cycles and that discoveries we hail as new were musty and forgotten when the Pyramids were built. Dame Fashion, Dear Old Lady, cares not a whit for science but she is inextricably bound by same laws. Take for example the skirt, which has completed a cycle in practically ten years. Doctors and flappers alike bitterly decry the "dirt and germ-gathering skirts of 1922," but makers and breakers of fashion say it is necessary to preserve the cycle of fashion and to lend contrast to Milady's wardrobe.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS FOR GREATER BOSTON HOUSEHOLDERS—TWENTY- Seven Barges of Coal on Their Way to This City! The photo shows part of the fleet of fifty-seven barges bound northward to supply hungry furnaces and family stoves. The barges shown above represent over 200 carloads and should arrive within two weeks. The shipment includes both hard and soft coal, the latter predominating.

This Day in Our History—October 11, 1922

THIS is the anniversary of the formal opening, in 1845, of the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. This school is to the navy what West Point is to the army, and both maintain a high standard of education and morale.

Electricity From Fish

THE electric eel has a powerful generating plant. The cells are fewer in number than the 400 boasted by the ray, but they are larger. The electricity produced by these fishes is the same as that generated by batteries.

When Knighthood Was in Flower

by Charles Major

READ IT AGAIN!

Start This World-Famous Story Today

The story opens with an account of the Caskoden family, one of whom, Edwin—who tells the story of Princess Mary Tudor and Charles Brandon—holds a place at the court of Henry VIII. News of a terrible duel reaches the King. Of four combatants, only two come out alive, one so horribly disfigured that he might better have been killed. The survivor, Charles Brandon, is much talked about for his heroism. He appears at a tourney at Westminster. Mary begs the King to tell her his name. He refuses. Brandon meets Caskoden in London and they become friends. Brandon tells him his hopes and plans. Mary meets Brandon, snubs him, later apologizes.

JANE talked of Brandon to Mary, who was in an excellent humor, until the girl fell asleep.

When Jane told me of this I became frightened, for the surset way to any woman's heart is to convince her that you make her better, and arouse in her breast purer impulses and higher aspirations.

It would be bad enough if Brandon fell in love with the Princess, which was almost sure to happen, but for them to fall in love with each other meant Brandon's head upon the block and Mary's heart bruised, broken and empty for life.

Her strong nature, filled to the brim with latent passion, was the stuff of which love makes a conflagration that burns to destruction.

She whose every desire from childhood up had been gratified, whose every whim seemed to her a paramount necessity, would stop at nothing when the dearest wish a woman's heart can coin was to be gained or lost.

Brandon's element of prudence might help him, and might forestall any effort on his part to win her, but Mary had never heard of prudence, and man's caution avails but little when set against woman's daring. In case they both should love, they were sure to try for each other, and in trying were equally sure of ruin and desolation.

A few evenings after this I met the princess in the queen's drawingroom. She beckoned me to her, and, resting her elbows on the top of a cabinet, her chin in her hands, said: "I met your friend, Captain Brandon, a day or two ago. Did he tell you?"

"No," I answered. "Jane told me, but he has not mentioned it."

It was true Brandon had not said a word of the matter, and I had not spoken of it, either. I wanted to see how long he would remain silent concerning an adventure that would have set most men of the court boasting at a great rate. To have a tilt with the ever-victorious Mary, and to come off victor, was enough, I think, to loosen any tongue less given to bragging than Brandon's.

"So," continued Mary, evidently somewhat piqued, "he did not think his presentation to me a thing worth mentioning? We had a little passage-at-arms, and, to tell the truth, I came off second best, and had to acknowledge it, too. Now, what do you think of this new friend of yours? And he did not boast about having the better of me? After all, there is more virtue in his silence than I at first thought." And she threw back her head, and clapped her hands and laughed with the most contagious little ripple you ever heard. She seemed not to grieve over her defeat, but dimpled as though it were a huge joke, the thought of which rather pleased her than otherwise. Victory had grown stale for her, although so young.

Mary Tudor (Marion Davies) learns for the first time that Brandon was wounded in defending her. From "When Knighthood Was in Flower," Park Theatre, October 23.

"What do I think of my new friend?" I repeated after her; and that gave me a theme upon which I could enlarge eloquently. I told her of his learning, notwithstanding the fact that he had been in the continental wars ever since he was a boy. I repeated to her stories of his daring and bravery, that had been told to me by his uncle, the Master of the Horse, and others, and then I added what I knew Lady Jane had already said.

I had expected to be brief, but to my surprise found a close and interested listener, even to the twice-told parts, and drew my story out a little, to the liking of us both.

"Your friend has an earnest advocate in you, Sir Edwin," said the princess.

"That he has," I replied. "There is nothing too good to say of him."

I knew that Mary, with her better, clearer brain, held the king almost in the palm of her hand, so I thought to advance Brandon's fortune by a timely word.

"I trust the king will see fit to favor him, and I hope that you will speak a word in his behalf, should the opportunity occur."

"What in the name of heaven have we to give him?" cried Mary impatiently, for she kept an eye on things political, even if she were only a girl—"the king has given away everything that can be given, already, and now that the war is over, and men are coming home, there are hundreds waiting for more.

"My father's great treasure is squandered, to say nothing of the money collected from Empson, Dudley, and the other commissioners. There is nothing to give unless it be the titles and the estate of the late Duke of Suffolk. Perhaps the king will give these to your paragon, if you will paint him in as fair a light as you have drawn him for me." Then throwing back her head with a laugh, "Ask him."

"It would be none too much for his deserts," I replied, falling in with her humor.

"We will so arrange it then," went on Mary, banteringly; "Captain Brandon no longer, but Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk. How sounds it, Master Caskoden?"

"Sweet in my ears," I replied.

"I really believe you would have the king's crown for him, you absurd man, if you could get it. We must have so interesting a person at court; I shall at least see that he is presented to the queen at once. I wonder if he dances. I suppose not. He has probably been too busy cutting and thrusting." And she laughed again at her own pleasantry.

When the mirth began to gather in her face and the dimples came responsive to her smiles; when she threw back her perfectly poised head, stretching her soft, white throat, so full and round and beautiful, half closing her big brown eyes till they shone again from beneath the shade of those long, black sweeping lashes, when her red lips parted, showing her teeth of pearl, and she gave the little clap of her hands—a sort of climax to the soft, low, rippling laugh—she made a picture of such exquisite loveliness that it is no wonder men were fools about her, and caught love as one catches a contagion.

I had it once, as you already know, and had recovered. All that prevented a daily relapse was my fair, sweet antidote, Jane, whose image rested in my heart, a lasting safeguard.

"I wonder if your prodigy plays cards that is such as we in [illegible] play?" asked Mary. "You say he has lived in France, where the game was invented, but I have no doubt he would scorn to waste his time at so frivolous a pursuit when he might be slaughtering armies single-handed and alone."

"I do not know as to his dancing and card-playing, but I dare to venture a wager he does both," I replied, not liking her tone of sarcasm. She had yet to learn who Brandon was.

"I will hazard ten crowns," said Mary quickly, for she loved a wager and was a born gambler.

"Taken," said I.

"We will try him on both tomorrow night in my drawing room," she continued. "You bring him up, but tell no one. I will have Jane there with her lute, which will not frighten you away, I know, and we will try his step. I will have cards, too, and we shall see what he can do at triumph. Just we four—no one else at all. You and Jane, the new Duke of Suffolk and I. Oh! I can hardly wait," and she fairly danced with joyous anticipation.

The thing had enough irregularity to give it zest, for while Mary often had a few young people in her drawing room, the companies were never so small as two couples only, and the king and queen, to make up for greater faults, were wonderful sticklers in the matter of little proprieties.

The ten-crown wager, too, gave spice to it, but to do her justice she cared very little for that. The princess loved gambling purely for gambling's sake, and with her, the next best thing to winning was losing.

When I went to my room that night I awakened Brandon and told him of the distinguished honor that awaited him.

"Well! I'll be"—but he did not say what he would "be." He always halted before an oath unless angry, which was seldom, but then beware!—he had learned to swear in Flanders. "How she did fly at me the other morning. I never was more surprised in all my life. For once I was almost caught with my guard down and did not know how to parry the thrust. I mumbled over some sort of a lame retaliation and beat a retreat. It was so unjust and uncalled for that it made me angry, but she was so gracious in her amends that I was almost glad it happened. I like a woman who can be as savage as the very devil when it pleases her, she usually has in store an assortment of possibilities for the other extreme."

"She told me of your encounter," I returned, "but said she had come off second best and seemed to think her overthrow a huge joke."

"The man who learns to know what a woman thinks and feels will have a great deal of valuable information," he replied, and then [illegible] pleased that one woman thought as she did.

I was not sure he would be so highly flattered if he knew that he had been used to settle a wager, and to help Mary to a little sport.

As to the former, I had an interest there myself, although I dared not settle the question by asking Brandon if he played cards and danced, and, as to the matter of Mary's sport, I felt there was but little, if any, danger of her having too much of it at his expense, Brandon being well able to care for himself in that respect.

The next evening, at the appointed time, we wended our way, by an infrequented route and presented ourselves as secretly as possible at the drawing room of the princess.

The door was opened by Lady Jane, and we met the two greatest [illegible]. I had told Brandon of the bantering conversation about the title and estates of the late Duke of Suffolk, and he had laughed over it in the best of humor. If quick to retaliate for an intentional offence, he was not thin-skinned at a piece of pleasantry and had none of that stiff sensitive dignity, so troublesome to one's self and friends.

Now, Jane and Mary were always bantering me because I was short, and inclined to be—in fact—round, but I did not care. It made them laugh, and their laughing was so contagious it made me laugh, too, and we all enjoyed it. I would give a pound sterling any time for a good laugh, and that, I think, is why I have always been—round.

So, upon entering, I said:

"His grace, the Duke of Suffolk, ladies."

They each made a sweeping courtsey, with hand on breast, and gravely saluted him:

"Your grace! good even'."

Brandon's bow was as deep and graceful, if that were possible, as theirs, and when he moved on into the room it was with a little halt in his step, and a big blowing out of the cheeks, in ludicrous imitation of his late lamented predecessor, that sent the girls into peals of soft laughter and put us all at our ease immediately.

Ah! what a thing it is to look back upon that time of life when one finds his heaven in a ready laugh!

"Be seated all," said the princess. "This is to be without ceremony and only we four. No one knows a word of it. Did you tell any one, Sir Edwin?"

"Perish the thought," I exclaimed.

She turned her face toward Brandon, "—but I know you did not. I've heard how discreet you were about another matter. Well, no one knows it then, and we can have a famous evening. You did not expect this, Master Brandon, after my reception of you the other morning? Were you not surprised when Sir Edwin told you?"

"I think I can safely say that I was prepared not to be surprised at anything your highness might graciously conclude to do—after my first experience," he answered, smiling.

"Indeed?" returned Mary with elevated eyebrows, and a rising inflection on the last syllable of the word. It was now her turn for a little surprise. "Well, we'll try to find some way to surprise you one of these days," and the time came when she was full of surprises for him.

Mary continued, "But let us not talk about the other day. Of what use are 'other days,' anyway? Before the evening is over, Master Brandon, we want you to give us another sermon," and she laughed, setting off three other laughs as hearty and sincere as if she had uttered the rarest witticism on earth.

The princess had told Jane and Jane had told me of the "Sermon in the Park," as Mary called it.

"Jane needs it as much as I," said the princess.

Copyright, Bobbs-Merrill Co.

To Be Continued Tomorrow

When a Girl Marries

A STORY OF YOUNG MARRIED LIFE

By ANN LISLE

AS Carl left the office I realized that whatever had been said between us, there was one thing his reserve would not permit him to discuss—not even with Betty — surely not with Loven [illegible]. This [illegible] attitude toward Tom Mason.

Miss May came in so promptly after he went out that I felt almost as if sh'd timed it.

"Good morning," she said, with the breezy strength Ralph Lacy seems to have infused in her hitherto elderly and [illegible] manner. "I am late. But I [illegible] couldn't manage that Hoadley man the way I planned."

"You're trying to—'manage' Max Hoadley?" I gasped.

Miss May stared at me with a puzzled expression in her eyes.

"Why not?" she asked calmly. "He's nothing but a big, ridiculous, middle-aged boy. But how he does blunder!"

To hear Max Hoadley spoken of as a big, blundering boy struck me as the height of absurdity. But Miss May's face was so serious and purposeful that I couldn't permit myself a smile.

"Have you interviewed him so early in the morning?" I asked.

"Yes, Mrs. Harrison. Please don't think I'd take advantage of all your kindness and presume to come so late if I'd been engaged with anything but our own business. You see, last night I explained our plan to the boys."

Miss May smiled happily, as she spoke of Ralph Lacy and Wayne Parkinson, who had adopted her as an aunt, and who had given her a sort of radiant, wondering youth just by making her feel that she "belonged." If those two fine men didn't appeal strongly to me by force of their individual sweetness and charm and character, they would still make a good impression because of their feeling for each other. But, added to the loyalty which caused each to "boost the other's stock" so enthusiastically, there is the chivalry they are showing to a lonely old woman who is having not her second, but probably her first "blooming" through them. No one could look on without being impressed.

"You mean that you explained your plans for having Mr. Parkinson buy out the millinery business Mr. Hoadley is so anxious to dispose of?" I asked.

"I did, my dear. I told them all about Max Hoadley's wanting to be free to devote himself to the importing business which his nephew is finding it so hard to manage. Really, it was very gratifying to see those fine young men attending so earnestly to the story of difficulties encountered by a perfect stranger. I was proud of my boys and their unselfish interest in Mr. Hoadley."

"Are you sure the interest wasn't in you and consequently, in any story you choose to tell?" I bantered.

"Oh, no, indeed! It was just their humaneness responding to another man's need," insisted Miss May, with the seriousness which is one of her quaint charms.

Max Hoadley, as a subject of earnest pity and sympathy, appealed to my desire for a good laugh. But Miss May didn't. So I banished my feeling that he was a squat and almost repulsive figure given to croaking like a frog and pushing in where he wasn't wanted.

I sent into the limbo of things forgot all thought of his startling and unwelcome flare or feeling for me. And I managed to compel myself to see him through my little "partner's" eyes, as I knew Ralph Lacy and "Park" had done. Somehow my eyes smarted and my breath caught in the back of my throat as the thought of those two fine, upstanding young men sitting across the table from little Miss May and giving themselves fully to the cause in which she wanted to enlist them.

"I suppose you were very careful not to let 'Park' realize that you were missionarying him, as well as your acknowledged protege, Max Hoadley?" I laughed, finding some outlet for my emotions in the little chuckle in which Miss May could be educated on to join.

"Oh, that would have spoiled everything!" she replied shrewdly. "If Park dreamed how sorry I am for him, with nothing to do, and days hanging so heavily on his hands he'd just be miserable for making me worry. You see, I understand very well that those two remarkable boys are intent on bringing sunshine into my life—not worry. So, of course, the way to work it with Park is to let him feel that he's doing a friend of mine a favor, not that his poor old maiden aunt is putting herself out on his account. So I made no mention of any plan to give him something to do. I think I was really very diplomatic."

"Of course, you were, dear," I replied. "I'm anxious to hear just how you managed."

"I scarcely know. But I sold Park my idea. I really sold him. I just guess as we went along, a step at a time in the matter of poor Max Hoadley, and the business he made and gave his name to, it came to Park that unless I could find the poor thing someone to take his place, he was tied hand and foot. I couldn't help appealing to the generous imagination of that boy.

"Here he is with nothing in the world to do but cut coupons and play polo, and then there's Max Hoadley, who never had a good time in his life, tied to one business and forced to watch another one go to pieces for lack of his genius in organization."

"I suppose you painted a very pathetic figure," I ventured.

"Well, he is pathetic," said Miss May with motherly conviction. "If you've never learned to play and you come to be middle-aged and have to hold a job that scarcely needs you when there's another you're just pining to get at, I call it sad. Especially when the one that needs you is likely to be ruined for lack of you. And when the one that doesn't need you has a hold on your pride and loyalty."

"And Park was convinced?" I asked trying to vision this aristocratic young man of leisure and polo games and high powered racing cars at work in a wholesale millinery world.

"Absolutely. He felt like a young crusader," chuckled Miss May, who has a sense of humor of her own.

"He offered to come to the rescue?" I demanded, astonished by the magic a little old woman with a conviction can work.

"He commissioned me to arrange just whatever I thought best and said he'll stand by."

"And so this morning you had a talk with Max Hoadley and persuaded him"——

"Persuaded!" Miss May gasped. "Why did you choose that word? I should think you'd say that I told him I was his good genius and magnificently informed him that I'd found a way out of his troubles."

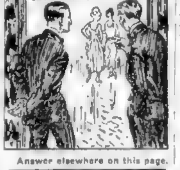

"Surely Max Hoadley was not ungrateful enough to mind accepting his release from anyone so kindly and sweet and disinterested as you?" I questioned, responding to something unspoken.

Copyright, 1922, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.

To Be Continued Tomorrow

Etiquette Problem

What's Wrong Here?

Answer elsewhere on this page.

The Best Joke I Ever Heard

The Boston American will pay $1 for "Best Joke" published. Address "Jokes," Boston American.

"What's the matter, Willie, you look as though you were fighting a tremendous battle," said his mother.

"Gee, ma, I am. I was up to auntie's and she gave me some French pastry and some German sauerkraut and sausages, and now it's fighting all along my front."

MISS JULIA SKIRKEY

No. 256 West Sixth street, South Boston, Mass.

Smart Sayings of Clever Youngsters

The Boston American will pay $1 for published smart sayings. Address "Smart Sayings," Boston American.

My husband and my uncle were working on my automobile, one day, and my husband kept saying, "We'll get her yet. Now we got her all right." My little boy, aged four, who was playing nearby with his brother, cries out:

"There, didn't I tell you there was a girl in the engine and papa got her now."

MRS. AGNES HATCH.

Box 53 Brookline, Mass. R. F. D.

Embarrassing Moments

Coming in from Cambridge the crowded subway train in which I was standing (as usual), suddenly swayed. I lost my balance and sat plump on a young man's knee. I believe I sat there dumfounded for fully a minute before I had sense enough to arise, and to make matters worse, my "boss" was standing near and distinctly saw the whole affair.

CLAIRE E. ROBERTS

314 Tremont Building, Boston

BEST RECIPES

New England housewives are requested to send in recipes for appetizing dishes. One dollar will be sent each winner printed here. Address Recipe Editor, Boston American 8, Boston, Mass.

Peach Tapioca Custard

Fill a dish half full of sliced peaches. Beat 2 eggs, with 1 pint milk, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/3 teaspoon salt. Stir into this ½ cup whole tapioca, soaked off. Pour over the peaches and bake till firm. Serve with cream.

MRS. B. B. BACHELDER.

Mt. Washington street, Derry, N. H.

For Mock Mince Pies

One cup fresh bread crumbs, 1 cup hot water, ½ cup butter, ½ cup vinegar, 1½ cups sugar, 1 cup currants, 1 cup Sultan raisins, 1 cup chopped apples, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon powdered cloves, 1 teaspoon powdered cinnamon, ½ teaspoon powdered allspice, ½ teaspoon powdered ginger. Mix all the ingredients together and keep in a covered jar.

MRS. MILDRED PALMER.

No. 400 Sudbury Building, Boston 14, Mass.

ANSWER TO ETIQUETTE PROBLEM

She might happen to be the boy's sister or fiancee or his bride. It is dangerous to ridicule any one.

Corns Go

just say Blue-jay to your druggist

The simplest way to end a corn is Blue-jay. A touch stops the pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Made in a colorless clear liquid (one drop does it!) and in extra thin plasters. The action is the same.

Pain Stops Instantly

Almost Unbelievable

You can hardly realize the wonderful improvement to your skin and complexion your mirror will reveal to you after using Gouraud's Oriental Cream for the first time.

Send 15c. for Trial Size

FERD. T. HOPKINS & SON New York

Gouraud's Oriental Cream

Advertisement.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.

Smothered By Gas

Prevent Attacks by Taking Baalmann's Gas Tablets

One of the most harrowing experiences possible to describe is that awful smothering sensation caused by gas pressure about the heart. Such an attack may be accompanied by choking and gagging, extreme nervousness, heart palpitation, pain, high blood pressure or various forms of stomach distress.

If you wish to avoid these smothering spells and their evil effects, take Baalmann's Gas Tablets before and after meals. There will be no more gas pressure around heart or lungs, no shortness of breath, no palpitation, no bloating, no discomfort. You will eat better, sleep better and feel better.

Go today and obtain a dollar package of Baalmann's Gas Tablets from any reliable druggist. Results from the very first dose will amaze you. J. Baalmann, Chemist, San Francisco.

WINCARNIS

For nearly 50 years—

Weak, anaemic, nervous and run-down men and women in all parts of the world have found new health, strength and energy by taking Wincarnis.

Two sizes: $1.10 and $1.95

At all good druggists

U. S. Agents EDWARD LASSERE, Inc. 400 West 23d Street New York

FOR WEAKNESS

ELVITA PILLS

Elvita Pills Enrich the Blood, Strengthen the Nerves, Build Up Physical Power, Giving Vigor and Nerve Power to Nervous, Despondent People.

For rundown condition, general debility, nervous prostration, nervous weakness, nervous exhaustion, mental depression and unstrung nerves, caused by influenza or from over-indulgence in alcohol, tobacco or excesses of any kind Elvita Pills have always stood the test.

Elvita Bromo-Gentian Comp.

Is a bitter tonic. It stimulates the appetite and aids digestion. 25 years in private practice has proven it to be exceedingly valuable for nervous dyspepsia and nervous or irritable stomach. A teaspoonful or two taken before retiring helps to induce a restful sleep—$1 a bottle.

Elvita Remedies are for sale at Armstrong Drug Stores, North Station, Parker House, Richardson Drug Co., Dewey Sq., Epstein Drug Store, Scollay Sq., and other reliable druggists. Elvita Drug Co., Boston, Mass.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for coughs, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant—children like it.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

PINEX for Coughs

"Pied Piper of Hamelin"

THE "Pied Piper of Hamelin" has a reputedly historical basis. According to an old chronicler, the affair happened very much as described by Browning, at the town of Hamel, in Brunswick, on July 22, 1370.

Magazine Page

Dancing in Church

THERE is still one European church in which the practice of dancing has survived. At Seville it is customary on the Feast of Corpus Christi for the choir boys to dance in celebration of the event.

Man and Maid

by Elinor Glyn

START THIS NEW STORY TODAY

Sir Nicholas Thormonde, a wealthy Englishman, wounded and blinded in one eye in action, starts writing his diary in Paris while the war is still on. He is sick of life. The war has robbed it of all that a young man can find of joy. He tries to amuse himself in the company of several women friends, who, he feels, seek his company for his money and not for the love he craves. He starts to write a book and hires a typist, Miss Sharp. He falls in love with her and has a hard time getting rid of Suzette.

Now Go On With the Story

"THOU hast upset everything, Nicholas. Douquehois is desolated—Coralie changed directly she saw you ere—he says—and then to divert herself and forget you, ook Lord Brokelbank from Odette!"

"Vieux Coquin! Va!" and Maurice patted me on the back—.

They were enchanted with my esents to them lately, he ided, and were all longing to rere to Paris soon and thank me. The war was simply growing to a nuisance and the quicker was over the better for everyie (?)

Then he beat about the bush for a little longer and at last began to grow nearer the vital subject!—

He had seen some of my Mont Aubin relations — fortunately for me, they have been far from Paris in this last year—and they had anxiously asked him if I thought of marrying?—what in fact was I doing with myself now that my wounds were healing?

I laughed—

"I am so glad my mother was an only child and they are none of them near enough to have the right to bore me — they had better continue their good works in Biarritz—I am told my cousin Marguerite's convalescent home is a marvel! I have sent her frequent donations."

Then Maurice plunged in—

"You are not—becoming entangled in any way with your secretary, are you, Mon Ami?" he asked.

I had decided beforehand that I would not get angry at anything he said—so I was ready for this.

"No, Maurice—" and I poured out a second glass of port for him—Burton had left us alone by now—. "Miss Sharp does not know that I exist—she is simply here to do her work, and is the best secretary any man could want—I knew Coralie would infect you with some silly idea."

Maurice sipped his port. "Coralie said that in spite of the girl's glasses there was some air of distinction about her, as she walked on, and that she knew and felt you were interested."

I remained undisturbed.

"I am, immensely interested—I want to know who she really is. She is a lady—even a lady of our world. I mean she knows about things in England—where she has never been—that she could not possibly know unless her family had spoken of them always. She has that unconscious air of familiarity and ease with subjects which would surprise you. Can't you find anything out for me, old boy, as to who she is?"

"I will certainly try—Sharp? it is not a name of the great world—no—?"

"Of course that is not her real name."

"Why not ask her yourself, Mon Brave?"

"I'd like to find a man with pluck enough to ask her anything she did not wish him to!"

"That little girl!—but she appeared meek and plain, and respectable, Nicholas — You intrigue me!"

"Well, put your wits to work, Maurice, and promise me you will not talk to the others about anything. I shall be very angry if you do."

He gave me every assurance he would be silent as the grave—and then he changed the topic to that of Suzette—He was sorry I had given her her congé, because I would find it hard to replace her. Those so honest and really not too rapacious, were very difficult to find. Since he had heard that Suzette was no longer my little friend, he had been looking out for me, but as yet had seen nothing suitable.

"You need not trouble Maurice," I told him. "I am absolutely finished with that part of my life—I loathe the whole idea of it now."

Maurice inspected me with grave concern.

"My dear chap—this appears serious—You are not in love with your secretary are you?—or is it possible that you are bluffing, and that she has replaced Suzette, and you wish tranquillity about the subject?"

"Miss Sharp does not know that I exist," I told Maurice, pouring out a second glass of port for him.

I felt a hot flush mounting to my forehead. The very thought of my adored little girl, in the category of Suzette. I could have struck my old friend but I had just sense enough to reason things. Maurice was only speaking as any of the Paris world would speak. A secretary, whom a man was obviously interested in, was certainly not out of the running for the post of "Maîtresse-en-titre!"

He meant no personal disrespect to Alathea. For him women were either of the world or they were not!—True, there was an intermediate class "Les braves Gens"—Bourgeoises—servants, typists, etc., etc.—But one could only be interested in one of these for one reason. That is how things appeared to Maurice. I knew his views; perhaps I had shared them in some measure in my unregenerate days.

"Look here Maurice—I want you to understand — that Miss Sharp is a lady in every way—I have already told you this but you don't seem to have grasped it—and that she has my greatest respect—and it makes me sick to think of anyone talking of her as you have just done. Although I know you did not mean anything low, you old owl—She treats me as though I were a tiresome, elderly employer — whom she must give obedience to, but is not obliged to converse with. She would not permit the slightest friendship or familiarity from any man she worked for."

"Your interest is then serious, Nicholas?"

Maurice was absolutely aghast!

"My respect is serious—my curiosity is hot—and I want information——"

Maurice tried to feel relieved.

"Supposing financial disaster fell upon your family, old boy—would you consider your sister less of a lady because she had to earn bread for you all by being a typist!"

"Of course not—but it would be very dreadful!—Marie!—Oh! I could not thing of it!"

"Then try to get the idea into your thick head that Miss Sharp is Marie—and behave accordingly—that is how I look at her."

Maurice promised that he would, and our talk turned to the Dutchess—he had seen her at a cross country station as he came up, and she would be back in Paris the following week—this thought gave me comfort. Every one would be back by the 15th of October he assured me and then we could all amuse ourselves again—

"You will be quite well enough to dine out, Nicholas—or if not you must move to the Ritz with me, so that you at least have entertainment on the spot, Mon cher!"

We spoke then of the book—furniture was a really refined and interesting subject for me to be delving into. Maurice longed to read the proofs, he averred.

When he had left me, I lay back in my chair and asked myself what had happened to me?—that Maurice and all that lot seemed such miles and miles away from me—as miles and miles as they would have seemed in their triviality, when we used to discuss important questions in "Pop" at Eton.

How I must have sunk in the years which followed those dear old days, ever even to have found divertisement among the people like Maurice and the fluffies. Surely even a one-eyed and one-legged man ought to be able to do something for his country politically, it suddenly seemed to me—and what a glorious picture to gaze at. If I could some day go into Parliament and have Alathea beside me to give me inspiration!

How her poise would tell in English political society. How her brain and her power of exercising her critical faculties. Apart from the fact that I love every inch of her wisp of a body. What an asset that mind would be to any man. And I dreamed and dreamed in the firelight—things all filled with sentiment and exaltation which of course no fellow could ever say aloud, or let anyone know of. A journal is certainly an immense comfort, and I do not believe I could have gone through this hideous year of my life without it.

How I would love to have Alathea for my wife—and have children. It can't be possible that I have written that. I loathe children in the abstract—they bore me to death. Even Solonge de Clerte's two entertaining angels—but to have a son—with Alathea's eyes. God! how the thought makes me feel! How I would like to sit and talk with her of how we should bring him up. I reached out my hand and picked up a volume of Charles Lamb and read "Dream Children"—and as I finished I felt that idiotic choky sensation which I have only begun to know since something in me has been awakened by Alathea—or since my nerves have been on the rack—I don't remember ever feeling much touched, or weak, or silly, before the war.

And now what have I to face?

A will, stronger, or as strong as my own. A prejudice of the deepest which I cannot explain away. A knowledge that I have no power to retain the thing I love. No guerdon to hold out to her mentally or physically.

Nothing but the material thing of money, which because of her great unselfishness and desire to benefit her loved ones, she might be forced to consider. My only possibility of obtaining her at all is to buy her with money. And when once bought, when I had her here in my house, would I have the strength to resist the temptation to take advantage of the situation? Could I go on, day after day, never touching her, never having any joys, until the greatness of my love somehow melted her dislike and contempt of me?

I wish to God I knew.

She will never marry me unless I give her my word of honor that the thing will only be an empty ceremony—of that I feel sure even if circumstances aid me to force her into doing this much. And then one has to keep one's word of honor. And might not that be a greater hell than I am now in of suffering?

I rang the bell for Burton then and told him of my new plan as he put me to bed. We would go off to St. Malo for a week, and I gave orders that he should make the necessary arrangements to get permits. To travel anywhere now is no end of a difficulty.

I went to Alathea without weakening. I asked her to collect the MSS., and make notes of what she thought still should be altered during my absence. I wrote as stiffly and in as business like manner as possible, and finally went to sleep and slept better than I have done for some time.

Copyright, 1922, by Elinor Glyn.
(J. B. Lippincott Co., Publishers)

To Be Continued Tomorrow

RADIO PROGRAM

AMRAD, WGI, MEDFORD.

7:00 A. M.—"Before Breakfast Set-Ups." Mr. Arthur E. Baird, Caines College of Physical Culture.

9:20—The Housewife's Market Basket. Ruling retail prices collected by the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture from Boston markets and grocery stores.

10:20—U. S. Weather Bureau forecast for New England (485 meters).

1:30 P. M.—Boston farmers' produce market report. U. S. official weather forecast (485 meters).

3:25—Concert program by the Ampico in the Chickering, re-enacting the playing of the artists. Selected by Agide Jacchia.

6:00—Market report. U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Brighton live stock market, fruits and vegetables market, dairy and produce market, Chicago live stock market. Boston farmers' produce market report (485 meters).

6:30—Boston police reports. Late news flashes. Early sports news, Boston American.

9:00—Evening program.

I. Miss Ulrica Grant, Emerson College of Oratory, will read "The Refractory Cow," and "I've Got the Mumps."

II. "How Savings Banks Help the Individual to Financial Independence," by Mr. J. H. Soliday, president of the Franklin Savings Bank of Boston.

III. Concert—Raffaele del Sordo, violinist, a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Phrae Hernan, coloratura soprano, heard in recital and concert work in Jordan Hall and clubs in Boston, also Washington, D. C., and New York. William Burbank, pianist and accompanist. Organist and director of the Cambridge Congregational Church and booked with the Aaron Richmond Bureau.

1. Piano solos.
(a) "Rigaudon" .... MacDowell
(b) "Waltz in A Flat" .... Chopin
Mr. Burbank.

2. Soprano solos.
(a) "Ernani Involami" .... Ernani
(b) "Song of the Open" .... La Forge
(c) "I Heard a Cry" .... Fisher
Miss Hernan.

Radios In Homes

Latest estimates put the number of radio sets in American homes at 1,500,000. The record for a single city is Pittsburgh, where there is a set in one out of every six homes. Detroit has between 40,000 and 60,000 sets.

DAILY DRESS PATTERN

The Boston American will mail this pattern to any address on receipt of 10 cents.

Be sure to give size when ordering. Please use care in making name and address legible. A new style book containing 500 illustrations will be sent on receipt of 10 cents. Write Pattern Dept., Boston American, 80 Summer street, Boston, 8, Mass.

A SEASONABLE STYLE

4121. A new version of the sleeveless dress is here portrayed. A full, straight skirt, with jumper portions and a "slip on" guimpe with sleeves in wrist length or "shorter." Tub silk would be nice for the dress, and organdy or voile for the guimpe. Crepe, crepe de chine or tissue gingham are also attractive.

The pattern is cut in 7 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The guimpe will require 2⅝ yards of 36-inch material and the dress 3⅝ yards for a 38-inch size. If the guimpe is made with short sleeves it will require 1⅞ yards of material. To make the guimpe and dress of one material will require 6¼ yards 36 inches wide. The width of the skirt at the foot is 2⅝ yards

Amusements

BOSTON OPERA HOUSE
SIR HARRY LAUDER
NEXT WEEK—SEATS NOW
WORLD'S GREATEST REVUE
Direct from Record-Breaking Run at the New York Winter Garden
SPICE of 1922 by JACK LAIT
Valeska Suratt, Georgie Price, Sam Hearn; All Star Cast and a GARDEN OF EDEN BEAUTY CHORUS
Back-to-Normal Prices: Eves. 50c to $2
Mats. Wed. & Sat., 50c to $1

SAM S. SHUBERT — LEE & J. J. SHUBERT Managing Directors
PHONE BEACH 4520
COLUMBUS DAY & SAT. MAT. ONLY BEST MATINEE SEATS, 50c to $2
ALL EVES. INC. SAT., 50c to $2.50
LAST 2 WEEKS
JULIA SANDERSON IN TANGERINE

LOEWS ORPHEUM
CONTINUOUS—9:15 A.M. to 10:30 P.M.
A Louis Burston Production
"FORGET ME NOT"
With Bessie Love & Gareth Hughes
ALL STAR VAUDEVILLE
"You'd Be Surprised" with Clayton & Lennie & Mason & Cole. Other Great Acts. Latest News & Comedy

SHUBERT-MAJESTIC Tel. Beach 4520.
EVES. at 8. MATS. DAILY at 2
SHUBERT VAUDEVILLE
The Musicomedy Revue of Smiles
Steppin' Around
with JAMES C. MORTON
JAMES C. MORTON with Mamie, Edna & Alfred Morton, DAN HEALY, HARRY ROYE, MARGO BAFFARRO, Maida De Fresno, Joyce Wayne, Billy Mayo, Harry Bloom, VINTOUR BROS.

ARLINGTON THEATRE
LAST WEEK COLORED REVUE "OH JOY"
Mats.—Wed., Thurs., Sat., 25c-50c
Nights—25c to $1.00

JORDAN HALL, Thurs. Eve., Oct. 12, at 8:30
SONG RECITAL
FRANCESCA CUCE
SOPRANO

BY THE PIPER THAT PLAYED BEFORE MOSES! YE'LL NE'ER HAVE A HAPPIER JOY
MY WILD IRISH ROSE
LAUGHINGEST LOVINGEST THRILLINGEST PHOTOPLAY EVER
IRISH OR NOT—YOU'LL LOVE IT!
PARK THEATRE Continuous 10 A.M. to 10:30 P.M.
PRICES MORNS. 20¢ AFT'N'S 25¢, 35¢ EVENINGS 25¢, 35¢, 50¢

MODERN & BEACON
SAME PROGRAM AT BOTH THEATRES
MASTERPIECE OF ROMANCE & LOVE
HEART'S HAVEN
MY FRIEND THE DEVIL
A TREMENDOUS MODERN DRAMA
REDUCED PRICES AT BOTH THEATRES

See the Fishermen's Races
OCTOBER 12TH AND 13TH
S.S. Dorothy Bradford will leave wharf, 400 Atlantic Ave., at 8 A.M. SHARP
Tickets now on sale at Wharf
FARE $2.50
Telephone Congress 4756
SUNDAY, OCT. 15TH
See Gloucester Harbor and Racing Ships
BOAT LEAVES 10 A.M.
3 hours' stop at Gloucester
Official Boat of the American Fishermen's Race Committee

B. F. KEITH'S
Week of Oct. 9 at 2 and 8. Tel. Beach 1724
Order of appearance of Stars:
2:15 ...... Anderson & Yvel 8:15
2:21 ...... Joe Libonati 8:21
2:25 ...... Stanley & Birnes 8:35
2:45 ...... AL & FANNY STEDMAN 8:45
3:00 ...... FRITZI SCHEFF 9:00
3:16 ...... MORAN & MACK 9:16
3:31 ...... BLOSSOM SEELEY 9:31
3:58 ...... McKAY & ARDINE 9:58
4:19 ...... Herbert's Leaping Canines 10:19

GORDON'S SCOLLAY SQ. OLYMPIA
GREATEST PICTURE EVER!
CECIL B. DeMILLE'S
MANSLAUGHTER
With THOS. MEIGHAN
5 BIG VAUDEVILLE ACTS
Headed by "OKLAHOMA" BOB ALBRIGHT

HOLLIS Eves. at 8:15. Mats. Thurs. & Sat. at 2:15
COLUMBUS DAY MAT. TOMORROW
SAM H. HARRIS Presents
FRANCINE LARRIMORE
In RACHEL CROTHER'S great comedy
"NICE PEOPLE"

SYMPHONY HALL
STEINERT SERIES OF FIVE CONCERTS
by the World's Most Celebrated Artists
ON SUNDAY AFTERNOONS AT POPULAR PRICES
Under the Management of ALBERT STEINERT
OCTOBER 22 TITTA RUFFO
THE GREATEST LIVING BARITONE AND HIS CONCERT COMPANY
NOVEMBER 5 JOINT CONCERT BY SOPHIE BRASLAU CONTRALTO and EMILIO DeGOGORZA BARITONE
JANUARY 28 DOUBLE EVENT FRANCES ALDA SOPRANO (Mrs. Gatti-Casazza) and ALEXANDER SILOTI CELEBRATED RUSSIAN PIANIST
FEBRUARY 18 JOINT INSTRUMENTAL CONCERT BY THE TWO FOREMOST FRENCH ARTISTS ALFRED CORTOT PIANIST and JACQUES THIBAUD VIOLINIST
DATE TO BE ANNOUNCED JOHN McCORMACK World Renowned Tenor
Prices for Season Tickets, $7, $9 and $10 (Plus War Tax)
NOW ON SALE AT STEINERT and SYMPHONY HALLS

TREMONT THEATRE EVES. at 8 Mats. Today and Sat. 2:10
Extra Columbus Day Mat. Thurs.
GEO. M. COHAN'S Comedians
IN MR. COHAN'S NEW MUSICAL PLAY
LITTLE NELLIE KELLY

SELWYN Eves. at 8:15 Wed. & Sat. at 2:15 Tel. Beach 193
MUSICAL COMEDY SENSATION
SHUFFLE ALONG with and by MILLER & LYLES — SISSLE & BLAKE
EXTRA MAT. TOMORROW

GLOBE WASH. ST. Near Boylston
Continuous 10:30 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. Popular Prices
Positively final week
HOUDINI In "THE MAN FROM BEYOND"
In Addition: MYSTIC CLAYTON

A Hurricane Hit!
"forces of Nature rise to the height of terrific tempest, transferred to the screen with a vividness unequalled by anything of its sort previously, even from Griffith's own hand."
—The Transcript.
D. W. GRIFFITH
Astounds Boston Theatre-goers with Another Masterpiece
"ONE EXCITING NIGHT"
"most realistic tempest that the art of man has ever simulated upon the stage. The gale which leads up to the climax in 'Way Down East' is a tame and kittenish affair in comparison."
—The Herald.
Tremont Temple
Matinee Every Day at 2:15
Every Evening at 8:05

COLONIAL Eves. at 8. Mats. Tom'w & Sat.
COLUMBUS DAY MAT. TOMORROW
SAM H. HARRIS presents IRVING BERLIN'S MUSIC BOX REVUE
Staged by HASSARD SHORT

BOWDOIN SQ. THEATRE
"THE FAST MAIL"
5 VAUDEVILLE ACTS.

BOSTON THEATRE Continuous

LANCASTER THEATRE
CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG
GLADYS BROCKWELL

See these super-photoplays
Created by Cosmopolitan Productions at your favorite theatre
MARION DAVIES in
"The Young Diana"
Oct. 11—Olympia, N. Bedford, Mass.
Oct. 11—Savoy, Northfield, Vt.
Oct. 11-12—Phillips, Springfield, Mass.
Oct. 12-14—Central, Somerville, Mass.
Oct. 15-16—Strand, Taunton, Mass.
Oct. 17-18—Association Hall, Concord Jct., Mass.
Oct. 16-18—Medford, Medford, Mass.
Oct. 18—Temple Auditorium, Wolfeboro, N. H.
Oct. 18—Marlboro, Marlboro, Mass.
Oct. 20-21—Strand, Boston, Mass.
"Enchantment"
Oct. 20—Bridgewater Woolen, Woodstock, Vt.
"The Bride's Play"
Oct. 13—Broadway, Derry, N. H.
Oct. 16-17—Strand, Winooski, Vt.
Oct. 16—Town Hall, Wilton, N. H.
Oct. 20—Star, Fairlee, Vt.
"Beauty's Worth"
Oct. 13—National, Boston, Mass.
Oct. 15—Star, Boston, Mass.
Oct. 16—Town Hall, Amherst, Mass.
Oct. 18—Peerless, No. Abington, Mass.
Oct. 18-19—Playhouse, Wellesley, Mass.
Oct. 19—Idle Hour, Hyannis, Mass.
"The Restless Sex"
Oct. 16—Royal, Holyoke, Mass.
Oct. 20—Empire, W. Springfield, Mass.
"Heliotrope"
Oct. 12—People's, Maynard, Mass.
Oct. 13—Majestic, Fitchburg, Mass.
Oct. 21—Gala, Enfield, Mass.
"Inside the Cup"
Oct. 19-20—Strand, Farmington, N. H.
"The Passionate Pilgrim"
Oct. 19—Opera House, Waterbury, Vt.
"Proxies"
Oct. 13-14—Lawler Bros., Greenfield, Mass.
"The Wild Goose"
Oct. 12—Star, E. Greenwich, R. I.
Oct. 16—Opera House, Turners Falls, Mass.
Oct. 16-17—Lawler Bros., Greenfield, Mass.
"Woman God Changed"
Oct. 23—Proctorsville, Proctorsville, Vt.
"Find the Woman"
Oct. 11-12—Jefferson, Springfield, Mass.
Oct. 18-19—Bijou, Providence, R. I.
Oct. 23—Horticultural Hall, Manchester, Mass.
"Valley of Silent Men"
Oct. 11—Ware, Beverly, Mass.
Oct. 12-13—Strand, Amesbury, Mass.
Oct. 12-14—Harvard, No. Cambridge, Mass.
Oct. 12-14—Dudley, Roxbury, Mass.
Other Cosmopolitan Productions
"Back Pay"
"The Beauty Shop"
"The Good Provider"
"Humoresque"
"Just Around the Corner"
"Get Rich Quick Wallingford"
"Boomerang Bill"
Created by Cosmopolitan Productions

GAYETY "TALK OF THE TOWN"

HOWARD "LAUGHIN' THRU 1922" BURLESQUE

ST. JAMES BOSTON STOCK COMPANY "THE BOSS"

WALDRON'S CASINO BILLY WATSON

Amusements
MAYOR CURLEY SAID R-E-A-T
THE BAT
WILBUR THEATRE
CAN BUY SEATS 8 WEEKS AHEAD
Mat. TODAY, 50c to $2
AT. TOM'W COLUMBUS DAY

Amusements
PLYMOUTH Eves. at 8:20 Mats. at 2:20
COLUMBUS DAY MAT. To-morrow
"A popular hit."—E. F. Harkins, Advertiser.
A. H. Woods presents
LAWFUL LARCENY
By Samuel Shipman
with LOWELL SHERMAN
Ralfe Bennett and Edna Goodrich

Oils Lead Rise in Erratic Market With Wild Speculative Flavor; Money 5%

FORBES' VIEWS ON FINANCE

By B. C. Forbes

Hats off to this man.

* * *

The West has been growing big trees for centuries—in Yosemite they show you the biggest trees in the world, some of them thousands of years old.

During recent years the West has been growing big men.

And now they are taking to developing big enterprises.

* * *

Consider Fred L. Baker of Los Angeles and his activities. Born at Lansing, Mich. fifty years ago, he migrated to California and became interested in an iron works, the first of its kind in the State. He succeeded in developing the Baker Iron Works into one of California's notable enterprises.

When I was in Los Angeles, recently, a citizen pointed out Fred Baker and remarked: "He is a big man in every way, mentally as well as physically. As you will note, he shows certain of the physical tendencies that seem, somehow, to develop through wrestling with hard materials. Out here we can pick a hard rock man or an iron and steel man by the man himself."

Just as Fred Baker had foreseen the possibilities of an iron works on the Pacific coast a generation ago, he later foresaw the possibilities in the ship building line on the Pacific.

* * *

The Baker enterprise, however, was not transient "war baby." When the war shipbuilding bubble burst, Baker continued to do business and has kept on doing shipbuilding work right along. The dry dock, capable of raising ships of 12,000 tons, has proved a godsend to Pacific coast shipping. Moreover, the huge machine shop, among the best on the Pacific coast, has been supplying machinery, not only for shipping, but for oil, mining, milling, power, structural, sugar and other industries.

* * *

What I started out to tell you about, however, is the latest mammoth venture, captained by Fred Baker, for it is a venture calculated not only to develop very greatly Los Angeles harbor and to facilitate the growth of Southern California, but is of national and even international interest.

This is a ten million dollar lumber enterprise.

* * *

Briefly, Fred Baker and his associates have acquired a vast empire of virgin forest—spruce, hemlock and cedar—in British Columbia and a colossal sawmill, plaining mill, box factory, dry kiln and such-like facilities are being erected, covering some thirty-five acres at Los Angeles Harbor, adjoining the other thirty-five acres already occupied by the Baker Shipbuilding & Iron Works.

Already three large lumber schooners, the nucleus of an important fleet, have been acquired to transport the rough sawn logs from British Columbia. By December 1 some 10,000,000 feet of logs, Vice-President Leaf, estimates, will be on hand ready for the huge sawmill to start operations. If I recall correctly, the intention is to have the sawmill turn out a million feet every day.

* * *

Baker figures that the transportation and other costs of doing business on the scale proposed will be so low that the cost of building a frame house and every other wood structure all over the territory contributary to Los Angeles will be appreciably reduced.

Also, of course, thousands of workers will have their pay envelopes filled and a vast amount of money will flow to Los Angeles Harbor and the City of Los Angeles through the combined shipbuildings, dry dock, ironworks and lumber manufacturing plant operated, conceived and controlled by Fred L. Baker.

Yes, they are developing both big men and big concerns out West.

(Copyright, 1922, by B. C. Forbes.)

New York Curb

By Cosmopolitan News Service.

Prices on the New York Curb were:

Anglo-American Oil	22¼
Atlantic Lobos Oil	8
Boston & Wyoming Oil	1⅛
Candelaria Silver	57
Car Lighting & Power	2⅛
Cities Service	204¼
Cities Service B	21⅛
Carib Syndicate	6⅞
Consolidated Copper ctf	4⅛
Continental Motors	11⅛
[illegible] of Indiana	14
Durant Motors	51
[illegible]	65
Imperial Oil (Canada)	123
International Petroleum	24⅛
Lincoln Motor Class A	2
R H Macy Co	59
Maracaibo Oil Exploration	20¼
Merritt Oil Corporation	8⅝
Magnolia	247
Mammoth	40⅛
Mutual Oil	12⅛
New England Fuel Oil	77⅛
New York Telephone pfd	110
Nipissing Mines	6
Ohio Oil	353
Prairie Oil & Gas	700
Radio Corporation of America	4⅛
Salt Creek Producers	20⅛
Sapulpa Refining	3½
Simms Petroleum	9⅝
Standard Oil of Indiana	128
Standard Oil of Kentucky (new)	114½
Standard Oil of New York	443
[illegible] Extension	2⅞
United Retail Candy Stores	7
Vacuum Oil	464

Points in Tuesday's Market

Total sales—New York, 1,512,600 shares; Boston, 14,499 shares.

Most active issue in New York—Mexican Petroleum, 103,400 shares.

Most active issue in Boston—Am. Tel. & Tel. rts., 8,127 shares.

Total sales, Jan. 1, 1922, to date—New York, 215,848,900 shares.

Total sales, Jan. 1, 1922, to date—Boston, 4,282,543 shares.

Corresponding period last year—New York, 132,781,450 shares.

Corresponding period last year—Boston, 1,838,896 shares.

RAILROADS HAVE SPURT FOR SMALL GAIN

Oils led advances in an erratic New York market which had a wild speculative flavor. Railroads had a spurt for small gains. Money renewed at 5½, then dropped to 5 per cent.

National Lead set a record for all time, lifting 3½ at 115.

Doheny oils all made new year's highs. Mexican Petroleum was up 11½ at 205½. Pan-American A added 5⅝ at 89⅞, and the B 5¼ at 87⅞.

NEW YEAR'S TOPS.

New tops for 1922 were also made by Timken Roller Bearing, up 1⅝ at 33¼, and U. S. Industrial Alcohol, up 3⅞ at 68⅞.

American Radiator lifted 2 at 129, where it was at its previous high.

Standard Oil of New Jersey sold up 8 at 241, moving in response to frenzied buying and profit-taking most of the day. After touching its high, it yielded its gains, then swept forward.

Reading took on 2⅛ at 80⅝, and Delaware & Lackawanna 2⅝ at 141⅝.

U. S. Realty sagged 5 at 85½, but rallied.

BIG MARINE UP.

Marine preferred stepped up 2⅛ at 62⅝.

Stocks moved forward with greater uniformity toward the end of the morning. Realizing was checked in the speculative favorites, which had been under pressure on Tuesday's reaction, and bullish demonstrations went ahead in many sections of the market.

Rails showed greater activity than at any time on the current move. Union Pacific made a new high on the move at 151⅞, and Norfolk & Western at 122¼. Mexican Petroleum's buying was based on expectation of an extra dividend, which speculative reports placed as high as $25 in cash and 25 per cent. in stock.

Foreign Bonds Have Irregular Movements

In the New York market, foreign bonds were particularly erratic. Danish municipal 8s, series A, Seine 7s, Lyons 6s and Bordeaux 6s moved to higher ground. The last two at gains of a point or more, while Paris-Lyons mediate. Ranean 6s, Japanese 4s and Marseilles WYs were sold at concessions.

Liberty issues held steady.

Wall St. Gossip

W. J. WOLLMAN & CO.—Look for market to steady, with more conservative issues assuming leadership, especially equipments, public utilities, United States Steel and perhaps some of the independent steels.

MOON MOTOR directors are scheduled to meet in December and it is the belief of banking interests associated with the company that present $1 annual dividend rate will either be increased or extra dividend declared.

PRINCE & WHITELY—In making purchases do not forget the rails are way behind the rest of the market.

J. S. BACHE & CO.—We can look for strength in rails, coppers, tires, fertilizers and agricultural implements, another move in tobaccos and further strength in steels.

CORN PRODUCTS' bulging surpluses are to be passed out in a stock dividend or some other melon route, according to the self-styled wise ones.

MARINE PREFERRED dividend is now generally considered safe, despite pessimistic forecasting.

TEXAS GULF SULPHUR is at present selling price on assumption it will increase annual dividend rate $1 a share.

U. S. STEEL would not surprise one group of its backers if it went skyrocketing to 120.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY preferred will get its 5 per cent. dividend in the next thirty days, say the rail analysists, who declare tape plainly confirms.

SINCLAIR interests have closed contract for over 600 miles of eight-inch pipe with Eastern steel mills and 20 traction ditchers, to lay pipe line from Salt Creek to Kansas.

GENERAL MOTORS dividend action is now looked for around the end of the year, all bank loans of corporation being cleaned up.

MEX PETE'S net earnings in September were about $6,250,000, according to E. L. Doheny, chairman, just returned from vacation in California. October earnings are running higher.

NEW YORK CENTRAL'S September net operating income will approximate $4,400,000, or within $1,000,000 of the net for the same month, 1921.

AMERICAN LOCOMOTIVE will, it is persistently reported, declare a 1923 stock dividend. Concern at close of 1921 had $42,000,000 working capital, against capital of $50,000,000.

COCA-COLA CO. is expected to earn about $7,500,000 before depreciation, taxes and preferred dividend this year, which, after deductions, would allow $11.60 a share on common.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange had the following range:

(Figures after dividend paying stocks signify yield in dollars.

Stocks	Open	High	Low	Close
Adams Ex	60	60	60	60
Adv Rum pr (3)	54	54	54	54
Air Reduc Co (4)	63	63½	63	63½
Ajax Rubber	15⅝	15⅝	15	15⅝
Alaska Juneau	¾	1½	1½	1½
Allis-Chal (4)	47½	47⅞	47	47
Allied Chem (4)	84½	85½	84½	85¼
Allied Chem pr (7)	114	114	114	114
Am Bank Note	74⅝	75	74⅝	74⅝
Am Beet Sugar	44	45½	44	45½
Am Br Shoe (4)	88	88⅞	88	88½
Am Can	67¼	67⅝	66⅛	67¼
Am Car & Fy	195	196	194	194
Am Cotton Oil	26¼	26⅛	25⅝	25⅝
Am Cotton O pr	58	58	58	58
Am Drug Syn	6¼	6¼	6⅛	6⅛
Am Express	149	154	148½	152⅝
Am Ice (7)	115	115⅛	114	114
Am Ice pr (6)	91¼	91½	91¼	91¼
Am Int Corp	36	37½	35⅝	36¼
Am Linseed	38⅝	38⅝	38⅛	38½
Am Loco (6)	132¼	133½	131⅛	132½
Am Metal Co (3)	48⅝	48½	48⅝	48⅝
Am Radiator (4)	128	129	122⅞	123⅞
Am Safety R (50c)	7	7	6⅝	6⅞
Am Ship & Com	21¼	21⅝	21	21⅛
Am Smelter	61½	61⅝	60⅛	60⅝
Am Smelt pr	100	100	100	100
Am Stem Pap (4)	44⅛	44⅛	44⅛	44⅛
Am Sugar	80	81	80	80
Am Sum Tob	38½	38½	38⅛	38½
Am Sum Tob pr	65¼	65¼	65¼	65¼
Am Tel & Tel (9)	[illegible]	123¾	123	123¼
do rights	3⅞	4	3¾	4
Am Tobacco (12)	163	163½	162⅞	162⅞
Am W W & E 7 pr	90½	90½	90½	90½
Am W W & E pr	52½	53	52½	52½
Am Wool (7)	101⅝	102½	101⅛	101½
Am Zinc	19	19	18⅞	18⅞
Am Zinc pr	52¼	53½	52½	52⅞
Anaconda	51⅞	52⅛	51½	51⅝
Asso Dry G (4)	61½	61½	60⅛	60⅛
Asso Oil	124	124	121⅞	121⅞
Atchison (6)	106¼	107⅝	106⅛	107
Atchison pr (5)	92⅝	92⅞	92⅝	92⅞
At Birm & Atl	⅜	½	⅜	½
At Coast Line (7)	120⅛	121	120⅛	120⅛
At Fruit	2⅛	2⅛	2	2
At Gulf	30⅛	30⅞	30⅛	30⅞
Austin Nichols	34½	35	33½	34½
Baldwin (7)	139¼	139½	137½	138⅛
Balt & Ohio	55⅛	56	55	55⅝
Balt & Ohio pr (4)	64⅝	64⅝	64⅝	64⅝
Barnsdall A	37½	37⅞	37	37½
Beach Nut PackCo	48½	48½	48	48
Beth B (5)	75	76	75	76
Beth pr (8)	112¼	112½	112¼	112¼
Booth Fish	5⅛	5⅞	5⅛	5⅛
British E Atl 1st pr	75¼	75¼	75¼	75¼
Brooklyn Ed (8)	119⅝	119⅝	118⅝	118⅝
Brooklyn R T	14½	16	14½	16
Brook R T ctfs	13	14¼	12⅞	14
Burns Bros B (3)	46¼	48½	46½	48½
Butte C & Z	4¼	4⅜	4¼	4⅜
Butte Sup	33⅝	33⅞	33⅝	33⅞
Butterick	21	21	21	21
Cal & Arizona (3)	61	62½	61	61
Cal Pete	64	64⅞	63	63⅝
Cal Pet pr (7)	96	97	96	97
Callahan Zinc	9¼	9¼	8⅞	9
Can Pac (10)	146⅞	148	146⅛	147¼
Cer de Pasco	40¼	40⅞	39⅞	39⅞
Cent Leather	40¾	40⅞	38⅛	38⅞
Cent Leather pr	78⅝	78⅝	77⅛	77⅛
Chandler (6)	61⅛	62¼	61⅛	62⅛
Ches & Ohio (4)	73⅝	74⅛	73⅛	73⅛
Chi & Alton	2⅞	2⅞	2⅞	2⅞
Chi & Alton pr	4⅞	4⅞	4⅞	4⅞
Chi & E Ill pr	60⅞	62	60⅞	62
Chi & Gt West pr	14⅞	14⅞	14⅞	14⅞
C M & St P	32⅞	33	32⅞	32⅞
C M & St P pr	50⅝	51⅛	50⅝	50⅞
Chi Norhw (5)	92	93	92	92
Chi Pneu Tool (8)	82	87⅞	82	87⅛
C R I & Pac	44	45	43⅞	43⅞
C R I & Pac pr (6)	91⅞	91⅞	91⅞	91⅞
C R I & Pac pr (7)	100	100	100	100
Chile Cop	25⅞	26⅛	25⅞	25⅞
Chino Copper	29	29	28⅞	28⅞
C C C & St L Ry pr	97½	98	97½	97½
Cluett Peabody	62	62⅞	62	62⅞
Coca Cola (4)	77	77	76	77
Col Fuel	32	32	32	32
Col G & E (6)	108⅝	109⅝	108⅝	109
Col Graph	3	3	3	3
Col Southern (3)	48	49	48	48
Comp T & R (6)	70⅝	71⅝	70⅝	71⅞
Con Can	90	90	89	90
Con Cigar	40¼	40¼	39⅛	40
Con Gas (8)	138⅝	139⅝	138⅛	139
Con Textile	10⅝	10⅝	10½	10⅝
Corn Products (6)	123⅝	124⅝	122⅛	124
Corn Products pr	120	120	120	120
Cosden (2½)	47¼	47⅝	46⅞	46⅞
Crucible	87⅜	88	87	87⅜
Cuban Am Sug	22⅞	23⅛	22⅝	22⅞
Cub Am Sug pr	98½	98½	98½	98½
Cuban Cane Sugr	14½	14⅝	14	14⅝
Cuban Cane Sug pr	37⅜	38⅛	37⅜	38⅛
Davison Chem	45	46	44	45⅛
De Beers	22⅞	23½	22⅞	23⅞
Del & Lack (3½)	140⅝	141⅞	139⅝	140
Dome Mines (2)	38⅝	38⅝	38⅛	38⅝
Dupont (8)	160	165	160	163
East Kodak (5)	85	85⅝	85	85⅝
Elec Storage (3)	55⅛	55⅛	54⅝	55⅛
End Johnson (5)	86⅝	86⅝	85⅞	86
Erie	16	16⅛	15⅞	15⅞
Erie 1 pr	24½	25⅛	24⅛	24⅞
Erie 2 pr	18½	18⅞	18⅛	18⅛
Famous Play (8)	97¼	97¼	96½	96½
Freeport Tex	22⅛	22⅛	22	22
G A Tank (3)	68	68	67⅞	67⅞
Gen Asphalt	64	64⅝	63	64
Gen Cigar (6)	79⅝	80½	79⅝	80¼
Gen Elec (8)	182	183	182	182⅞
Gen Motors	15	15	14⅞	15
Goldwyn Pictures	7¼	7⅝	7⅛	7⅛
Goodrich	35⅞	36	35⅛	36
Granby	31½	31¼	31¼	31¼
Gt Northern pr (7)	93½	94¼	92	93⅝
Gt Northn Ore (4)	39½	39⅛	38⅛	38⅞
Gulf States Steel	91½	91¼	90⅛	91
Hartman	85⅛	85⅛	85	85
Hendee Mfg Co	26	26	26	26
Houston Oil	87¼	89⅛	86⅛	86⅛
Homestake (8)	71⅛	71⅛	71⅛	71⅛
Hudson Motor (3)	21¼	21⅛	21	21
Hupp (1)	22½	22½	21⅞	22
Hydraulic Steel	7⅞	8	7⅞	8
Ill Central (7)	114⅝	114⅝	114⅛	114⅛
Ill Cent pr (6)	114	114⅛	114	114⅛
Indiahoma	4¼	4⅛	4⅛	4⅛
Inspiration	38⅛	38⅛	38⅛	38⅛
Int Comb En (2)	27⅞	28⅞	27	27⅞
Int Cons	⅝	⅝	¼	¼
Int Cons pr	⅞	1	⅞	1
Int Harv (5)	100	109⅛	108⅛	109⅛
Int Nickel	16¼	16⅝	16⅛	16⅛
Int Paper	60⅛	61	59⅛	60
Invincible	16⅛	16⅛	16⅛	16⅛
Iron Products	50⅝	50⅝	50	50
Island Oil	⅝	⅝	⅝	⅝
J Kayser	44⅝	45⅛	44⅛	45⅛
Jewel Tea	19⅝	19⅝	19⅛	19⅝
Kan & Gulf	2⅞	3	2⅞	3
Kan City Sou	23⅝	23⅞	23⅛	23⅝
Kelly Spring	42⅞	42⅛	42	42
Kennecott Cop	34⅝	34⅝	34⅝	34⅝
Keystone	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞	7⅞
Lack Steel	82⅞	83⅛	82⅛	82⅛
Lee Tire (3)	26	26	26	26
Lehigh Val (3½)	69⅝	69⅝	68⅝	69⅛
Lima Loco (3½)	61¼	61⅞	60½	60⅛
Loews	21½	21⅝	20⅞	21⅛
Loft	12⅞	12⅞	12⅛	12⅛
Loose Wiles	61⅞	61⅞	60	60
Louisv & Nash (7)	137⅝	138⅛	137⅛	138⅛
Mack Truck	58⅝	58⅝	58	58
Mack Tr 1st pr (7)	94	94	94	94
Magna Copper Co	33½	33½	33	33⅛
Mallinson	34	34	33⅝	33⅞
Marland Oil (4)	29⅝	29⅝	29	29⅝
Marine	14⅝	14⅞	14¼	14¼
Marine pr (6)	60	62½	60	61
Martin Parry (2)	29⅝	30	29⅛	29⅛
Max Mot A	56⅝	57½	56⅛	56⅞
Max Mot B	17¼	17⅞	17⅛	17½
May Stores (8)	137	137	136	136
McIntyre Porc (1)	17	18	17	18
Mex Petrol (12)	196½	205	196½	199
Mex Seabd Oil (6)	15⅝	17⅝	15⅝	17⅛
Mex Sbd Oil cts (6)	14⅛	16	14⅛	15⅝
Miami (2)	28	28	28	28
Midvale	34¼	35⅛	34⅛	35⅛
Mid State (1.50)	13⅞	13⅞	13	13⅞
M K T	17⅝	17⅞	17⅝	17⅞
M K T pr	45	45⅛	45	45
Mo Pacific	21½	21½	21½	21½
Mo Pacific pr	58¼	59	58½	58½
Mont M (1)	17	17	16⅞	16⅞
Mont Power (3)	72	72½	72	72
Mont Ward	21⅞	21⅞	21½	21⅞
Mother Lode	10⅞	10½	10½	10½
Nat Biscuit (7)	210	211¼	204	208
Nat En & S pr	65½	65⅝	64½	64½
Nat Lead (7)	112½	114½	112½	113½
Nevada Cons	16	16	15⅞	15⅞
New Haven	30½	30½	30½	30½
N Y Central (6)	97½	98½	97½	97½
N Ont T & Mex (6)	31⅝	32	31	31
Norf & West (7)	121	121½	120	121½
North Am (4)	98	100½	98	98½
Nor Am pr (3)	47	47	46½	46½
Northern Pacif (5)	86½	86⅝	86½	86½
Okla P & R	2½	2½	2½	2½
Orpheum	24⅝	24⅞	24½	24½
Otis Ele	161½	165	161½	163
Owens Bottle (3)	40⅞	40⅞	40⅞	40⅞
Pac Devel	2⅞	3⅞	2⅞	2⅞
Pac G & E (5)	85½	85⅝	85½	85⅞
Pac Oil (3)	57¼	57⅞	57	57
Pan Am Pet (6)	86	89½	86	87
Pan Am Pet B (6)	84	87½	84	85
Penn RR (3)	46½	46⅞	46½	46⅞
Penn Seabd Stl	5½	5½	4⅞	5
Peoples Gas	97⅞	97⅞	97½	97½
Pere Marquette	38	38½	35½	35½
Philips Pet (3)	51½	52	50½	50½
Pierce Arrow	14½	14½	14½	14½
Pierce Arrow pr	35	35½	35	35
Pierce Oil	6½	6½	6½	6½
Piggly Wiggly	43	43¼	42⅝	43
Pitts Coal	60⅝	60⅝	59⅞	60
Pitts & W Va	38½	38½	38½	38½
Postum Cereal (5)	110½	111½	110	110½
Press Steel Car	91½	91¼	91½	91½
Prod & Ref	47½	47½	46½	46½
Pub Serv (4)	95	95½	94½	95½
Pub Serv pr	105⅝	105⅝	105⅝	105¼
Pullman (8)	129⅝	129½	129⅝	129½
Punta Sugar	47⅝	8¼	7½	8¼
Pure Oil (3)	31½	31½	31	31½
Pure Oil 8 pr	99⅝	100	99⅝	99½
Ray Con	14⅞	14⅞	14⅝	14¼
Reading (4)	79	80⅝	79½	80
Reading 2d pr	53	53	53	53
Remington Type	35½	35½	36½	35½
Replogle Steel	33⅛	34½	33	33½
Rep Iron & Stl	59	60½	59	59½
Reynolds Tob B (3)	56	57	56	57
Royal Dutch (4.18)	58	58⅝	58	58⅝
St Jos Lead	19	19	19	19
St L & S F	28⅝	28½	28½	28½
St L & Sow	32½	33½	32¾	33½
St L & Sow pr	52	53	52	52½
Savage Arms	17	19⅝	17	18¾
Saxon Mot	4⅛	4⅛	4⅛	4⅛
Seaboard Air L	6½	6½	6½	6½
Seaboard Air pr	11	11½	11	11½
Sears Roebuck	89½	89½	88⅝	88½
Shell T&T (1.65⅝)	37½	37½	37½	37½
Shell Un pr (6)	93	93	93	93
Sinclair Oil (2)	35⅝	36⅞	35⅝	35⅝
Sinclair pr (8)	101½	101¼	100⅝	100½
Skelly Oil Co	10⅝	11	10½	10½
Southern Pac (6)	94⅝	95½	94½	94½
Southern Ry	25⅞	26⅛	25⅞	25⅞
Southern Ry pr	65	66	65	65½
Spicer	19½	19½	19½	19½
Standard Milling	131	131	131	131
Stand Oil Cal (4)	127½	128	126½	127½
Standard Oil (5)	236	241¼	234½	236½
Standard Oil pr	117⅞	118⅛	117	118⅛
Steel Tube	15⅝	17½	15⅝	16
Steel Tube pr (7)	82	82	82	82
Sterling (3)	56	56	56	56
Stewart-War (3)	52	52	52	52
Stromberg (4)	57	57	57	57
Studebaker (11½)	134½	135⅛	133⅝	135½
Sub Boat	7⅛	7½	7½	7½
Superior Oil	6½	6½	5⅞	6½
Sweets Co	2⅛	2½	2½	2½
Tenn Copper	9⅝	9⅝	9⅝	9⅝
Texas & Pacific	29½	29½	29½	29½
Texas Co (3)	50⅞	51½	50½	50⅞
Tex Gulf Sulp (4)	59	59½	59	59
Tex P C & Oil (1)	25⅞	26	25⅝	25¾
Third Ave	19½	20½	19½	20½
Tidewater Oil	149½	149½	149½	149½
Timken R B (3)	32	33½	31	33¼
Tob Prod	61	61½	61	61
Tob Prod A (7)	85	85½	84⅝	85½
Toledo S L & W	74	74	74	74
Tol S L & W pr	61½	61½	61½	61½
Transcont Oil	14½	14½	14½	14½
Twin City	59½	59½	59½	59½
Union Oil	18¼	18½	18	18¼
Union Pac (10)	150½	152¼	150	151½
Union Tank	122	122	122	122
Union Tank pr	111½	111⅝	111	111
United Drug	82½	82½	82	82
United Ry Inv	14	14	14	14
United Ry Inv pr	30½	30½	30½	30½
Un Retail Stores	80⅝	81	80½	80⅝
U S Food	6½	6½	6½	6½
U S I Alcohol	65	68½	65	67⅞
U S I alcohol pr	99	99	99	99
U S R & Imp	91½	91½	85⅝	87⅝
U S Rubber	53⅝	53⅞	53½	53⅝
U S Rubber pr (8)	100½	100½	100½	100½
U S Smelt & R	42½	42½	41¾	42½
U S Smelt pr	47	47	47	47
U S Steel (5)	107¼	107¾	106½	107¼
U S Steel pr (7)	122½	122½	122	122⅝
Utah Copper	67	67	65⅝	66½
Utah Sec	21	21	11	21
Vanadium	46⅝	46⅝	44½	44⅞
Va-Caro Chem pr	66	66	66	66
Viradudou	13	13	12⅝	12¾
Wabash	11⅝	12	11⅜	11⅝
Wabash A pr	32	32½	32	32½
Weber & Heil	12	12⅝	12	12
Wells Fargo	91	92¼	91	92¼
West Elec pr (4)	109½	109½	109½	109½
West Maryland	14½	14½	14	14
Western Md 2d pr	22½	22½	22⅝	22⅞
West Pacific	17⅝	17⅝	17⅝	17⅝
Western Union (7)	116½	116½	116½	116½
Westing Air Br	99½	99½	99½	99½
Westinghouse (4)	62½	62⅞	62½	62⅞
Wheel & L E	12	12⅜	12	12⅜
White Eagle (2)	30¼	32½	30¼	32¼
White Motor (4)	50⅜	50½	50	50
White Oil	6½	6½	6¼	6¼
Wickwire	10½	11	10½	11
Willys-Overland	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝	6⅝
Willy-Over pr	40½	40½	40½	40½
Wilson	43	43	43	43
Wilson pr	88½	88½	88½	88½
Wis Central	30⅞	31	30½	31
Woolworth pr	125	125	125	125
Worthington	38⅝	38⅝	38⅝	38⅝
Worthington pr B	69½	69½	69½	69½
Wright Aero (1)	10½	10½	10½	10½

DISAPPOINT HOLDERS OF WOOLWORTH

F. W. Woolworth Co. directors have voted to call for retirement on February 3, 1923, all outstanding 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock at 125. Funds will be provided from cash on hand, and no new financing is required.

Stockholders had been expecting an extra cash or stock dividend on the common at this meeting, but the directors felt it a better policy to use a large part of current cash surplus for elimination of preferred stock.

DEMAND STERLING QUOTATION FIRM

Demand sterling was firm at 4.43¾. Other demands were: France, .0755; lire, .026⅝; Belgian francs, .696; marks, .0003¾; drachmas, .0318; Swiss francs, .1868; guilders, .3887; pesetas, .152; Sweden kronen, .2658; Norway, .1787; Denmark .2029.

Profit with Safety

How $40 to $125 controls 100 shares of any listed stock is explained in our booklet

STOCK PRIVILEGES

Many profit opportunities exist in present market. Send for free copy.

ROBERTS & CO. 80 Broad Street New York.

COPPERS SAG IN WEAK BOSTON MARKET

Coppers sold lower on the Boston Stock Exchange with no visible reasons for their shading. Ahmeek sagged most, losing 2 at 61. Changes continued recessions noted in the past few days in several instances.

Copper Range went back ⅝ at 39. Quincy ¼ at 39 and East Butte ⅛ at 9⅝. East Butte then sold at 9⅞.

Old Dominion yielded 1½ at 22, and Allouez 1 at 23. Calumet & Hecla, after raising 1⅝ at 61⅝, sacrificed most of its gain.

Boston & Maine was off 1 at 23½. United Fruit 2⅝ at 152, Amoskeag 1 at 107, and Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Trust certificates 1½ at 34.

Island Creek Coal was up 1½ at 104*.

Packers were mixed. Swift & Co. chipped ⅛ at 109 and Swift International lifted ⅛ at 22⅝.

New Haven receded ⅛ at 30⅛, then gained ⅛, while Boston & Albany took on ¼ at 148⅝, then sold at 148.

Edison went up 1 at 180½. American Woolen preferred ⅝ at 110⅝, and Ventura Oil ⅛ at 29½. Connor Stores yielded ⅛ at 23⅝.

Boston Stocks

Prices on the Boston Stock Exchange had the following range:

Stocks	Open	High	Low	Close
Adventure Cons	50c	50c	50c	50c
Ahmeek	61	61	61	61
Allouez	23	23	23	23
Am Sugar pr	108½	108½	108½	108½
Am Tel & Tel	123¼	123⅝	122⅞	123⅛
do rights	3⅞	4	3⅞	3⅞
Am Woolen pr	110⅞	110⅞	109⅞	109⅞
Am Zinc	19	19	19	19
Amoskeag	108	108	105	105
Anaconda	52	52	51⅞	51⅞
Arcadian Cons	3	3	3	3
Ari Metals	15	15	15	15
Bingham Mines	18	18½	18	18
Boston & Albany	148⅝	149	148	148
Boston & Maine	23⅝	23⅝	23	23
B M I pr Cl A	35⅝	36	35⅝	36
Boston Elevated	86	86	86	86
Boston Elev 2 pr	106⅝	106⅝	106⅛	106⅛
Cal & Arizona	60	61½	60	60½
Carson Hill Min	5	5	5	5
Centennial	9	9	9	9
Chicago June pr	95½	95½	95½	95½
Copper Range	39⅝	39⅝	39	39½
East Butte	9⅝	9⅝	9⅝	9⅝
East Mfg Co	10	10	10	10
East Steamship	84	84	83⅝	83⅝
East Mass Ry pr	70⅝	70⅝	70⅝	70⅝
East Mass Ry B	54½	54½	54	54
East Mass Ry T ct	34	34	34	34
Edison Electric	180	180⅝	180	180½
Elder Corp	10⅝	11½	10⅝	11¼
Galv Houston Elec	31	31	31	31
Gray & Davis	12½	12½	12½	12½
Greenfield Tap	20½	20½	20½	20½
Helvetia	90c	90c	90c	90c
Hood Rubber	48½	49	48½	49
Int Cement Corp	32½	32½	32½	32½
Int Cotton Mills	24	24	24	24
Island Creek	103	104½	103	104½
Isle Royale	22⅝	22⅝	22⅝	22⅝
J T Conner Co	24½	25	24½	24½
do rights	1⅛	1¼	1⅛	1⅛
Kerr Lake	3⅛	[illegible]	[illegible]	[illegible]
Libby McNeil	8⅝	9	8⅝	9
Maine Central	52	52	52	52
Mass Cons	2½	2½	2½	2½
Mass Gas	88	88⅝	87⅝	87⅝
Mass Gas pr	72½	72½	72	72
Mayflower-O C	3⅛	3⅛	3	3
Mergenthaler	180	180	179⅝	180
Boston Mex Pet	15	16	15c	15c
Max Tel Co	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝
Miss Riv Power	31½	31½	31	31½
Mohawk	60	60	60	60
National Leather	9	9½	8⅝	9
New Cornelia	18	18	18	18
N E Oil Corp	1¼	1¼	1¼	1¼
N E Telephone	120	120	120	120
New Haven RR	30½	30⅝	30⅛	30⅝
Nipissing	5⅞	6	5⅞	6
Old Dominion	22	22	22	22
Orpheum Circuit	25⅝	25⅝	25	25
Pacific Mills	159	159	159	159
Pond Creek	20	20	20	20
Quincy	39	39	39	39
Shannon Cop	70c	70c	70c	70c
Simms Mag Co	3	3	3	3
South Phos Corp	7	7	7	7
Swift & Co	108⅝	109⅛	108⅝	109
Swift Internat	23	23	22⅝	23⅛
Torrington	42	42	42	42
Trin Cop Corp	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝	1⅝
United Drug	82½	82½	82½	82½
United Drug 1st pr	50	50½	50	50½
United Fruit	152½	152½	152½	152½
U Shoe Mach	43½	43½	43½	43½
U S Smelting	42½	42½	42½	42½
U S Smelting pr	47½	47½	47	47½
U S Steel	107¼	107⅞	107	107
U S Steel pr	122½	122½	122½	122½
Utah Apex	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛	2⅛
Utah Cons	3⅛	3⅛	3	3
Ventura Oil	29½	29½	29	29
Vt & Mass RR	98	98	98	98
Waldorf	32	32½	32	32½
Waltham Watch	7½	7½	6	6
Waltham Watch pr	28	28	28	28
Walworth Mfg Co	12½	12½	12½	12½
Warren Bros	33⅝	33⅝	33⅝	33⅝
Wickwire Spencer	10½	10½	10½	10½
Winona	1½	1½	1½	1½
Wolverine	9	9	9	9
Wyandotte	50c	50c	50c	50c

GOVERNMENT BONDS.

Liberty 3½s	100.34	100.48	100.34	100.48
2 4¼s 1927-42	99.74	99.74	99.74	99.74
3 4¼s 1928	99.84	99.74	99.74	99.74
4 4¼s 1938	99.74	100.10	99.74	100.10
Victory 4¾s	99.94	99.94	99.44	99.44
Vic 4¾s 1923	100.04	100.04	100.04	100.04

BONDS.

Chic June R 4s	83	83	83	83
Mass Gas 4½s1929	95⅛	95⅛	95⅛	95⅛
Miss Riv Pow 5s	95	95	94½	94½
N E Tel 5s	98	98	98	98
Swift & Co 5s	98¼	98⅝	98¼	98⅝
West T & T 5s	97	97	97	97

Sugar Goes Higher

American Sugar Refining Co. has advanced refined 15 points to 6.75 cents.

WE HAVE INQUIRIES IN American Gas & Electric Pfd.

American Glue Co., Com.
Amer. Inv. Sec. Co. Pfd. & Com.
Atlantic City Elec. Co. Pfd.
Atlantic Coast Co.
Commonwealth Gas & Elec. Pfd.
Conn. Light & Power 8% Pfd.
Consumers Power Pfd.
Converse Rubber Shoe Co. Pfd.
Crowell & Thurlow S. S. Co.

A.L.ALBEE & CO.
Members Boston Stock Exchange
15 State St. Boston 9

Interborough Rapid Transit Stock Disposed of

Most of the capital stock of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, 339,128 shares, has just been disposed of for $1,750,000, subject to Federal court approval, at a sale conducted by James M. Sheffield, representing the Empire Trust Company as trustee in bankruptcy for the Interborough Consolidated, the holding organization.

Purchasing offer was made by attorneys representing Grayson M. P. Murphy, Frank L. Polk and Guy E. Tripp, who, in turn, represent a new voting trust to be formed under the new Interborough reorganization plan.

75 P. C. BONUS IN NATIONAL BISCUIT

Directors of National Biscuit Company have voted to submit to stockholders proposition to double authorized common stock and change par value from $100 to $25 a share. After such action they will declare a common stock dividend of 75 per cent., which will give common stockholders seven shares of $25 par for each share of $100 stock now held. Special meeting has been called for November 15.

$105,000,000 LOAN PLANNED BY CHILE

Announcement is made that the government of Chile will receive bids to October 16 on a new $105,000,000 paper peso loan at the embassy at Washington, or at the London legation.

Replies to Investors

Queries of interest to investors will be answered in this column or by mail. Address questions, with stamped and self-addressed envelope, to Frank H. Mcloon, Financial Editor, Boston American, No. 80 Summer street, Boston, Mass.

Eastern Massachusetts Railway.

To M. M. G., Cambridge.—Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway adjustment stock certificates represent stock which is now held by the voting trustees against these certificates and which is to be delivered to the holders in the Spring of 1924. I believe the voting trustees are to receive a small commission of somewhere around 25 to 50 cents a share on the stock so held in this voting trust.

American Can.

To T. E. G., Worcester—I do not look for an early initial dividend on common stock of American Can. This issue made a new year's high at week's opening. It is speculative. Products of American Can are not confined to containers for vegetables, fruits, meats, etc. Company also makes oil containers for smaller oil companies, containers for dry-pack goods, cereals, milk, spices, cocoa, drugs and similar products.

Boston Curb Issues.

To S. A. D., Allston Street—Highs and lows in Boston Curb issues for which you inquire have been as follows for year to date:

Alpha	45c	3c
Bagdad Silver	15c	4c
Bay State Gas	11c	4c
Boston Ely	95c	40c
Boston & Montana	94c	8c
Eureka	41c	10c
First National	1⅛	50c
Gadsden	1⅛	30c
Homo Oil	10c	3c
N E Fuel	70¼	42½
New Ellis	1 3-16	40c
Ruby Cons	50c	27c
Seven Metals	9c	3c
Shea Copper	1⅛	79c
So. States	35c	8c
Texana	9c	4c
United Verde Ext	31¼	26⅛
Verde Central	1⅛	1⅛
Verde Mines	46c	30c

Boston Curb

Boston Curb prices were:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Last.
Alpha Mines	10c	10c	10c	10c
Bagdad Silver	11c	11c	11c	11c
Bay State Gas	7c	7c	7c	7c
Boston & Mont	12c	13c	12c	12c
Chief Cons Min	5½	5½	5½	5½
Colorado M & L	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛	1⅛
Crystal Cop	1 7-16	1 7-16	1 7-16	1 7-16
Eureka Croesus	27c	28c	27c	27c
Gold Road	30c	32c	30c	31c
Iron Cap	6¼	6¼	6¼	6¼
Mohican Cop	24c	24c	23c	23c
Mut Dl of Mass T	14c	14c	14c	14c
New Ellis Min	1 1-16	1 1-16	1 1-16	1 1-16
Shea Copper	92c	92c	92c	92c
So States Cons	12c	12c	12c	12c
Texana Oil	8c	8c	8c	8c
Un Verde Ext	28½	28½	28½	28½
Verde Cent Cop	2½	2 5-16	2½	2 5-16
Verde Mines	35c	35c	35c	35c

G.F.Redmond & Co. Inc.

STOCKS & BONDS

Market Letter Service Reports

19 Congress Street BOSTON

Tel. Congress 6700

New York Detroit Cleveland Chicago Baltimore

Direct Private Wires

AGASSIZ LIKES OUTLOOK FOR COPPER

R. L. Agassiz of Boston, president of the Copper Export Association, on leaving London for the United States, said he was "really encouraged" after concluding a study of the market in Europe for American copper.

"Despite the supply of scrap," he said, "France has already reached pre-war consumption, and English buying is increasing. A slow return to copper for uses abandoned during the war can be noted."

Edward Mosehauer, his companion, who visited English factories, said he was told everywhere that British business had turned the corner. Collapse of the mark had failed so far to affect German consumption by large companies.

German General Electric Company is using 2,500 to 3,000 tons monthly, and other large consumers are buying as usual. They are able to pay for it by holding large foreign deposits and partly by using revolving Dutch credit. Mosehauer said he expected a smash in Germany in six months.

Neither Mosehauer nor Agassiz was perturbed over prospect of Russian copper coming on the market through reopening of Russo-Asiatic, Ltd.'s mines. They said they doubted if Russia could be reckoned as a factor for five years, and pointed out that even before the war Russia did not produce enough for her own needs.

PRICES IRREGULAR IN GRAIN MARKET

Prices were irregular in the Chicago pit. Wheat sold ⅝ lower, corn, ¼ off, and oats unchanged to a fraction down. Wheat, December, 107⅝ to 107½; May, 108⅝ to 108½; July, 102½. Corn, December, 62 to 61⅞; May, 64; July, 64.

COTTON FUTURES PRICES ARE FIRM

Prices on New York cotton futures were firm. Quotations were: October, 21.58, up 18; December, 21.90, up 20; January, 21.72, up 16; March, 21.86 up 16; May, 21.82, up 17.

25 P. C. STOCK BONUS BY INSURANCE FIRM

Great American Insurance Co. is to increase capital stock from $10,000,000 to $12,500,000 by 25 per cent. stock dividend.

Unlisted Stocks

(Quotations furnished by A. L. Albee & Co., No. 15 State street, Boston.)

	Bid	Asked
Adirondack Pr & Lt pfd 7 p c	90	96
Am Gas & Elec	174	176
Am Glue Co pfd	123	127
American Hardware Co	195	198
Am Lt & Tr	136	140
Am Mfg Co pfd	82	85
Am Pr & Lt	141	146
Arlington Mills	105	107
Atlantic Coast Co	8	11
B B & R Knight Inc pfd	38	44
Babcock & Wilcox	120	124
Bangor Ry & Elec pfd	96	101
Berkshire Cotton Mfg Co	230	242
Bigelow Hartford pfd	113	114
Booth Mfg Co	147½	155
Boston Belting Co pfd	21	28
Boston Maritime Co	9	12
Brookside Cotton Mills	190	200
Butler Mfg Co	140	146
Cambridge Elec Lt Co	230	238
Caroline Pr & Lt pfd	90	95
Central Me Pr 7 p c pfd	90	96
Central Me Pr com	30	40
Celluloid Co pfd	100	105
Common Gas & El pf	90	97
Conn Mills 1 pf	70	74
Converse Rubber Shoe	90	94
Crowell & Thurlow	4¾	5¾
Dartmouth Mfg Co	270	280
Douglas Shoe Co pf	94	97
Draper Corp	168	170
Ed El Ill of Brockton	184	189
Elec Bond & Share pf	95	97
Emerson Shoe 1 pf	82	84
Esmond Mills pf	95	96
Everett Mills	174	180
Fairbank Morse pf	92½	96
Fall River Elec Lt	128	131
Fall River Gas Lt Co	214	218
Fed Lt & Tr pf	72½	75
Fidelity Cap Corp Units	81¼	85
Fidelity Cap Corp Com	9	11
Fla Corn of N E pf	25	30
Firestone-Apsley Rub	80	90
Fisk Rubber Co 1 pf	82	84
Fitchburg Gas Works	82	85
Gillette Safety Razor	236	241
Goodyear pfd	38	40
Graton & Knight pfd	63½	65
Great Falls Mfg	84	88
Greenfield Tap & Die pfd	92	94
Grow Tire Co	2⅝	3
Guaranty Sec Corp Units	4	5
Hamilton Woolen Co	85	90
Haverhill Elec Co	172	176
Hendra Mfg Co pfd	91	94
Herschell-Spillman pfd	7	9
Herschell-Spillman com	1½	3
Heywood-Wakefield	128	130
Hood Rubber Co pfd	101	105
Ipswich Mills pfd	92	101
Ipswich Mills com	70	75
Laconia Car Co pfd	59	62
Laconia Car Co com	10	12
Lanett Cotton Co	194	200
Lawrence Gas Co	109	112
Lawrence Mfg Co	123	127
Liggetts Int Ltd pfd	54	55½
Lowell Bleachery	150	155
Lowell Gas Lt Co	195	200
Lowney (Walter M) old pfd	7½	8
Ludlow Mfg Co	150	153
Lyman Mills	180	185
Lynn Gas & El	228	240
Mass Cotton Mills	156	161
Mass Ltg Co 8 p c pfd	107	110
Mass Ltg Co 6 p c pfd	82	84
Mass Ltg Co com	90	95
Merrimack Chemical	90	92
Merrimack Hat Corp pfd	20	23
Merrimack Hat Corp com	5	10
Merrimack Mfg Co pfd	92	95
Merrimack Mfg Co com	85	88
Montpelier & Barre pfd	54	56
Nashawena Mills	136	140
Nashua Mfg Co pfd	100	102
N E Guaranty Corp Units	70	80
Nonquitt Spinning Co	90	94
N Boston Light Prop pf	90	94
Northern States pr	98	101
Pacific Mills	155½	157
Pepperell Mfg Co	155	160
Plymouth Cordage Co	154	158
Regal Shoe Co pf	55	57
S H Roberts & s c pf	25	28
Salmon Falls Mfg	96	100
Sanford Mills pf	98	101
Savannah El & Pr	17	19
Springfield Gas Lt Co	193	200
Standard Gas & El	20	22
State Theatre pf	72	82
State Theatre com	6¾	7½
Sullivan Machinery Co	48	52
Taber Mills	140	150
Turners Falls Pr & El	100	104
Union Twist Drill pf	80	85
Union Cotton Mfg Co	210	220
United El Lt (Sp'fld Mass)	225	235
U S Envelope com	118	122
Vermont Milling pf	60	70
Walter Baker Co Ltd	136	138
Boylston Mfg pf	101	103
W Boylston Mfg com	33	39
West Point Mfg Co	117	120
Wickwire Spencer pf	68	71
Worcester Gas Lt Co pf	102	104
Worcester Con St Ry 1 pf	65	71
Yale & Towne Mfg	222	231
York Mfg Co	200	205

STATE ST. NOTES

HORNBLOWER & WEEKS—We are getting a delayed secondary reaction which has been long overdue. It can go further in the high priced stocks, and it logically should go further.

MOHAWK'S copper output, while kept a secret in line with new and much-criticized policy, is said to have been running to date at same rate as last year's, while production costs have been slightly lowered.

SCHULTE RETAIL STORES' head declares there is no likelihood of negotiations being resumed for merger with United Retail Stores.

CALUMET & HECLA in September shipped out of its Lake plants for itself and subsidiaries 8,218,000 pounds of copper. In August shipments amounted to between 6,500,000 and 7,000,000 pounds.

ATCHISON'S loadings for first week of October were 38,362 cars, against 38,094 the previous week and 31,518 a year ago.

BROCKTON will receive proposals until 4 p. m. October 16 for purchase of bonds aggregating $50,000, dated October 1, with maturities between 1923 and 1932 inclusive. Bidder to name interest rate.

SENECA is driving but three of its drifts from the Seneca shaft north toward Gratiot No. 2, these being the third, fifth and seventh. Work in other drifts has been temporarily suspended.

COPPER RANGE mines, mills and smelters have enough coal to carry them through the Winter and until after the opening of navigation in the Spring.

BANGOR & AROOSTOOK preferred was added to Boston Stock Exchange list Tuesday. It is 7 per cent. cumulative dividend stock offered public at 95 recently. In year to June 30 dividend requirements were earned about five and one-half times.

L. SHERMAN ADAMS says of Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway: "Regular dividends should be paid on all securities in not far distant future."

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE'S net profits this year are expected to pass $10 a share, perhaps reach $11, against $9 a share last year. Stock at market yields 6⅝ per cent.

PENROD MILLS of New Bedford has been incorporated under laws of Massachusetts for manufacture of cotton, linen, silk and woolen goods. Authorized capital, 10,000 shares of common of $100 par, of which 8,746 have been issued for cash.

Railroad BONDS

Improving conditions, increased earnings, labor adjustments, heavy traffic, enormous crops, are some of the factors causing intensive interest in railroad bonds.

We have prepared a list of five desirable issues yielding from 7.25% to 11.00%

These also carry an attractive tinge of speculation and should prove remunerative. Data upon request.

Ask for R. R. 4

L. L. WINKELMAN & Co
MEMBERS
Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York
New York Curb Market
62 Broad Street, New York
Telephone: Broad 6470
Direct Private Wires to Branch Offices and all Principal Markets

How Far Will It Go?

How far will the market go? This question is uppermost in the minds of most investors and traders, and in this connection our exhaustive 1,500 word analysis of the situation may be of interest.

Our Market Letter, in addition, also contains several other valuable features, for example, analytical articles on

MIDDLE STATES OIL
AM. ZINC
AM. INTER. CORP.
NORTHERN PACIFIC
CONSOL. TEXTILE
CRESSON GOLD
WEST END CONS.
SIMMS PETE
HEYDEN CHEMICAL

There is a Special Page entitled Events of the Week, an Answers to Inquiries page, an Educational article, 2,000 words, on the Theory of Speculation, and, in fact, the substance of a high grade Magazine.

Send for Free Copy

Withington & Co.
27 State Street, Boston
Private Branch Exchange, Main 7900

LOEW'S BOSTON THEATRES COMPANY

A quarterly dividend of one per cent (1%) has been declared on the Common Stock of Loew's Boston Theatres Company payable on November 15th to stockholders of record as of November 1st.

LOEW'S BOSTON THEATRES COMPANY,
By M. DOUGLAS FLATTERY,
Managing Director.

STATE THEATRE COMPANY

The regular quarterly dividend of two per cent (2%) due up to October 1, 1922, has been declared on the preferred stock of the State Theatre Company, payable on November 15th to stockholders of record as of November 1st.

THE STATE THEATRE COMPANY,
By M. DOUGLAS FLATTERY,
Managing Director.

REAL ESTATE HAPPENINGS

This lot of land at the corner of Peterborough street and Audobon road, containing 18,137 square feet assessed for $36,400, has been sold to Morris Bronstein by Clara G. Brooks. This is one of the best located lots in the Fenway, having a frontage of 130 feet on Audobon road and is subject to park restrictions. This parcel was acquired by the deceased husband of the grantor in 1899, as the site for a home which he planned to erect. Morris Bronstein, the purchaser, is one of the pioneer builders in the Fenway, having erected among others, the apartment houses on Boylston street at the junction of Charlesgate East, near the Historical Society building. He plans the construction of two modern five-story buildings on the property. Mrs. Brooks was represented by F. F. Rounds.

For the State Street Trust, represented by Joseph Balch, John C. Kiley & Company have sold a lot of land on Audobon road, east of Jersey street, containing 20,837 square feet assessed for $28,200. The buyer is Edward Wyner. This lot has a frontage of 125 feet and it is the purchaser's intention to split it into three building lots for resale.

Since March 1, John C. Kiley & Company have sold 221,000 square feet of land in the Fenway, having an assessed value of $331,500. Practically all of the land was purchased for the purpose of building apartment houses.

J. A. Whalen & Company report the sale of the frame three-family dwelling and 4,876 square feet of land at No. 86 Homes avenue, Dorchester, to Elizabeth Warford, who bought for a home and investment. Hanna Mareno was the grantor. The assessed value is $7,700, of which $1,700 is on the land.

The same brokers have sold for ...

READ FOR PROFIT — CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING — USE FOR RESULTS

REAL ESTATE—MISCELLANEOUS

MERRYMOUNT
A Wonderful Place to Live the Year Around
High Class—But NOT High Priced

MERRYMOUNT is so beautiful, so convenient, so unquestionably finer than most developments, the impression has been created that it is a "rich man's" colony. Yet the prices are decidedly moderate—lower, in fact, than in many less desirable sections.

Restricted to single family houses of moderate cost to protect the man who cannot afford to gamble with the location of his home against sudden deteriorating influences which in the past have ruined neighborhoods and investments.

Less Than 10 Minutes from Quincy Square
40 Trains Each Way — 20 Minutes' Ride
Lots, $500 up. Houses, $7,500 to $8,500. Easy Terms.
Phone Granite 2093 or Main 37756, or write for circular.
MERRYMOUNT COMPANY
Pilgrim Boulevard, Quincy — 209 Washington St., Boston

CITY HOUSE LOTS
NOW OFFERED AT BARGAIN PRICES. BIG OPERATOR CLOSING OUT HIS ENTIRE HOLDINGS. NO REASONABLE OFFER REFUSED. SALE ON THIS WEEK AND NEXT.
BOSTON HEIGHTS and annex on Centre st., West Roxbury, will be sold in single and double lots to first-comers; clean garden lots with city water, sewer, electric lights, on 40-foot street, will be sold as low as $300, many other lots at your own terms; $25 deposit required at time of sale, balance $5 to $10 monthly; 15 per cent discount for all cash; no payment required when sick or out of work; free sand or gravel while it lasts; in built-up, respectable, mixed American neighborhood; near cars, trains, stores and churches; also a few lots on and near Charles River, and also 6-room house at big bargain if sold this week. Will show them every afternoon and Sunday. From Forest Hill Elevated Station take car marked "Washington to Grove st." to end of line. Office 235 Grove st. See MR. MEYER.

PLUMBING SUPPLIES
Direct to You. Fact'y Prices
STATE SUPPLY CO.
19 UNION STREET, BOSTON
Phone Rich. 166

ROXBURY LAND
FOR STORES, GARAGES, APARTMENTS. Walnut av. and Townsend st., 20,000 sq. ft., frontage 279 ft., price 30c. foot. CRUFF & BYRNE, 2370 Washington st.

REAL ESTATE AUCTIONS

Washington Street Land At Auction

Saturday, October 14, at 3 P. M.

JOHN C. KILEY & CO.
15 Tremont St., Boston

AUCTION SALE

$1,500 DOWN

HODGDON & SON REAL ESTATE & INSURANCE
93 BROADWAY—SOMERVILLE

Furnished Rooms

BACK BAY

BATAVIA ST., 24 — Newly furnished rooms to let.

ST. BOTOLPH ST., 125—Pleasant, newly furnished rooms, steam heat, run. hot water.

DORCHESTER

FURN. large front room, steam heat; privileges. Edw. Everett Sq.; 1724-W South Boston.

BLUE HILL AV., 86—Light housekeeping rooms, gentlemen preferred.

MEDFORD

BROOKVIEW RD., 195—To let, front furnished rooms, housekeeping privileges if desired, steam heat, electric lights, gas, private family, near Fellsway cars. Phone Mystic 0281.

ROXBURY

AKRON ST., 32—Near Terminal; furnished room in private family; bathroom floor.

EUSTIS ST., 143—2 fur. rooms for housekeeping, 3 minutes from Dudley st., private family.

COPELAND ST., 7—Corner Warren; Suite 8; s. h., cont. h. w., elec lights, h keeping privileges.

ROXBURY ST., 130—Two connecting rooms heated and furnished complete for light housekeeping on bathroom floor, separate toilets; also large parlor on street floor. Telephone Roxbury 5200 W.

SOUTH END

Apartments

BEACON HILL

ROXBURY

WINTHROP

Male Help Wanted

The New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Company

MEN WANTED

Regular positions for competent men whose work is satisfactory as:

Machinists	66-75c per hour
Boilermakers	67-75c per hour
Blacksmiths	66-75c per hour
Armature Winders	65-75c per hour
Carpenters & Joiners	63-73c per hour
Car Inspectors and Repair Men	63c per hour
Helpers, first year	45c per hour

The above rates are those agreed upon with the committee of the Mechanical Department Association.

This is not a strike against the railroad; it is a strike waged against a reduction in rates of pay ordered by the United States Railroad Labor Board effective July 1, 1922.

Apply Room 479
South Station, Boston
Open 8 A. M. to 6 P. M.

Up to $100 Weekly
Are you a $100 a week calibre salesman?
If you are, one of America's fastest growing concerns has an opening for you on its Sales Staff.
Applicants must be over 25 years old and must have real ambition to succeed.
See MR. LORD.
The L. R. Steele Service Corp.
1006-9 Old South Bldg. - - Boston

SHOE FACTORY
WANTED
Experienced McKay Wood Heelers on Women's Shoes
VICTORIA SHOE CO.
16 NEW STREET, EAST BOSTON

10 High-Class Solicitors
On large daily paper. Permanent positions to men who can qualify. See MR. ROONEY, Room 2, 51 Summer St.; 8 to 9—4 to 6.

SHOE FACTORY
WANTED—EXPERIENCED
PURITAN FAIR STITCHERS
ON WOMEN'S SHOES
VICTORIA SHOE CO.
16 NEW STREET, EAST BOSTON

TYPEWRITER repair man wanted; experienced man; one familiar with the L. C. Smith machine preferred, but would consider any experienced man. Apply at once. L. C. SMITH & BROS. TYPEWRITER CO., 33 Franklin st.

Female Help Wanted

Stitchers
ON single needle Singer machine; good pay to start. THE SILVERITE CO., 51 Highst., city.

YOUNG GIRL WANTED
TO SEW ON tickets. MARK ANDREWS & CO., Men's Clothing Manufacturers, 65 Bedford st., Boston.

PAPER BOXES

LAUNDRY HELP

OPERATORS

GIRL STITCHERS WANTED

MALE HELP—MISCELLANEOUS

Male Help Wanted

COLLEGE MEN HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS

Do You Want to Earn Extra Money?

Large Boston concern has a few openings for high school boys and college men to represent it during their spare time. Work consists of selling to a list of live prospects in your own town. Liberal commissions paid on all sales.

A Chance to Earn Money and Learn a Profitable Profession

Write giving age, selling experience if any, telephone number, etc., to
A 150 BOSTON AMERICAN
80 Summer St., Boston

VARNISH RUBBERS

Free Opening Classes
Monday, October 16
Send For Catalog and Free Pass
Y. M. C. A. AUTO SCHOOL

WOODSMEN

7 AUTO LESSONS $5

Chair Packers

Sausage Room Help

PAPER BOXES

Experienced Hand Pressers

Legal and Public Notices

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE AL COREY

DETECTIVES

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS —IN THE— BOSTON AMERICAN. FOR QUICK SERVICE CALL MAIN 5180.

Misc. Classifications

AUCTION SALES

DISSOLUTION SALE
Formerly the equipment of the W. H. Sweeney Mfg. Co., Inc., retiring.
Consisting of their extremely large stock of

FINISHED GOODS, RAW MATERIAL
MACHINERY, FIXTURES, DIES, ETC.
Manufacturers of the highest grade of Aluminum, Brass, Copper, Nickel and Silver Plated Cooking and Household Utensils, including Hotel Ware.

5,000 SETS OF DIES
for Drawing, Blanking, Stamping, Combination Sets, Cover Dies, in fact, a most complete assortment of Dies for Tea and Coffee Pots, Bowls, Trays, round, oblong and oval; Bathroom Fixtures of every description, Table Sundries, etc., etc.

MACHINE, STAMPING & TINNING SHOP
4 Bliss Toggle Presses, Nos. 1½, 3½ and 4; 75 Bliss, Hibbard and other Power Presses, from 18 Bliss to No. 21; Horning Presses, Bliss Turning and Finishing Lathes, Power Square Shears, Electric Driven Grinders, Double Action Power Presses; 35 Power Beaders, Slitters, Swedges, Groovers, Square Shears, Rolls, Screw Presses, Punching Presses; Wiring Presses, Seamers, Jones Power Presses, Foot Presses, 2-Spindle Drill, Portable Crane; 5 Drop Hammers, from 250 to 1,000 lbs. capacity; Baling Presses, Drill Presses, Shapers, Lathes, Hacksaws, Double Seamers; 12 D. C. Motors, from 1 to 40 H. P.; 3 Rolling Mills, fully equipped, with Engraved Plates; Bliss and Pryibil Turning, Beading and Spinning Lathes, Wire Straighteners, Bandsaw, Screw Machines; large quantity of Wood Chucks, Automatic Seamers, Riveters, Blacksmith Equipment.

PLATING AND POLISHING ROOM
5 World Dynamos, Nos. 2, 3 and 4; 15 Tanks; enormous quantity of Silver, Copper, Brass and Nickel Annodes; Tumbling Barrels, Automatic Polishing Lathes, Blower System, 25 Column Buffs, Grinders, Folders, Scoring Lathe.

OFFICE
200 feet of Sliding-Door Plate Glass Wall Cases, Silent Salesmen, 25 Roll and Flat Top Desks, Typewriters, Office Partition, Safes, Adding Machines, Office Chairs and other Office Equipment.

WILLIAM A. TOBIAS, Auct'r,
Sells TUESDAY, OCT. 17, 1922, at 11 A. M. Sharp, on the Premises,
66 to 72 WATER ST., Corner MAIN ST., BROOKLYN, N. Y.
AUCTIONEER'S OFFICE, 384 BROADWAY. TELEPHONE CANAL 5178.
Catalogues of this sale can be obtained at Auctioneer's Office.

DERMATOLOGY

Nasal Defects Corrected

Hump. Corrected. Dent. Corrected.

GIBSON PLASTO-COSMETIC METHOD

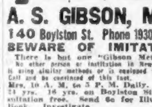

Lifting the Face

A. S. GIBSON, M.D.
140 Boylston St. Phone 1930 Beach
BEWARE OF IMITATORS

HAVE YOU A BAD NOSE

Nasal Defects

E. P. REID, M. D.

PATENTS

INSTRUCTIONS

Special Battery and Ignition Courses

STORAGE

BOSTON AMERICAN

Pianos and Musical Instruments

UPRIGHT PIANOS
$25 $50 $65
as low as $5 down $1 weekly
88-note player $175
50 rolls music free
New pianos half price
Best Piano Bargains In Boston
Used Chickering Uprights, $40, $65, $75; Hallet & Davis, Steinway, Vose, Ivers & Pond, Mason & Hamlin and many others, $75 to $150. Several new pianos $150, $175 and up. Biggest warerooms in New England. A visit to my place will surprise you.
J. P. COLLINS
100 Summer Street, Boston
Largest piano dealer in the world.

NORRIS 181 TREMONT ST.
AUTOPIANO
CONSIDERED the best player piano made, construction most durable; no rubber tubes to wear out and leak; perfect-made tracking device. Send for catalogue. Sold only by CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st. We are exclusive representatives.

WE OFFER 50 used upright pianos, standard makes, from $100; 20 player pianos from $200; now is the time to make a saving; see us before you decide. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st.; all makes to rent. Warerooms open every evening.

KRANICH & BACH, Hallet & Davis, McPhail, Poole, Weser Bros., Shubert, grands, uprights and player pianos; see our stock of 300 beautiful new pianos; you will be pleased. CHAS. S. NORRIS, 181 Tremont st. Small grands our specialty.

CHICKERING GRAND
AN artistic instrument, very carefully used, $825, worth double this amount; also very handsome Miller upright, as good as new, $190. STIEFF, 146 BOYLSTON ST. Tel. Beach 1601.

USED PIANOS, standard makes guaranteed, $50, $75, $100, $125 up; terms $1, $1.25, $1.50 wkly. BROOKS, 32 Boylston st., 1 flt.

Dancing

Model School of Modern Dancing

Learn in 5 Lessons

Helene L. Sweney

Wm. H. O'Brien

LOOMIS

Automobile Exchange

FREE TUBE
PENNSYLVANIA VACUUM CUP TIRES
With Factory Guarantee and "Ton-Tested" TUBE FREE at These Rock-Bottom Prices

30x3	$9.15	Firestone and Tyrian Cords
30x3½	10.55
32x3½	13.25	32x4	$13.50
31x4	15.00	33x4	17.30
32x4	16.50	33x4	18.00
33x4	17.00	32x4½	19.50
34x4	18.00	33x4½	20.00

Mail Orders Promptly Filled.
Open Tomorrow
A ONE 1 TIRE CO.
790 Columbus Ave., Boston
Tel. B. B. 7868

Value Plus — 6-PASS. STUTZ
In fine running condition. READY TO GO AND STAY GOING—$200 down, balance $20 per month; only one of many good used cars. See them today. BOSTON OLDSMOBILE CO., 840 Commonwealth Avenue.

FORD TOURING CARS
1921 FORD touring, excellent mechanical condition. Good tires all around, mounted spare tire, starter and demountable rims, new leather top and side curtains. Large steering wheel. 1918 Ford touring car, with 1920 cylinder block, excellent shape throughout, four good tires and mounted spare, demountable rims. Prices on both cars very reasonable.
Open all day Columbus Day
VIM MOTOR TRUCK CO. OF N. E.
1100 COMMONWEALTH AVE.
Phone Aspinwall 1421

TONIGHT
Value Plus — The drastic reductions in prices of new 1923 Oldsmobiles just announced have reduced the prices of our entire stock of used cars, new standards of value, cars you will be proud to own at prices you can afford to pay. See them tonight. BOSTON OLDSMOBILE CO., 840 Commonwealth Ave.

LIGHT TRUCKS
Call this week and be agreeably surprised. Everyone serviceable.

HENSHAW MOTOR CO.

WINTON SIX $150

MERCER 4-PASS. $325

Hudson Runabout $275

FORD $115

$365.00
Value Plus — Delivers to you a new 1923 model Oldsmobile Touring Car, balance in 12 months. Certainly this offers you dollars of extra value—value plus—prove for yourself this new standard of value. A car of known dependability. Open all day Columbus Day. See it. BOSTON OLDSMOBILE CO., 840 Commonwealth Ave.

TONIGHT
OPEN TONIGHT UNTIL 9 O'CLOCK
On our new and used cars, consisting of Dorts, Libertys, Maxwells, Ford sedans and coupes, Buicks, Studebakers. About 25 to dispose of.
Utterback-Gleason Co.
870 COMMONWEALTH AV.
Tel. 7980-7981 Brookline

Value Plus — BUICK SEDAN $150
Down, balance $25 per month. Is only one of 12 closed cars offered at our used car sale—all ready to go. See them today. BOSTON OLDSMOBILE CO., 840 Commonwealth Ave.

AN ASSOCATION FOR AUTOMOBIE OWNERS
HAS been formed. Members are extended many services free of charge including assistance day or night anywhere—and having their motors carefully inspected and greased once a month. No charge to members. For particulars BOSTON AUTO SERVICE CLUB, 209 Mass. av.; Back Bay 10733.

$400 down, 1922 MAXWELL 5-PASS.
JUST like new, run 5,000 miles, balance small monthly payments. CAPITOL AUTO EX., 15 Berkeley st.; Beach 4440. Open all day Oct. 12.

$200 down, Little 6 Buick 5-Pass.
IN the best of condition in every way, good tires and paint, has full set of both tire changes; this car is a good small family car; balance in small monthly payments, full price $385. Call at the CAPITOL AUTO EX., 15 Berkeley st. Open all day Oct. 12. Beach 4440.

DODGE BROTHERS'
ROADSTER, late '21 production, used for demonstrating purposes. Specially priced for quick action. Open evenings this week. HENSHAW MOTOR CO., 980 Commonwealth av., Boston.

FORDS

$385—FORD SEDAN—$385

CLEAN UP SALE

PIERCE-ARROW BERLIN.

1921 COLE SEDAN

Dancing

Join My Soft-Shoe Classes!

MABLE G. HALL

JAMES & MAY

Music

"RAG"

REAL RAGTIME

Diamonds, Watches and Jewelry

Deaths

Want-ad Order Blank
Fill Out and Mail to BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN
80 SUMMER ST., BOSTON

Rates—35 cents per line one time. Six average words per line. Five cents per line discount on three-time orders and ten cents per line discount on six-time orders. "Furnished Rooms" rates—30 cents per line one time. Five cents per line discount on three or six-time orders.

Name .... Classification ....
Street .... Number of Days ....
Post Office .... Am't Enclosed ....
Write complete ad below, including name, address or phone—Or if blind address is wanted mark X here [ ]

Boom Boston by telling what it possesses, not what it lacks. The positive side of anything knocks out the negative side.—Rev. Dr. F. B. Gruel, D. D.

BOSTON AMERICAN

Largest Evening Circulation in New England—October 11, 1922

The Marine Park system in South Boston, consisting of 457.9 acres, cost from 1883 to 1921, $4,474,150.

Property Rights Put Above Human Rights

Judge Morton of the United States Court of Massachusetts warns the prohibition enforcing officers that when the enforcement of the prohibition law becomes inconsistent with other property rights protected under the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution, the enforcement of the prohibition law must give way.

Concerning this allocation of rights, we make no comment except to observe that it is a very interesting fact that the alleged allocations almost always put property rights above human rights.

Right or wrong, the theory of prohibition is to protect human rights, to protect weak human nature against the insidious assaults upon character and the capacity of human beings to remain continuously as nature made them. Thus the property right of the individual in the possession of liquor is put above the communal right to preserve humanity from the impairment of liquor.

So also we see the same judges when the rights of free speech and free press and a trial by jury, human rights all, come in conflict with some theorized property right, the property right is again put above the human rights, and the human rights are absolutely swept aside, as if they never existed and never were heard of. This is what happens whenever a court issues an injunction prohibiting the doing of that which is lawful to do or which has been prohibited by law from being done and for which punishment is provided after the guilt has been ascertained by a jury.

Nowhere in the world do a people enjoy a constitution whose language more carefully protects certain natural human rights. Yet, in modern free countries, no courts ever dared to ignore the constitutional protection of these rights with the same utter defiance of the source of their own power as the courts of America.

It is not a bit edifying to know that it is more important to preserve the property right to keep liquor in one's premises under certain conditions than to protect the human right to free speech, free assemblage, free press and trial by jury, the fundamentals on which the republic and our democracy, within the republic, rests.

It is all very interesting and very thought compelling. We are at the parting of the ways. We must soon choose definitely whether we are to regard property rights as the most important or human rights, and as humanity chooses, humanity will determine its own future. The ancient world chose property rights, and was plunged into the Dark Ages. We may still have our Dark Ages, or we may go on progressively.

Play "Beaver and Walrus"

It's Simple and Useful

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The English have a new game, an extraordinary craze, simple as it is, called "Beaver and Walrus." According to the game, when two men are walking together, the one that sees a man with a beard is to shout "Beaver!" Or if he sees a man with a mustache he shouts "Walrus!" The game can be played for ten points or more. "Beaver," scoring one beard, counts two; "Walrus," one mustache, counts one. Each man keeps his own score.

It is said that when the King drives out in his carriage with large glass windows on State occasions it takes all the royalty and reverence of the Briton to keep the entire crowd from roaring "Beaver!" He has whiskers.

That game seems silly, and it might seem foolish, at first glance, to import it to the United States. But it SHOULD be brought here, and this is written to start the game in America.

Beards and mustaches are foolish. They are microbe nests. They hide real character, which shows in the mouth and chin, uncovered.

They substitute foolish hair for real expression, developed by thought.

Beards should go, mustaches should disappear. It should be illegal for a doctor to have either. Why sterilize his hands and carry with him an unsterilizable "Beaver" or "Walrus" to distribute germs among children? Buy your "Beaver" doctor a safety razor.

Public scorn causes reforms. It stopped tobacco chewing and public spitting in the United States to a large extent. Therefore, lightly and discreetly, play the game of "Beaver" and "Walrus." As you walk with your friend, say "Beaver" when you see a beard and "Walrus" when you see a mustache. And keep your score. The game can be played in theatres, taking one row of seats at a time, or played on the street. It should never be played in church. Don't teach children to play it; it might make them impertinent.

Let Little People Live

No, Say Modern Methods

Copyright, 1922, Star Co.

The bankers' convention, held in New York, voted not to have branch banks. They want to let the little fellows live. Forty thousand independent bankers say they don't want to be clerks running branches for great banks in big cities.

One banking gentleman says England's banking business is controlled by five concerns; ten banks dominate France and Germany, and in Canada seventeen banks "skim the cream from 4,800 branches, leaving only the skim milk for the little fellows."

What the public wants is SAFE banks and cheap money, no matter how they get them. If bankers ever bet, it would be quite safe for them to bet 10 to 1 that the branch bank and the big dominating bank will come and STAY. This is an age of consolidation, and the easiest thing to consolidate and manage is money, which doesn't eat or sleep and bears little interest-children regularly.

Do You Want This Forced Upon You?

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

Hissing Collins' Name

Editor Boston American:

In your paper of Wednesday, October 4, there is an editorial with reference to the hissing of the name of Michael Collins at the meeting at Symphony Hall on Sunday night, October 1.

One other newspaper in Boston also referred editorially to the hissing, stating with customary mendacity that four thousand people hissed the name of Collins. Any communication, however, to this other newspaper would be useless, first, because with reference to Irish matters it is well known that its columns are not open to the correction of either mistake or falsehood; secondly, because the malice of its utterances has been so obvious and the coarseness of its language has been so persistent that the principal damage done is to the reputation of the paper itself. The public in general, in its estimate of a newspaper, is quite likely to have in mind what was so well expressed by the English editor, Mr. C. P. Scott, at a banquet on May 3rd, 1921, in honor of the Centenary of the "Manchester Guardian" and of the completion by Mr. Scott, of fifty years in its editorship:

"A newspaper, particularly a newspaper which has its roots in a great community, is, and ought to be, something in the nature of a public institution. The public has rights in it just as much, if not more, than those who own it. Every side has a right to be heard. Every side has a right to be reported."

With reference, however, to your own editorial, the societies under whose auspices the meeting was held desire that some comment be published.

It is true that at the mention of the name of Michael Collins some hisses were heard, not from the audience in general, but from a very small part of the very great crowd assembled. The chairman of the meeting immediately indicated his deprecation of the hissing, and both Mrs. MacSwiney and Miss Kearns subsequently in their speeches expressly asked that nobody hiss the names of the dead. For substantiation of this reference may be had to the press reports of the meeting.

Indeed, in view of the very great provocation practiced upon those who still sympathize with the Republicans of Ireland, the great restraint which the audience imposed upon itself may be considered remarkable. Men like ex-Governor Glynn of New York, Archbishop Curley of Baltimore, and some others less known, have uttered language hardly to be matched in terms of villification or indecency, and their statements have been given wide publicity. They have not hesitated to apply to such persons as De Valera, Cathal Brugha, Harry Boland, the widow and sister of Terence MacSwiney, the sister of Kevin Barry, the mother of Patrick Pearse, the widow of Sheehy Skeffington, the brothers of Joseph Plunkett, and many other fathers, mothers, brothers, sons and daughters of men who have given up their lives for Ireland, the terms "bandits," "robbers," "murderers," "the yellowest of characters," accusing them also of not being willing to fight in the open, etc., etc. Furthermore, to add to the venom of their attacks, some of these people who, it is well known, never expressed one word of sympathy for and never contributed one cent to the Republican cause from 1916 down to December 5, 1921, assume to speak in high praise of what was accomplished by the men who drove the Black and Tans out of Ireland, as if to exclude from any credit for that achievement the Republicans, who still fight for the principles with which they started.

Moreover, the sympathizers with the Republicans know very well the manner in which Michael Collins was exploited in press dispatches and special articles from England for some time before the delegates were sent to London, and the romantic glamour that was sought to be thrown about his character by statements now known to be untrue—such statements as, for instance, that he was the head of the Irish Republican army, that a reward of ten thousand pounds was set upon his head, etc., etc. They are indignant, also, at the attempt made to create the belief Collins was assassinated, when the fact is that he was killed in a pitched battle that had lasted one hour before he was hit by a bullet. Most people will wish not to question the sincerity of Collins or to believe that he was consciously used to wreck the republic. But in view of the use made of his name in the attempt to bring discredit and even infamy upon men and women, the purity of whose characters is beyond question, is it to be wondered at that some people cannot resist the expression of passionate remonstrance.

JOHN T. HUGHES,

Chairman of meeting held in Symphony Hall October 1, under auspices of six hundred organizations.

Bachelors' Tax

Editor Boston American:

I see where some patriotic dames on Boylston street want to have an old bachelors' tax at $10 a year. Why not tax the old maids $20 a year? Perhaps there would not be so many bachelors then. I am one of those bachelors and am proud of it. There was a day when any man could get a true woman, but that has gone by. They get married today and look for a divorce tomorrow.

CHARLES F. GORMLEY.
Wellesley.

Fitzgerald and Colored Voters

Editor Boston American:

Now that Mayor Curley has declared himself for John F. Fitzgerald, it is not untimely that the Democratic condidate-elect should make some statement as to what we colored citizens might expect if he succeeds to the Governor's chair. The failure of the Dyer bill, the persistent refusal to establish the Douglass Square Savings Bank and the snub to the Elks convention by Governor Cox in 1921 are items of political interest that have created many independent voters among the colored people. As the Hon. John F. Fitzgerald is a most resourceful candidate and a strong favorite with the colored voters of Greater Boston, many of their votes may be gathered to his advantage on November 7.

ARTHUR C. WILSON.

Helped to Success

Editor Boston American:

You will be pleased to know that the recent Second Educational Graphic Arts Exposition was a huge success in an educational way. The International Association of Printing House Craftsmen and the Boston Club of Printing House Craftsmen want to asknowledge their appreciation of the support that you gave this exposition in the columns of your newspaper, as they were of much value in helping us make a success.

JACOB LEVIN,
Publicity Director.

Bosporus

Editor Boston American:

We ought to spell that famous strait Bosporus (instead of Bosphorus) and pronounce it with the accent on the second syllable. The professor and the fruit dealer will both tell you that. It means the place where the ox crossed over, and is, in fact, exactly equal to the English word Oxford.

M. H. NICKERSON.

If This Is Your Birthday

You Are LUCKY

YOU are a Bohemian in temperament if born today, and although you may achieve considerable fame, you will probably never receive the full material reward of anything you do, for you are careless, carefree and improvident. However, you are also unusually conscientious in the quality of your workmanship. You would rather do a thing well for the love of it and lose, than do it badly for profit. You may succeed in many ways, but will never be as wealthy as another personality with your talents.

Today is one of unfavorable outlook for all ventures involving change of location. Avoid traveling.

A child born today will be robust in body and spirit, affectionate and dutiful.

Famous persons born this day:
John D. Renkle—Mathematician.
Bishop Levi Scott.
Henry J. Heinz—Foodstuff magnate.

(Copyright, 1922, by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Helping Hand

Another Mother Supplied

Editor Boston American:

I have a heavy, good-sized baby carriage to give away. It is in good condition. MRS. J. F. B.

ED. NOTE—The above carriage has been sent to Mrs. L. S. Needy mothers are still making requests. Are there any other offers?

Editor Boston American:

I have eight children, a baby ten days old and one not yet two years. If any of the readers have an old baby carriage they could let me have I would be very grateful. MRS. I. R.

Editor Boston American:

I would be glad to receive a baby carriage. I have seven children, the youngest eleven months, and cannot afford to buy one.

MRS. M.

Editor Boston American:

There is an elderly neighbor of mine who, though a cripple from the time he was fourteen years old, has been self-supporting up to two years ago, when rheumatism rendered him almost helpless. He would appreciate a pair of crutches. He is five feet 9½ inches tall. This is a very deserving case. L. M. C.

ED. NOTE—The above person has been notified where he can obtain a pair of crutches. Are there any others who need them?

SEEN AND HEARD

NEW ENGLAND'S list of distinguished Summer visitors grows constantly. Not all are as wealthy, of course, as JAMES B. DUKE of tobacco fame, who has just paid around $400,000 for a villa at Newport, R. I. That this price was quite within Mr. Duke's means is evidenced by the fact that the other day he presented Trinity College with an endowment of more than $1,000,000.

J. SCOTT McLEARN, "mayor" of Allston, is beating the coal dealers at their own game. Two or three years ago "Mac" bought a 1500-acre estate at West Brookfield. Now, because of scarcity of coal, he is shipping wood cut on the West Brookfield estate to Allston, to heat his numerous apartment houses.

Can any other city beat this for Christian harmony? Rev. A. VINCENT BENNETT, an Episcopal minister of this city, has been playing the organ in King's Chapel and rendering the musical services in that ancient shrine more acceptable to Unitarians. This is the first instance on record anywhere in the United States of an Episcopal minister officiating at the organ in a Unitarian church. Times do change.

DR. BORRIS E. GREENBERG, superintendent of Beth-Israel Hospital, No. 45 Townsend street, Roxbury, is starting an effort to add one hundred and fifty beds to his institution, which has grown in public favor in the last few years. The doctor hopes he will be able to minister effectively to many cases that he is now obliged to turn away.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL J. WESTON ALLEN, ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL ALBERT HURWITZ and a newspaperman were discussing jury service in the courthouse the other day. "You ought to be drawn," said Hurwitz to the newspaperman, "it would do you good." "Some ought to be drawn and quartered," interpellated the Attorney General, blandly. He then hastened to explain that he did not mean newspapermen.

Scores of Bostonians have been entertained at the $2,000,000 estate of the late THEODORE N. VAIL of American Telephone fame, just above St. Johnsbury, Vt., before which the White and Green Mountains stretch in beautiful panorama. The property, to be preserved by New England business men as a clubhouse, is now to be provided with a 100-car garage. It is known locally as "the House of 100 Rooms."

Boston Elevated car No. 5393 carries a direction to motormen which is worth repeating. Exactly as lettered, it reads: "2 Eyes Front." Evidently a Ben Turpin wouldn't make a hit as an "L" car pilot.

Who is the oldest dahlia gardener in New England? Probably MRS. BENJAMIN WHITCOMB of Fleet street, Portsmouth, N. H., who is digging up her Fall bulbs almost every day, although she is 102 years old. She believes flower gardening has added years to her life.

FRANCIS MALGERI and MISS JOSEPHINE ARICO, two indispensable workers at the Bulfinch Summer School conducted on Bulfinch place, West End, have cheered many a father and mother in that locality with their plain, interesting talks on local friendships. They have drawn neighbors closer together, made them feel they had a mutual interest and consequently, through their practical influence, there is a splendid neighborly feeling in this section of the West End.

Residents of the district near junction of Bowdoin, Harvard and Washington streets declare they live in the "sweetest section of Dorchester." Claim is based on the fact there has been a rapid growth in number of candy stores in that locality.

GARRETT P. SERVISS ON THE STAR OVERHEAD

By Garrett P. Serviss

"I am having an argument about a star I saw Sunday night, August 20, about 9 o'clock, and also the following night the same time. It is very bright and is just hanging right over us. Can you tell me if that's a planet or a star, and how many million miles it is from the earth?—J. R., Bronx, New York."

THE only very bright celestial object that could be said to "hang right over" New York at 9 o'clock about August 20 was the star Vega, or Alpha Lyrae, the brilliant gem of the constellation Lyra, one of the brightest stars in the northern hemisphere of the heavens. Its distance is not less than 125 million-million miles, or about 1,344,000 times the distance of the sun from the earth. If we were as near to it as we are to the sun it would probably appear a hundred times as bright as the sun.

There was no planet anywhere near the overhead point as seen from any part of the United States at the time mentioned. Mars was far down near the southern horizon, and Jupiter and Venus were glowing over in the western part of the sky. No planet ever goes very close to the zenith as seen from latitudes near 40 degrees, although within the tropics they are sometimes visible overhead.

Most persons are very inaccurate in their judgment of the position of a celestial object when its elevation exceeds 45 degrees above the horizon. They are apt to think that it is "right overhead"—i. e., in the zenith—when it is really many degrees below that point. In the northern part of the United States the North Star, or Polaris, is about 40 degrees above the horizon and 50 degrees below the zenith. This may serve as a guide in learning to estimate altitudes in the sky.

The celestial equator crosses the meridian, or north-and-south line, at an elevation of 50 degrees when viewed from latitude 40 degrees north. At this time of the year there are no very conspicuous stars visible in the evening that lie close to the equator, but the first magnitude star Altair, which lies southeast of Vega and south of the Northern Cross, is less than nine degrees above or north of the equator.

—Medbury Says—

Half the People Who Drink Liquor Go Insane, and the Other Half Go Crazy Because They Can't Find Any

Statistics show that the Volstead law has filled the insane asylums. Half the people who drink the liquor go insane and the other half go crazy because they can't find any.

One poor fellow in the insane asylum was hopeless. He kept imagining he was in a free country.

Of all the inmates in the various institutions, very few of them have water on the brain.

Most of them have liquor on their mind.

One guy had drunk so much squirrel whiskey that he climbed every tree in the asylum.

Another fellow kicked at everything in the place. This came from drinking Jack-ass brands.

He told the keeper that he wasn't insane and that if he would let him out he'd get him some fine Scotch at two dollars a quart. As soon as he said that, the keeper knew he was crazy.

If he could buy it for two dollars a quart they ought to let him loose and lock the bootlegger up for selling it so cheap.

One guy in the asylum was blind from booze. He lost his eyesight looking for a honest revenue officer.

There was one prohibition officer who was on the level and never took a bribe. As soon as the officials found this out they sent him to the asylum.

Another fellow's mind kept wandering all the time. A spiritualist finally found it hanging around a bootleg joint.

Of course there are other stimulants just as good as alcohol, but the insane asylums are full of men who have gone crazy trying to find it.

The reformers' brains would be affected too if they had any.

Insanity is caused by a germ which eats on your brain. If a germ had to feed on a reformer's brain he'd starve to death.

The average long hair could never have a brain storm, in fact his mind couldn't even get cloudy.

There may be a lot going on inside of a reformer's head but his mind is so narrow that it has one way traffic.

It takes a long time to get an idea out of his head because the idea has to turn many corners.

Volstead certainly started something. Half of the people in the United States are going crazy drinking the stuff and the other half are going crazy trying to keep it away from us.

JOHN P. MEDBURY.

Copyright, 1922, King Features Synd., Inc.